

Research & Training Support

visits of five to twelve months' duration are encouraged, particularly those where contact with colleagues in the other country has already been established.

Applicants must be U.S. citizens and have a doctoral degree or its equivalent by the time of the intended visit in mathematics; the physical, biological, or engineering sciences; social or behavioral sciences; or medical sciences (non-patient-oriented). For the purpose of the exchange programs, those areas in the social and behavioral sciences which are oriented toward empirical and quantitative analysis and which focus on the analysis of individual and group behavior are included. All necessary expenses will be met by the NAS and the foreign academy, including reimbursement for salary lost up to a predetermined maximum and expenses for accompanying family members on visits of five months or more.

Requests for applications should reach the National Academy of Sciences not later than November 4, 1977; deadline for receiving completed applications is November 18, 1977. Address application requests to: National Academy of Sciences, Commission on International Relations, USSR/EE, 2101 Constitution Avenue, Washington, D.C. 20418.

Announcement of Awards

American Academy of Arts and Sciences

Five political scientists have been elected to the American Academy of Arts and Sciences at its 197th Annual Meeting. The newly elected members are: Samuel James Eldersveld, University of Michigan; Theodore J. Lowi, Cornell University; Warren Miller, University of Michigan; Walter Francis Murphy, Princeton University; and Donald Stokes, Princeton University.

Joint Center for Political Studies Grant to Study Blacks in Congress, 1870-1977

The Joint Center for Political Studies has received a $66,000 grant from the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration to compile historical and biographical data on the 45 black Americans who have served in the United States Congress from 1870-1977.

This data is designed to be the basis for the production of a documentary film designed to inform the general public of the contributions of these legislators to our nation.

Dr. Lenneal Henderson, on leave from the faculty of the political science department at Howard University, will head the six-month research project. The study will involve a major literature search and over 100 interviews with people who can provide background information not only on the political and personal lives of black congresspersons but also on the climate in which they were elected and served.

American Council of Learned Societies Fellowship Awards

The American Council of Learned Societies has made the following Fellowship awards:

Post Doctoral Awards

Gilbert Ware, Drexel University

Research in Humanities and Social Science Awards

Huguette Cohen, University of Illinois, Urbana

Nathan Tarcov, Harvard University

East European Studies (awarded jointly by ACLS and the Social Science Research Council)

John O. Iatrides, Southern Connecticut State College

Kenneth Jowitz, University of California, Berkeley

Nicholas P. Lovrich, DePaul University

David W. Paul, University of Washington

Soviet Studies (awarded jointly by ACLS and the Social Science Research Council)

Christopher D. Jones, Marquette University

Pete H. Solomon, Jr., University of Toronto

Dina R. Spechler, Tel Aviv University

American Council of Learned Societies Awards

Two political scientists, George A. Feaver, University of British Columbia, and Charles D. Tarlton, SUNY, Albany, have been awarded American Council of Learned Societies grant-in-aid awards for postdoctoral research.

Social Science Research Council Awards

The Social Science Research Council has announced the following awards:

International Doctoral Research Fellowships (Jointly with American Council of Learned Societies)

Africa

Alan Page Fiske, University of Chicago, for research in Kenya on conceptions of norms among the Samburu.

China

Peter K. Bol, Princeton University, for research in Kyoto on the transformation of learned elite culture in 11th century China.

Japan

Genevieve J. Shulick, University of Washington, for research in Japan on the public corporation in the postwar period.

Latin America and the Caribbean

Terry Lynn Karl, Stanford University, for research in Venezuela on the uses of petroleum revenues in Venezuela.

Western Europe

Nancy G. Bermeo, Yale University, for research in Portugal on the establishment of structures for worker participation.

Jeremiah M. Riemer, Cornell University, for research in West Germany on the conflict between monetary stability and social reform, 1966-1976.

Grants for International Postdoctoral Research

Africa

Walton R. Johnson, Livingston College, Rutgers University, for research in Lesotho and Umtata on European integration in the Transkei.

James H. Mittelman, Columbia University, for research in Mozambique and Tanzania on problems of the transition to socialism.

China

Andrew J. Nathan, Columbia University, for research on the modernization of China's political community, 1895-1919.

Japan

Terry E. MacDougall, University of Virginia, for research in Japan on Asukata Ichio and postwar Japanese socialism.

