

Notes on Contributors

John Kekes

Professor of Philosophy, State University of New York at Albany. The most recent of his earlier contributions to Philosophy is 'Moral Depth' (October 1990).

Jonathan Dancy

Professor of Philosophy, University of Keele. Author of Moral Reasons.

M. W. Rowe

Visiting Fellow, Department of Philosophy, University of York.

Rae Langton

Department of Philosophy, Monash University.

Raimond Gaita

Lecturer in Philosophy, King's College, University of London. Author of Good and Evil: An Absolute Conception and editor of Value and Understanding: Essays for Peter Winch.

Max Deutscher

Professor in the School of History, Philosophy and Politics, Macquarie University. His article 'Simulacra, Enactment and Feeling' was published in Philosophy in October 1988.

Michael Cohen

Lecturer in Philosophy, University College of Swansea. Contributor to Analysis, Mind, Philosophical Books, Philosophical Investigations and Proceedings of the Aristotelian Society. His discussion article 'Simultaneity and Einstein's Gedankenexperiment' was published in Philosophy in July 1989. Co-author with Colwyn Williamson of Academic Standards Under Pressure: The Case of Swansea.

C. J. F. Williams

Professor of Philosophy, University of Bristol. The latest of his earlier contributions to Philosophy is 'Knowing Good and Evil' (April 1990).

Christopher Ormell

Senior Fellow, School of Education, University of East Anglia.