Politics from Princeton

on settling

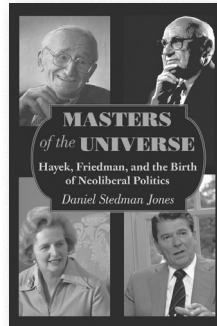

Robert E. Goodin

On Settling

Robert E. Goodin

"Settling is not addressed at length anywhere in philosophy, but after reading this book one wonders 'why not?' Engaging, elegant, and edifying, this terrific book shows the importance of settling, and the varieties of settling that people routinely engage in."
—Cheshire Calhoun, Arizona State University

Cloth $24.95 978-0-691-14845-8

Masters of the Universe

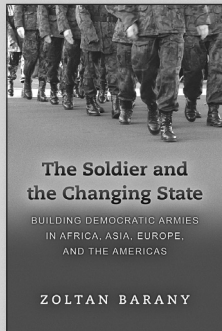

Hayek, Friedman, and the Birth of Neoliberal Politics

Daniel Stedman Jones

"In impressive fashion, Jones analyzes the impact of free market economics and deregulation on political leaders in Washington, D.C., and London since the 1970s. . . . [A]nyone intrigued by the intersection of economic theory and political affairs will appreciate this learned, detailed book."

—Publishers Weekly

Cloth $35.00 978-0-691-15157-1

The Soldier and the Changing State

Building Democratic Armies in Africa, Asia, Europe, and the Americas

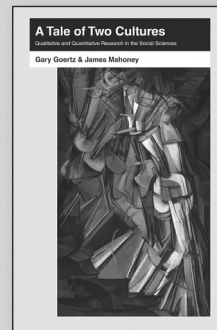

Zoltan Barany

"Destined to become the standard book on civil-military relations and a key work in democratization studies, The Soldier and the Changing State shows what makes democracy work. Barany takes a bold stance by saying that without solving the civil-military problem in new democracies, it is virtually impossible to solve any other issues. This is the most important book written on this subject in forty years."

Of Empires and Citizens

Pro-American Democracy or No Democracy at All?

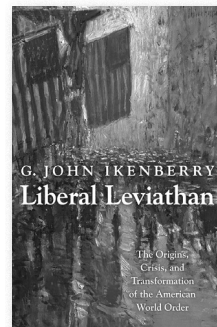

Amaney A. Jamal

"Arguing that the lack of democratization in the Middle East is tied to the critical role the United States plays in the region, this strong book extends our understanding of how international relations affects citizens' perceptions and engagement with the state."

CONTEMPORARY

Collaborating to Manage

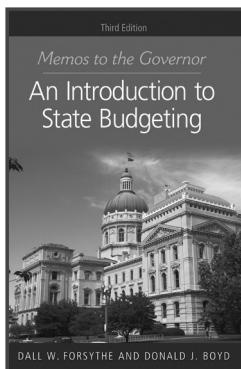

A Primer for the Public Sector

Robert Agranoff

"In a single, very readable volume, Agranoff presents an extremely well-informed discussion of collaborative multi-organizational arrangements that have become so central for addressing the complex tasks and problems often faced by government agencies and NGOs. By focusing especially on such critical issues as what approaches seem to work, what the challenges are, and how public managers might manage most effectively in such settings, Agranoff offers a valuable guide for both public and nonprofit professionals and students."

An Argument for Same-Sex Marriage

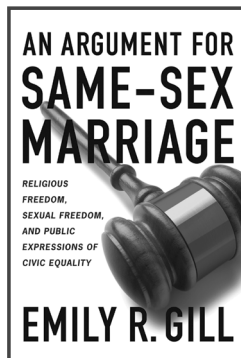

Religious Freedom, Sexual Freedom, and Public Expressions of Civic Equality

Emily R. Gill

"[This] brilliant and sane book reminds us that the religion clauses of the First Amendment were the most radical and profound contribution of our founders to understanding and giving effect to the enduring values of our political liberalism. This book is a major contribution both to liberal political theory and constitutional law, and shows how the contemporary struggle for gay rights, including marriage equality, is at the very heart of the birthright of all Americans, our democratic constitutionalism, protecting, as it does, the basic human rights of all Americans."

My Thoughts

By Charles-Louis de Secondat, Baron of La Brède and of Montesquieu
Translated, Edited, and with an Introduction
by Henry C. Clark

M*y Thoughts* provides a unique window into the mind of one of the undisputed pioneers of modern thought, the author of The Spirit of the Laws. From the publication of his first masterpiece, Persian Letters, in 1721, until his death in 1755, Montesquieu maintained notebooks in which he wrote and dictated ideas on a wide variety of topics. Some of the contents are early drafts of passages that Montesquieu eventually placed in his published works; others are outlines or early versions of projected works that were ultimately lost, unfinished, or abandoned. These notebooks provide important insights into his views on a broad range of topics, including morality, religion, history, law, economics, finance, science, art, and constitutional liberty.

Montesquieu called these notebooks, Mes Pensées (My Thoughts), and they appear in their entirety in English for the first time in this Liberty Fund edition.

PRESIDENT

2012 marks the 90th anniversary of The Chicago Council on Global Affairs. Founded in 1922 as The Chicago Council on Foreign Relations, the Council is one of the oldest and most prominent international affairs organizations in the United States. Independent and nonpartisan, The Chicago Council is committed to influencing the discourse on global issues through contributions to opinion and policy formation, leadership dialogue, and public learning.

