THE SLAVE SHIP

A HUMAN HISTORY

MARCUS REDIKER

In this intimate history of an infamous institution, Marcus Rediker shines a light into the darkest corners of the “floating dungeons” of the eighteenth-century American and British slave trade, exploring how the ships, their crews, and their human cargo connected and transformed societies on both sides of the horrendous voyage.

“The Slave Ship is the best of histories, deeply researched, brilliantly formulated, and morally informed.”

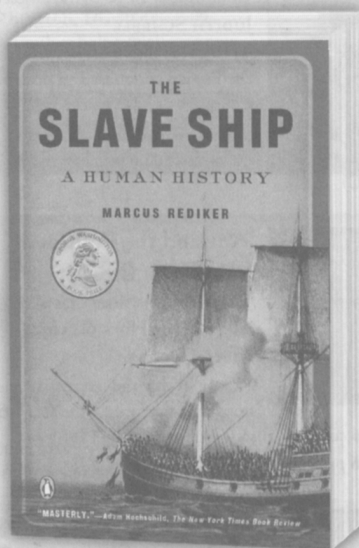

—Ira Berlin, Univ. of Maryland

“Reading [The Slave Ship] established a transformative and never to be severed bond with my African ancestors who were cargo in slave ships over a period of four centuries.”

—Alice Walker

“A magnificent and disturbing book—disturbing not only because it details the violence and barbarism of the free market in human beings, but it reminds us that all actors in this drama are human, including the ship’s crew.”

—Robin D. G. Kelley,
University of Southern California

Knowledge in the Blood Confronting Race and the Apartheid Past

JONATHAN D. JANSEN

Knowledge in the Blood offers a firsthand account, from the first black Dean of a historically white university, of how white South African students learn and confront the Apartheid past, and how this knowledge transforms students and teacher alike.

"Jonathan Jansen's stunning, deeply rounded story draws you in and never lets go. It is at once an autobiography and a socio-emotional political account of one of the most profound changes facing any nation, the transformation from Apartheid."

—Michael Fullan,

author of The Six Secrets of Change and The Moral Imperative of School Leadership

"Brave, discerning, and deeply affecting, this study of a South African institution in the midst of historic change, gives us profound insight into the challenges faced by the larger society, as it emerges from a bitterly divisive past into a more hopeful future. An act of empathy as well as penetrating analysis, Knowledge in the Blood is an inspiring blueprint for thinking about social and personal transformation, and for extending to a problematic Other an understanding which includes both compassion and a sense of justice."

—Eva Hoffman,

author of After Such Knowledge

JOURNALS OF
THE AFRICAN STUDIES ASSOCIATION
AVAILABLE IN JSTOR

Since 2002, the African Studies Association has worked with JSTOR, an online digital archive, to provide access to complete back runs of ASA journals. Users may search, browse, view, and print full-text PDF versions of articles in three ASA journals, from their first year published through all but the current and three previous volumes:

African Issues (1971)
African Studies Review (1958)
History in Africa (1974)

These journals are available as part of JSTOR's Arts & Sciences II and the Complement Collections. Users at institutions that participate in any of these collections can access the publications directly at www.jstor.org.

Individual articles from the back issues of ASA's publications are also available for purchase at $12.00 per article through JSTOR's Publisher Sales Service, a collaborative initiative to facilitate access to important scholarly literature for independent scholars. For more information on this program, please visit http://www.jstor.org/about/pss_title_list.html.

JSTOR is proud to collaborate with the African Studies Association to preserve and make widely available the historic literature of our field.

JSTOR is a not-for-profit organization dedicated to helping the scholarly community discover, use, and build upon a wide range of intellectual content in a trusted digital archive. Its overarching aims are to preserve a record of scholarship for posterity and to advance research and teaching in cost-effective ways. JSTOR collaborates with organizations that can help achieve its objectives and maximize the benefits for the scholarly community
