

In Pursuit of the Almighty's Dollar

A History of Money and American Protestantism

JAMES HUDNUT-BEUMLER

"Elegant and insightful. . . . Demonstrates how finances and funding serve as an important lens for understanding social, political, and cultural developments among congregations, clergy, and worshipping communities. [This] story of the commingling of market forces and religious mission is riveting."—Diane H. Winston, University of Southern California

The Religious History of American Women

Reimagining the Past

CATHERINE A. BREKUS, EDITOR

"The diversity of American women's religious experiences . . . represented [here] proves impressive. . . . Sound methodology, creative questioning of sources, and provocative framings of what is important to know and understand of the American past resonate throughout."—Diane Batts Morrow, author of Persons of Color and Religious at the Same Time

Approx. 320 pp. $59.95 cloth / $19.95 paper

Masterless Mistresses

The New Orleans Ursulines and the Development of a New World Society, 1727–1834

EMILY CLARK

"Bold and original. . . . Deeply attuned to the rhythms and politics of religious life in the Old as well as the New World and to the changing racial and gendered dynamics of colonial Louisiana. . . . The intricate meshing of local and transatlantic history is truly stunning."—Susan Juster, University of Michigan

TEACHING OTHER VOICES

Women and Religion in Early Modern Europe
Edited by Margaret L. King and Albert Rabail Jr.

Teaching Other Voices complements The Other Voice in Early Modern Europe series by identifying themes useful in literature, history, religion, women's studies, and introductory humanities courses. The volume's introduction, essays, and suggested course materials are intended as guides for teachers—but will serve the needs of students and scholars as well.

Communion with God

THE DIVINE AND THE HUMAN IN THE THEOLOGY OF JOHN OWEN

Kelly M. Kopic

0801031443 • 288 pp. • $27.99p

"This is a landmark book in modern Puritan study, and it is a joy to commend it."—J. I. Packer, from the foreword

"Kelly Kopic's work makes two major contributions. First, Kopic effectively dislodges the assumption that pejoratively identifies the Protestant scholasticism of the late sixteenth- and seventeenth-centuries as being ossifying and unduly scholastic. He does so in a way that is truly ecumenical and amiable rather than pugnacious and polemical. Second, as the best examples of 'pre-critical' exegesis are in need of fresh attention, Kopic's sophisticated contextualization of Owen within the wider intellectual context of seventeenth-century Europe deserves our attention."—Paul C. H. Lim, Vanderbilt University

Sweet Communion

TRAJECTORIES OF SPIRITUALITY FROM THE MIDDLE AGES THROUGH THE FURTHER REFORMATION

A. de Reuver; James A. De Jong, trans.

0801031222 • 304 pp. • $29.99p

Sweet Communion introduces scholars and interested Reformed readers to the spirituality practiced during the Further Reformation, a seventeenth-century movement that strove for a contemporary application of the sixteenth-century Reformation. The book is organized around leading figures of the era, including Willem Teellinck, Theodorus à Brakel, Guiljelmus Saldenus, Wilhelmus à Brakel, and Herman Witsius. Sweet Communion examines the quality, form, and roots of this period's spirituality. De Reuver determines that each of the Further Reformation authors promotes a spirituality in which the heart experiences communion with God by the Word and Spirit.

IN ECUMENICAL CHURCH HISTORY

For All Peoples and All Nations
The Ecumenical Church and Human Rights

John S. Nurser

Foreword by David Little

"John Nurser has retrieved an important, nearly forgotten, part of the history of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights. His account of how Christian leaders and NGOs helped the Declaration become a document 'for all peoples and all nations' is impressive and inspiring."

—*Mary Ann Glendon,
Harvard University*

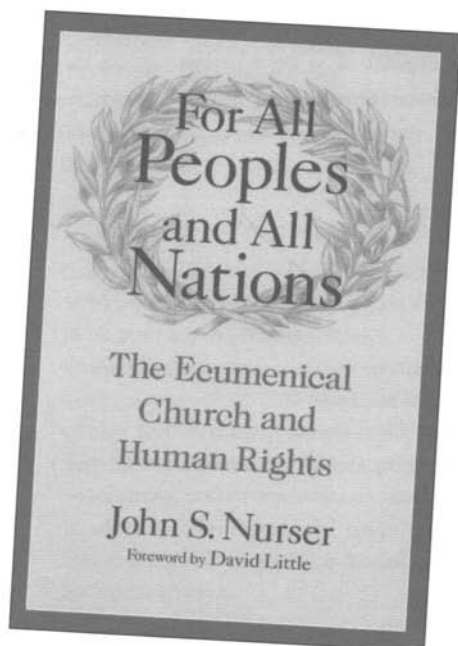

"Given the current dominance of conservative religious influence within American politics, in interpreting international affairs, and in perceptions of the United Nations, Nurser reminds us of a time when progressive Christianity's leadership made a global impact and helped give the United Nations its 'soul' in human rights."

Religious Cultures in the Early Modern World

Series Editors: Fernando Cervantes, Peter Marshall and Philip Soergel

This important new series is a showcase for writing on all aspects of the social, cultural and political history of religion in the early modern period. Its remit stretches broadly over time, from the early fifteenth to the late eighteenth century, and extends widely geographically, to encompass both European and non-European societies.

