

CPD Online

319 New from CPD Online

Articles

- 320 Critical reflection: a sound foundation for learning and practice in psychiatry
Stavros Bekas
- 329 Portfolio-based learning in medical education
Antonina Ingrassia
- 337 Understanding the person with dementia: a clinicophilosophical case discussion
Julian C. Hughes & Aileen Beatty
- 344 Supporting self-management in early dementia: a contribution towards 'living well'?
Jo Cheffey, Laura Hill, Glenn Roberts & Ruth Marlow
- 351 Achieving transparency in forensic risk assessment: a multimodal approach
Amy Horstead & Adrian Cree
- 358 Risk assessment and management: forensic methods, human results
John Baird & Ruth Stocks
- 370 The interface between neurology and psychiatry: the case of multiple sclerosis
Eugene K. O. Wong, Rajeev Krishnadas & Jonathan Cavanagh
- 378 Autism spectrum disorder in adults: clinical features and the role of the psychiatrist
Jacqui Garland, Linda O'Rourke & Dene Robertson

Special article

- 392 Talking about madness and melancholy: Boswell's *Life of Samuel Johnson
Allan Beveridge

Mindreading

- 366 Trauma, bereavement and the creative process: Arshile Gorky's *The Artist and His Mother
Alexandra Pitman

Cover image

In this issue, Ingrassia (329–336) examines the potential value of portfolios as learning and assessment tools, and some of the challenges and dilemmas associated with their use.
Image: © iStockphoto/lcs813.