LAW AND SOCIETY IN CLASSICAL ATHENS

Richard Garner

In this pioneering study, Richard Garner places the theory of Athenian law within the context of Greek thought on justice and of Greek democracy. Using archaeological and literary evidence, he also reconstructs the day to day practice of the Athenian law courts.

ATHENS AFTER THE PELOPONNESIAN WAR: Class, Faction and Policy 403–386 B.C.

Barry S. Strauss

The Athenian democracy's struggle to recreate a political consensus after the Peloponnesian war forms the starting point for this investigation of the nature of Greek political groups. The study also examines the practical workings of Athenian politics and especially the links between foreign and domestic policy.

Aristophanes' Lysistrata

Jeffrey Henderson

Aristophanes' Lysistrata was last edited in 1928, and the last commentary was in 1927; the only previous edition in English appeared in 1911. The present edition brings the play up to date in terms of the advances made in Aristophanic scholarship in the past sixty years. In particular, it is the first to report all the manuscripts, papyri, and testimonial sources of the text, offering a new account of its history and a detailed review of the transmission of the Aristophanic corpus as a whole.

Cicero: In L. Calpurnium Pisonem Oratio

Edited by R. G. M. Nisbet

'Will long remain not only the standard commentary on this work, but an indispensable aid to every student of Cicero. Nisbet's choice of the neglected In Pisonem was a happy one. . . . If Nisbet's treatment of textual matters deserves the highest praise, scarcely less admirable is the lucid conciseness of his explanatory notes.' Journal of Roman Studies

Italian Manpower 225 B.C.–A.D. 14

P. A. Brunt

'The book is of first-rate importance. It is a fundamental study, extremely well done.' The Times Literary Supplement

In this book, first published in 1971, the author seeks to determine within broad limits the size of the Italian population in the period covered, chiefly on the basis of Roman census figures and of estimates of the number of men under arms year by year; use is made by way of analogy of demographic data from other ages.

Roman History and Coinage 44 B.C.–A.D. 69

C. H. V. Sutherland

The purpose of this book is to compare the two streams of historical record (the generally personal view of ancient historians, and the governmental view of the coinage) in relation to fifty events, common to both, for which the ancient historians are cited (and translated) in full and the relevant coins (all described and mostly illustrated) are critically discussed. Simply because it was the product of governmental agency, the coinage is seen to constitute a valuable source-material in its own right.

nota bene™

An advanced word-processing program for scholars and professional authors

Nota Bene includes all the principal facilities provided by the best word-processing packages—transposing, deleting/undeleting, defining, moving and copying by word, phrase, line, sentence, paragraph or column; split- and full-screen windows, fast search and replace, mailmerge and list sorting, automatic generation of tables of contents, multi-level indexes, bibliographies etc. In addition it has features rarely found in office word-processing programs, which are particularly attractive to scholars, academic authors, journalists and lawyers:

- powerful footnote and endnote capabilities
- ability to display on screen and print the many letter forms and accents of several European languages, and Greek and Hebrew
- facility to customize keyboard
- 'Text-Base': a database system capable of storing up to 50,000 pages of notes from which data can be extracted speedily using the Boolean search capability, and indexes etc. generated
- allows conversion of WordStar files into Nota Bene format

Nota Bene runs on the IBM PC, XT, and AT microcomputers (and compatibles), and is exclusively distributed in the UK and Eire by Oxford University Press.

A History of Samos 800–188 B.C.

Graham Shipley

In the time of Herodotus and Thucydides the island city of Samos was a leading Greek community, and under the later Hellenistic kingdoms its reputation remained high. Despite its importance, however, this is the first comprehensive study since regular archaeological investigation began in the 1960s. In reconstructing social and economic trends, as well as political and military events, Dr Shipley treats archaeological and geographical evidence as of equal importance with written sources, inscriptions, and coins.

Actors and Audience

A Study of Asides and Related Conventions
in Greek Drama

David Bain

The aside is a familiar device in European drama, but surprisingly little has been written about it in connection with the drama in which it originated and developed. In this book it is suggested that it originated in Greek tragedy; asides and some related phenomena in tragedy are collected, and some false notions concerning their number and character are dispelled. This is a reissue in paperback of the book first published in 1977.

Introduction to Greek Metre

M. L. West

This abridgement of the author's comprehensive Greek Metre has been made with the intention of providing students with a more easily approachable and digestible introduction to the subject. The explanations of basic matters have been simplified, and additional examples have been given to illustrate the commoner metres.