The Chicago Council focuses its efforts in two primary areas: 1) developing programs for its members and the public and 2) informing the national discourse on global affairs. The vehicle through which most of the Council's programs are offered, the Chicago Forum, has from the earliest days of the Council provided a nonpartisan forum for world leaders, policymakers, and experts to discuss issues of national and international importance. Today the Council holds more than 125 public and leadership events each year at which both Council members and the public gain insights into pressing domestic and global issues. Equal in importance to the Chicago Forum, but more recent in origin, is the Council's work on informing the national discourse on global affairs. The Council achieves this end through its studies of American public opinion on foreign policy, as well as task forces, study groups, publications, and conferences on a wide range of issues. Through these twin foci, the Chicago Council contributes fresh insights and perspectives to the formation of opinion and policy both in the United States and abroad.

The next President will succeed Marshall M. Bouton, who has been an outstanding leader for the last 11 years. The President is the organization's full-time chief executive and reports to the Chairman of the Board of Directors. The 86-member Board is comprised of top leaders in business, academic, and community organizations. The Council has a professional staff of 45 and an annual budget of approximately $9 million. More than 7,000 individuals, corporations, and foundations are members of the Council.

NEW from KNOPF DOUBLEDAY

ON SAUDI ARABIA

Its People, Past, Religion, Fault Lines—and Future
by Karen Elliott House

“Unique in that it mostly avoids the shallow analysis of instant experts, while also forgoing the jargon and sometimes incomprehensible theorizing of academic texts. . . . A vivid and rarely seen picture of this closed state. . . . Eloquent and timely.” —The New Republic

“Karen House’s On Saudi Arabia is a book that future Saudi leaders should read carefully. It exposes incisively and dispassionately the social contradictions and the potential political vulnerabilities of contemporary Saudi Arabia. A timely and truly important book.” —Zbigniew Brzezinski
Knopf | Cloth | 320 pages | $28.95

THE OATH

The Obama White House and the Supreme Court
by Jeffrey Toobin

“Legal analyst Toobin offers a vivid inside look at the personalities and politics behind [this] fractious relationship. . . . A revealing look at the ideological battle between the White House and the Supreme Court.”
—Booklist (starred review)

“A skillful probing of the often-discordant relationship between the president and the Supreme Court. . . . Shrewd and elucidating.” —Kirkus
Doubleday | Cloth | 352 pages | $28.95

ARROWS OF THE NIGHT

Ahmad Chalabi and the Selling of the Iraq War
by Richard Bonin

“[Arrows of the Night] is the best-researched, most readable narrative about how a small group of people caused the United States to fight a war that was unnecessary, and, worse, counterproductive. Most Americans do not know who Ahmad Chalabi is, but this is the story of how every American has paid a price for Chalabi’s successful manipulation of our government.”
—Richard A. Clarke, author of Against All Enemies

Anchor | Paper | 320 pages | $16.00

SWORD OF THE SPIRIT, SHIELD OF FAITH

Religion in American War and Diplomacy
by Andrew Preston

“In this landmark work, Andrew Preston sheds light on a critical element of the American experience: the role of religion in our relationship to the world. Faith is one of the most influential factors in our national life, and Preston’s excellent book gives religion its due as a force that shapes who we are, what wars we fight, and which causes we make our own.”

—Jon Meacham, author of American Lion
Anchor | Paper | 832 pages | $18.00

DEADLY MONOPOLIES

*The Shocking Corporate Takeover of Life Itself—
And the Consequences for Your Health and Our Medical Future*
by Harriet A. Washington

“The book’s brilliance lies in the compassionately told narratives of individuals whose lives have been affected by the increasing corporate control of scientific research. Rather than simply writing another book about biomedical wrongdoing, Washington . . . provides a more humane account of the problems tied to the for-profit nature of today’s research industry. In doing this, Washington . . . makes the case for a broader political consciousness of science and technology. . . . An extraordinary achievement.” —Osagie K. Obasogie, The American Prospect

Anchor | Paper | 448 pages | $16.95

A NATION OF DEADBEATS

An Uncommon History of America’s Financial Disasters
by Scott Reynolds Nelson

With a historian’s keen observations and a storyteller’s gift for character and incident, Nelson captures the entire sweep of America’s financial history in all its utter irrationality: national banks funded by smugglers; fistfights in Congress over the gold standard; and presidential campaigns forged in stinging controversies on the subject of private debt. A Nation of Deadbeats is a fresh, irreverent look at Americans’ addiction to debt and how it has made us what we are today.

Knopf | Cloth | 352 pages | $27.95

SIX MONTHS IN 1945

FDR, Stalin, Churchill, and Truman—from World War to Cold War
by Michael Dobbs

When Roosevelt, Stalin, and Churchill met in Yalta in February 1945, Hitler’s armies were on the run and victory was imminent. The Big Three wanted to draft a blueprint for a lasting peace—but instead set the stage for a forty-four-year division of Europe into Soviet and western spheres of influence.

Six Months in 1945 brilliantly captures this momentous historical turning point, chronicling the geopolitical twists behind the descent of the iron curtain, while illuminating the aims and personalities of larger-than-life political giants.

IRON CURTAIN

The Crushing of Eastern Europe, 1944–1956
by Anne Applebaum

Pulitzer Prize-winning journalist Anne Applebaum delivers a groundbreaking history of how Communism took over Eastern Europe after World War II and transformed in frightening fashion the individuals who came under its sway.

“Iron Curtain is an exceptionally important book which effectively challenges many of the myths of the origins of the Cold War. It is wise, perceptive, remarkably objective and brilliantly researched.”

—Antony Beevor, author of Stalingrad and The Second World War
Doubleday | Cloth | 592 pages | $35.00
