

Medical Symbolism, in connection with Historical Studies in the Arts of Healing and Hygiene.—By THOMAS S. SOZINSKEY, M.D., Ph.D.
London: F. A. Davis. 1891.

IT is refreshing to find a member of our profession ready and able to devote himself to classical literature, the study of which alone could enable him to write such a book as this. Most of us are too busily engaged in every-day affairs to draw from the deep wells of knowledge and philosophy stored up in ancient times, and we thank the author of this little readable book for having given us the fruit of his labours.

NOTES.

Mr. LENNOX BROWNE desires us to call attention to the fact that, in his remarks in the discussion upon diphtheria at the last meeting of the British Laryngological Association (see this Journal, April, 1891), the reporter has made him use the word "Hartproosher" for the town of Berkhamstead, Herts; and has also confounded Cape Town with Cape Colony.

Dr. J. N. MACINTYRE has been appointed Lecturer on Diseases of the Throat and Nose at Anderson's College, Glasgow.

Dr. ADOLF BRONNER has been appointed to the charge of the Laryngological Department of the Bradford General Hospital.

CONTAINS THE ESSENTIAL ELEMENTS of the Animal Organization—Potash and Lime;

THE OXIDISING AGENTS—Iron and Manganese

THE TONICS—Quinine and Strychnine;

AND THE VITALISING CONSTITUENT—Phosphorus: the whole combined in the form of a Syrup, with a SLIGHTLY ALKALINE REACTION.

IT DIFFERS IN ITS EFFECTS FROM ALL ANALOGOUS PREPARATIONS; and it possesses the important properties of being pleasant to the taste, easily borne by the stomach, and harmless under prolonged use.

IT HAS GAINED A WIDE REPUTATION, particularly in the treatment of Pulmonary Tuberculosis, Chronic Bronchitis, and other affections of the respiratory organs. It has also been employed with much success in various nervous and debilitating diseases.

ITS CURATIVE POWER is largely attributable to its Stimulant, Tonic, and Nutritive Properties, by means of which the energy of the system is recruited.

ITS ACTION IS PROMPT, it stimulates the appetite and the digestion; it promotes assimilation, and it enters directly into the circulation with the food products.

The prescribed dose produces a feeling of buoyancy, and removes depression and melancholy; hence THE PREPARATION IS OF GREAT VALUE IN THE TREATMENT OF MENTAL AND NERVOUS AFFECTIONS. From the fact, also, that it exerts a double tonic influence, and induces a healthy flow of the secretions, its use is indicated in a wide range of diseases.

NOTICE—CAUTION.—The success of Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites has tempted certain persons to offer imitations of it for sale. Mr. Fellows, who has examined samples of several of these, finds that no two of them are identical, and that all of them differ from the original in composition, in freedom from acid reaction, in susceptibility to the effects of oxygen when exposed to light or heat, in the property of retaining the strychnine in solution, and in the medicinal effects.

As these cheap and inefficient substitutes are frequently dispensed instead of the genuine preparation, physicians are earnestly requested, when prescribing the Syrup, to write "Syr. Hypophos, FELLOWS."

As a further precaution, it is advisable that the Syrup should be ordered in the original bottles (4s. or 7s.); the distinguishing marks which the bottles (and the wrappers surrounding them) bear can then be examined, and the genuineness—or otherwise—of the contents thereby proved.

The British Medical Journal says:—"Caffyn's Liquor Carnis is " undoubtedly a nourishing fluid, consisting of the Uncooked
" Juice of Meat, or muscle-plasma, permanently preserved by
" the addition of a quantity of carbohydrate . . . a valuable
" Food and Tonic for Infants and Invalids."

" THE subject of food and food preparations is one to which considerable attention has been given of late years. Caffyn's Liquor Carnis is, we believe, the latest addition to our food preparations, and among the best, it having been spoken of by eminent medical authorities in the highest terms. The most important consideration in connection with an extract of beef, we need hardly say, is the quality of the meat itself. At the works of the Liquor Carnis Company, Limited, only

PRIME CUTS OF THE FINEST

English and Scotch Beef are used. The 'cuts' are placed on metal trays, which are kept most scrupulously clean, and then placed in a press worked by hydraulic pressure. The 'juice' by this means is squeezed out, and received into receptacles which surround the four sides of the press, the result being and simple. But to those who know anything in regard to preparations of this nature, it will be apparent that a food like this would be containing, as it would, too great a proportion of nitrogen. To meet the requirement it is mixed with a definite quantity of one of the carbohydrates, which, besides supplying the needed quantity of carbon, acts as a preservative of Liquor Carnis. We have

ARRIVED AT A SEASON

when a preparation of this kind, always valuable, will be found specially so. Modern medical scientists possesses no real nutritive value whatever, but is more stimulative and effective in many cases than the best pale brandy. No household, therefore, for ordinary or extraordinary purposes, should be without Caffyn's Liquor Carnis. From personal knowledge we can testify to the invaluable qualities of Caffyn's Liquor Carnis, it being everything that is claimed for it."—Civil Service Gazette.

TELL US THAT BEEF-TEA
