NTQ
NEW
QUARTERLY

Editors: Clive Barker, Department of Theatre Studies, University of Warwick, Coventry

Simon Trussler, Great Robhurst, Woodchurch, Ashford, Kent

New Theatre Quarterly is one of Britain's most authoritative and respected theatre journals. Providing a vital international literary forum where theatrical scholarship and practice can meet, NTQ treats prevailing assumptions with rigorous critical questioning. Recent theatrical performances are subject to lively debate and analysis.

"It's hard, adult, and uncompromisingly serious...to be frank, it's the first time I've found it absolutely necessary (and stimulating) to read a theatre magazine."
Peter Hall

Some areas covered by the journal include the cultural evolution of the theatre, developments in international theatre, theatrical philosophy and methodology, and drama in education. Articles are effectively illustrated with photographs. In addition, the journal publishes a substantial review section, with news, analysis and debate within the field of theatre studies.

"Every college library – every drama department – every student of theatre – every theatre-goer has to subscribe to New Theatre Quarterly."
Eric Bentley

Theatrical Legitimation

Allegories of Genius in Seventeenth-Century England and France

Timothy Murray

Deals with the various ways in which writers associated with the theatre in seventeenth-century England and France tried to assert the worth, the respectability, the legitimacy of the theatrical enterprise. Using the techniques of continental criticism, it focuses on phenomena many critics might find secondary to draw imaginative and plausible connections among these apparently disparate elements.

English Theatre Music in the Eighteenth Century

Second Edition

Roger Fiske

'There is no doubting the value of Dr Fiske's book as a reference tool which provides instant access to a vast area of unexplored territory. As a study of sources, both of music and of biographical and bibliographical information, it is first class.'

Abbés and Actresses

The Church and the Theatrical Profession in Eighteenth-Century France

The Zaharoff Lecture 1985–86

John McManners

This lecture retails gossip of stage door and sacristy to illustrate the relations between churchmen and the theatrical profession in the age of the Enlightenment.

Beyond Minimalism

Beckett's Late Style in the Theater

Enoch Brater

This is a study of Beckett's late plays—Not I, That Time, Mouth, Footfalls, and others—that focuses on the performance aspect of the plays, and argues that, in these plays, there is no boundary separating the play from the performance.

Britannicus, Phaedra, Athaliah

Jean Racine, translated with an Introduction and Notes by
C. H. Sisson

In this new translation of three of Racine's plays, C. H. Sissons captures admirably the lucidity of Racine's language, both analytic and passionate, and the rhythm of his four-part alexandrine, a combination that previous translators have consistently failed to achieve.

THEATRE RESEARCH / RECHERCHES THEATRALES

The International Federation published the journal Theatre Research/Recherches Théâtrales from 1959 to 1975 when it was succeeded by Theatre Research International. During these years many important articles of original research were published covering the whole field of theatre history from the earliest times, and particularly Shakespeare and the Elizabethan period, to more recent figures such as Strindberg, Craig and Beckett. There have been special issues on the themes of Opera, the Playwright as Director, and Reinhardt; a check-list of world theatre on records; and reports on International Conferences and Symposia of the I.F.T.R.

In all 14 volumes were published in 36 issues including a complete index. Most back issues are still available.

University and institutional libraries, and especially those who have subscribed to the new journal Theatre Research International, are recommended to take this opportunity of completing their holding of the earlier issues of this publication, while copies last.

Price: per issue £2 ($3); per volume £4 ($6) plus postage

A few complete runs of the 14 volumes (with two issues in facsimile) are available at £50 ($75). Postage extra.