Korea

Jong S. Jun, California State University, Hayward, for research in Korea on the influence of public administration on public policy and development.

Young Whan Kihl, Iowa State University, for research in Korea and the United States on political culture and mass-elite linkage in Korea.

Kwan Ha Yim, Manhattanville College, for research in Korea and Japan on linkages of domestic sources of foreign policy in Korea-Japan relations.

Latin America and the Caribbean

Merilee Serrill Grindle, Wellesley College, for research in Colombia on policy implementation and agrarian reform.

John Danhouse Martz, University of North Carolina, for research in Ecuador on patterns of conflict and bargaining in oil politics.

Gabriel Penco Palma, Institute of Latin American Studies, University of London, for research in England on the role of the state in Chilean industrialization, 1930-1950.

John Crothers Pollock, Rutgers University, for research in the United States and South America on the depiction by the mass media of political change in Latin America.

Lars Gustav Shoultz, Miami University, for research in the United States on human rights and United States policy toward Latin America.

Jose Serra, Institute for Advanced Study, Princeton, New Jersey, for research in the United States on the economic bases of authoritarian regimes in Latin America.

Enrique Tandeter, Institute of Latin American Studies, University of London, for research in England on the determination of prices in 18th century South America.

Near and Middle East

Mark R. Cohen, Princeton University, for research on Jewish self government in medieval Islamic Egypt.

Jacob Lassner, Wayne State University, for a study of the relationships between the abbasid ruling family and its clients in the first century of its rule.

South Asia

Paul R. Brass, University of Washington, for research in London on the political consequences of the transfer of agricultural technology in north India.

Norman Uphoff, Cornell University, for research in Sri Lanka on the political economy of equity-oriented development.

Southeast Asia

Chai-Anan Samudavanija, Chulalongkorn University, for research on political conflict in Thailand.

Guggenheim Fellowships

The John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation has awarded fellowships to ten political scientists as follows: Bruce Bueno de Mesquita, University of Rochester; M. Kent Jennings, University of Michigan; Robert O. Keohane, Stanford University; Paul E. Peterson, University of Chicago; Nelson W. Polsby, University of California, Berkeley; Philippe C. Schmitter, University of Chicago; Donald D. Searing, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill; Martin M. Shapiro, University of California, San Diego; Ezra N. Suleiman, University of California, Los Angeles; M. Crawford Young, University of Wisconsin, Madison.

National Science Foundation Awards

Political scientists have received the following awards from the National Science Foundation:

Research & Training Support

Undergraduate Science Course Improvement Project

Kenyon N. Griffin, University of Hawaii
Richard W. Chadwick, University of Hawaii

Increasing Participation of Women in Science

Jana G. Everett, University of Colorado

Improve Graduate and Postgraduate
Research and Training Programs for Young Scientists

John Sprague, Washington University

ships. They are: Robert O. Keohane, Stanford University, and Paul Peterson, University of Chicago.

The German Marshall Fund Fellowship Program provides support for scholars whose work is designed to contribute to the better understanding and resolution of contemporary problems of industrial societies. Comparative research by scholars and professionals on political, economic, and social problems common to industrial societies is supported under this program of the Fund.

For information and application forms, write to the German Marshall Fund of the United States, 11 Dupont Circle, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

1977 German Marshall Fund Fellows Appointed

Two political scientists are among award winners of 1977 German Marshall Fund Fellow-

CAREER ALTERNATIVES FOR POLITICAL SCIENTISTS

A Guide for Faculty and Graduate Students

Thomas E. Mann

A Publication of the
Departmental Services Program

$1.00 (prepaid)

20 pages

Available direct from:
The American Political Science Association
1527 New Hampshire Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20036

Available

1976 EDITION
OF
ROSTER OF WOMEN IN POLITICAL SCIENCE

The APSA Committee on the Status of Women in the Profession has published a fourth edition of its Roster of Women in Political Science. Containing information on names, addresses, academic degrees, and fields and research interest of over eight hundred women political scientists, the Roster can be ordered now. The cost is $3.00 for APSA members; $5.00 for non-members.

Please send me a copy of the 1976 edition of the Roster of Women in Political Science.

Name _____

Address _____

$3.00 enclosed _____

$5.00 enclosed _____

Order from:

APSA Committee on the Status of Women
1527 New Hampshire Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20036