TWJ FOUNDATION

The Trustees of the TWJ Foundation invite applications for

TWJ U.K. OTOLOGICAL OR AUDIOLOGICAL THESIS FELLOWSHIPS

It is now generally known that the TWJ Foundation's main purpose is to support the advanced training of the younger Otologist and that this has been pursued by offering major Travelling Fellowships to centres of excellence usually in North America, smaller grants for short visits to other centres and some grants for research.

The future of Otology in the United Kingdom may well be influenced by the support of research and academic activities. The young Otologist acquires his skills when holding full-time appointments during which most of his time is occupied by service commitments. The Trustees know that a number of research projects are carried out and never completed or reported as the worker has not been able to find the extra time needed.

The Trustees therefore intend periodically to offer U.K. Otological Thesis Fellowships. These will be awarded in open competition to a medically qualified trainee or any grade in a post recognized by the Royal Colleges for training in Otology or Audiology. Applicants will have to show that their project is otological or audiological and has been accepted by a University of the United Kingdom or Dublin for admission to a higher medical or surgical degree, that the project is in its final stage and that time is required for thought and the writing of the thesis. Applicants will need to be strongly recommended by their professional assessor and the Head of the Hospital Department in which they are working.

The value of the grants will vary but the intention will be to allow the holder to take a short period of unpaid leave during which the project will be completed and the thesis submitted to the University.

Applicants should approach the Trustees for further information about eighteen months after the start of their project.

Instructions to Authors

Historical Articles. Articles of this type are generally encouraged, but it is obvious that they have to provide some new information or interpretation, whether it be about a well-known person or for example an instrument associated with him, but those from within a Hospital's own department who have made a hitherto less well-known contribution would be welcome.

Letters to the Editor. This feature has been re-introduced to give those who wish to comment about a paper previously published within the Journal, an opportunity to express their views. Wherever possible, the original author is asked to add his further comment, thereby adding to the value of the contribution. Such letters should be sent as soon as possible after publication of each month's issue of the Journal in the hope of including them as soon as possible thereafter.

'Mini-papers, such as those which appear in the British Medical Journal, Lancet, or New England Journal of Medicine, will not be acceptable except on the rare occasion that they bring information of immediate interest to the reader.

Pathology. Articles which are of pathological interest with particular emphasis on the way the diagnosis was achieved now appear on a monthly or bi-monthly basis. It is hoped that clinicians will involve their pathologists in these reports, and all illustrations must be of first-class quality. Where a department, particularly those overseas, may not have such specialized facilities, it may be possible, if a block or several unstained sections are provided for our Adviser to produce or supplement the illustration submitted. Only contributions of particular pathological interest will be accepted.

Radiology. Short reports on cases in which the radiology has been crucial in the making of the diagnosis or the management of a particular case now appear on a monthly or bi-monthly basis. This spot is to encourage clinicians and radiologists to produce material of particular interest in the specialty and to encourage co-operation in this field. Only presentations with first-class illustrations can be accepted and these must emphasise a problem of unusual clinical interest.

Short Communications. This feature will be used on an occasional basis. Examples of material suitable for inclusion under this title would be, for example: a piece of work which was of clinical interest but had failed to produce findings which were of statistical significance; where an investigative technique has been applied to an allied field, not warranting a further in-depth description of its earlier application and methodology.

Check List for Authors/Secretaries

1. Title page—Titles should be short with names of the authors, higher degrees only and the city/country. Details of the departments in which the authors work should be put lower down.
An address for correspondence should be supplied together with the author who should receive this and this will ultimately appear beneath the list of references. If the paper was presented at a meeting, the details of this must be given and will be inserted at the bottom of the first page of the printed script.
2. Abstract—No paper will be accepted without this and it adds considerably to the Editor's time to have to write and request this if the paper is accepted.
3. To follow the instructions to Authors with the way in which the paper is set out. It is preferred that each section should start on a fresh page with double spacing and wide margins.
4. References must be in the Harvard system; to submit a paper using the Vancouver system is automatically to have it returned or rejected.
5. Two sets of illustrations must be included, one of half-plate size and the other with the width of 80 mm. Illustrations must be clearly labelled with the author's name on the reverse side and where appropriate with an arrow to give orientation.
6. Authors to check manuscript and references to see that these match up particularly for dates and spelling.
7. Title of Journals must be given in full with the date, volume number and first and last pages.
8. Consent to be obtained from a patient if a photograph of their face is to be reproduced.
9. If the author to whom correspondence is to be directed changes his address, he should let the Editorial Office know as soon as possible.
10. Page proofs will normally be sent out three months in advance and must be returned as soon as possible.
11. Authors should provide a Facsimile number (FAX) whenever possible to speed communication. The FAX number of the Editorial office is 01-224 1645. (N.B. the code for Central London will change to 071- after 6th May 1990).
12. Manuscripts with tables only may be transmitted by FAX; those with graphic or visual illustrations, e.g. graphs, X-rays, pathology, electrical records (ENG, BSER etc) must continue to be sent by post as the quality of reproduction does not give sufficient accuracy of detail.