Roman Laughter

The Comedy of Plautus

Erich Segal

'We certainly need in English a book devoted to Plautus alone and here we have it.'

Phoenix

This is a reissue of virtually the only book in English devoted to work of the Roman comic writer Plautus (c. 254–184 BC). It includes a new preface and additional appendices covering the plays Amphitryon and Captivi.

Sport and Recreation in Ancient Greece

Waldo E. Sweet

Both interesting and accessible, this book looks at sport and recreation in ancient Greece, through the translated accounts of ancient Greek and Latin authors. It examines the athletic events of the ancient Olympics and other events, athletic clothing, women in sports, and accounts of famous athletes.

NOTES TO CONTRIBUTORS

1. One copy of an article will suffice. It will usually be returned if the contributor so requests on submitting it, but as the editors may wish to annotate it and furthermore cannot take responsibility for any loss, contributors should retain another copy.

2. Articles should be typed in double spacing on A4 paper and on one side of the paper only. Footnotes should be numbered consecutively and typed on separate sheets. Greek quotations need not be typed, but every letter must be clear and legible; especial care should be taken over accents and breathings.

3. Quotations in English, Latin, French, etc., should be put in single inverted commas, e.g.

...the phrase 'dux femina facti' has...

A quotation within a quoted passage has double inverted commas. Single words or self-contained phrases (such as fait accompli) may be underlined to indicate italics. Material inserted within a quotation is placed in square brackets:

'[The translator]... must ever be casting his eyes upwards from the copy to the original.'

4. References should normally be given in the footnotes, in the following form:

BOOKS

R. Syme, The Roman Revolution (Oxford, 1939), pp. 78–9 or op. cit., pp. 78–9.

E. Norden, *Die antike Kunstprosa*⁵ i. 164–81 or op. cit. i. 164–81.

F. Jacoby, FGrHist 328 F 4.

Authors' initials should be stated, at least at their first mention. Abbreviations should not be assigned to books unless they are generally familiar (e.g. *OCD*² omitting full points).

ARTICLES

R. P. Winnington-Ingram, 'The Danaid Trilogy', JHS 81 (1961), 141–52

or R. P. Winnington-Ingram, JHS 81 (1961), 141–52.

Both year and volume number should be given.

Abbreviations may follow the style of Marouzeau's L'Année philologique.

ANCIENT AUTHORITIES

Aristophanes, Birds 135; Homer, Od. 1.1 (not a 1); Cic. Phil. 2.20 (not 2.8 or 2.8.20); Plin. N.H. 9.176 (not 9.83.176 or 9.83); Quint. 10.1.46; Soph. O.C. 225 (retain full points; do not use l. or ll., but, where necessary, line or lines).

B.C. should appear after, A.D. before, the number of the year. The following should not be italicized: op. cit., loc. cit., cf., ibid., s.v.

THE CLASSICAL ASSOCIATION

The main aims of the Classical Association are to promote and sustain interest in classical studies, to maintain their rightful position in universities and schools, and to give scholars and teachers opportunities of meeting and discussing their problems. It organizes an annual conference, lasting four or five days, in a university centre, and sponsors twenty-nine branches, most of which hold Greek and Latin Reading Competitions for Schools. Its activities are fully reported in its annual Proceedings, issued free to all members.

The present membership of the Association is approximately 4,400. Membership is open both to individuals and to institutions at an annual subscription of £3.00 (life composition for individual members, £63.00). Members may obtain the Classical Review and Classical Quarterly at reduced prices (Review, £13.00; Quarterly, £14.00; combined subscription, £24.00). Greece & Rome may also be obtained through the Association for an annual subscription of £11.00. Application for membership and subscriptions for the journals (which should normally be received by 31 January in each year) should be addressed to the Hon. Treasurer, Richard Wallace, Department of Classics, University of Keele, Keele, Staffs ST5 5BG.

The Association can also supply copies of the Index to the First Series of the Classical Review (price £1.50, post free) and of the last issue of The Year's Work in Classical Studies, covering the years 1945–7 (price £1.00, post free). These publications and details of the various occasional publications of the Association are obtainable from the Hon. Treasurer. Inquiries should be sent to either of the Hon. Secretaries (Dr J. Percival, Department of Classics, University College, Cardiff P.O. Box 78, Cardiff CF1 1XL and Miss H. M. Jones, 18 Valley Close, Pinner, Middlesex).