Religious Studies has benefited in recent years from an engagement with the approaches and methodologies of other disciplines. The traditional preoccupation with 'ecclesiastical history' and the fortunes of institutions has given way to a more integrated approach to Christian and non-Christian belief-systems which structured the early modern world.

Monograph Proposals

Submissions are invited from scholars working in the field of 'religious history' in its most inclusive sense. Works accepted into the series will be scholarly monographs (80–100,000 words) of high quality and originality, which, while they may focus on particular themes, persons or locations, will demonstrate an ability to address wider themes and concerns in this exciting and vibrant sub-discipline of historical writing.

The Italian Reformation, part I

*Titles from the Fondo Guicciardini,
Central National Library, Florence*

Advisor: Emidio Campi

- Scope part I: 145 titles
- Number of fiche: 428
- Including MARC21 records
- Available in IDC's Digital Library at www.idc-digilib.nl

The theological orientation of the Italian reformation was far more diverse than is generally assumed. There were the Spirituali, the circle around the Spanish immigrant mystical theologian Juan de Valdés, fully-fledged Reformed Protestants such as Peter Martyr Vermigli and Jerome Zanchius, Lutherans, Anabaptists and heretics such as Faustus and Laelius Socinus. Critical editions of this largely unexplored area are rarely available. This collection offers a synopsis of the diversity of the manifestations of the Italian Reformation and will therefore facilitate research in this fascinating, still largely fallow area.

Irenical Theology: Heidelberg 1583-1622

Advisor:
Herman J. Selderhuis

- Scope: 142 titles
- Number of fiche: 596
- Including MARC21 records

Until now, the works of the Heidelberg theologians have received remarkably little attention. However, this new IDC collection fills that lacuna. These resources will contribute essentially to further research in the theology of the sixteenth and early seventeenth century, as well as to the history of the early modern university.

Awards of the American Society of Church History:

The Frank S. and Elizabeth D. Brewer Prize, offered annually, is a subvention fund of $1,000 to assist a press in publishing a book-length manuscript in church history. The prize is limited to first books. The monetary grant will be made upon receipt of a commitment in writing from a publisher accepting the manuscript. Entries in their final form must be received by 1 November.

The Albert C. Outler Prize is an award in the amount of $1,000 to the author of the best book published in the two previous calendar years in ecumenical church history. "Ecumenical" is to be construed as concerned chiefly with problems of Christian unity and disunity (doctrinal, cultural, institutional) or with interactions between Christianity and other religious movements in any historical period. Authors of eligible books or any member of the Society may nominate titles for consideration; authors should submit a copy of the book. Nominations must be received by 1 March in even-numbered years.

The Philip Schaff Prize is an award in the amount of $1,000 to the author of the best book published in the two previous calendar years, originating in the North American scholarly community and presenting original research on any period in the history of Christianity. Authors of eligible books or any member of the Society may nominate titles for consideration; authors should submit a copy of the book. Nominations must be received by 1 March in odd-numbered years.

The Jane Dempsey Douglass Prize is an annual award in the amount of $250 for the author of the best essay published during the previous calendar year on any aspect of the role of women in the history of Christianity. Authors of eligible articles and any member of the Society may nominate titles for consideration. Nominations, accompanied if possible by a copy of the article, must be received by 1 August.

The Sidney E. Mead Prize, offered annually, is an award in the amount of $250 for the author of the best unpublished essay in any field of church history written by a doctoral candidate or recent graduate whose manuscript stems directly from doctoral research. The manuscript will be published in Church History. Entries of no more than twenty-five double-spaced pages, including double-spaced endnotes, must be submitted by 1 July.

A work may be submitted for only one ASCH competition. For more information, or to nominate a book or submit a manuscript, write to the American Society of Church History, Yale University Divinity School, 409 Prospect St., Box 473, New Haven, CT 06511.

Church History: Studies in Christianity and Culture is published four times per year (March, June, September, and December) by the American Society of Church History. Send manuscripts, books for review, and requests about advertising to the editorial office. Manuscripts should run 6,000–11,000 words (or approximately 20–35 pages), not including endnotes, and should be printed double-spaced in 11- or 12-point font; endnotes must be printed double-spaced on separate pages following the text. The editors request (1) three copies of the manuscript (in order to protect the author's anonymity during the review process, the author's name should appear only on the title page of the essay); (2) three copies of a 200-word abstract (if Church History publishes the essay, the abstract may be printed above the first line of the text of the article and/or it may be included on the Church History web page at www.churchhistory.org); (3) an electronic submission of both the manuscript and abstract as an email attachment in Word, WordPerfect, or Rich-Text format (instead of an email attachment, you may submit your manuscript and abstract on a 3½ inch diskette). Please see http://www.churchhistory.org/churchhistory\_guidelines.html for further manuscript submission guidelines. The editors will consider submissions of 70–90 pages for publication as "extended articles." Persons wishing to submit such manuscripts should query before sending them.

Church History is printed by Cadmus Professional Communications, Lancaster, Pennsylvania.
