

NEW

RECORDS OF THE FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION

Part I: Minutes of Meetings of the Commission, 1915–1949

University Publications of America is pleased to announce Records of the Federal Trade Commission, a new series that will include major collections from the voluminous archives of the Commission. Part I of the series, Minutes of Meetings of the Commission, 1915–1949, is an invaluable record of the Commission's activities. Published for the first time, these minutes are a convenient and comprehensive summary of all of the Commission's deliberations and thus form an outstanding resource for those interested in business law and in the history of American business in the first half of the twentieth century.

The minutes of the Federal Trade Commission meetings are important to scholars because they present a daily firsthand account of the Commission's regulatory activities. These records not only allow us to examine the step-by-step progress of hundreds of individual cases and investigations, they also allow us to trace the various currents in the relationship between government and business from 1915 to 1949. Created by the Federal Trade Commission Act of 1914, the FTC was given wide-ranging authority to combat unfair methods of competition in business. By 1921, buoyed by the "trust busting" temper of the progressive era, the Commission had issued nearly 400 cease and desist orders and had helped to secure the breakup of several monopolies, most notably the International Harvester Company in 1918 and the Corn Products Refining Company in 1919. The Commission's influence over American businesses (and, by extension, American consumers) has been incalculable from its inception and continues today.

By documenting all of the Commission's important activities, the Commission's minutes open a remarkable window on the interplay of political, social, and business interests in twentieth-century American history. Now published for the first time, Minutes of Meetings of the Commission, 1915–1949 will be an essential research collection for studies in American history, business, and law.

Ordering Information

RECORDS OF THE FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION Part I: Minutes of Meetings of the Commission, 1915–1949

Series A, 1915–1932.

35mm microfilm (18 reels) with printed guide.
Price: $1,440. ISBN 0-89093-882-2.

Series B, 1933–1940.

35mm microfilm (25 reels) with printed guide.
Price: $2,000. ISBN 0-89093-883-0.

Series C, 1941–1949.

35mm microfilm (21 reels) with printed guide.
Price: $1,680. ISBN 0-89093-884-9.

All three series are available now.

Discount: There is a 15% discount for ordering all three series; this discounted price is $4,352.

Source note: These records have been microfilmed from the holdings of the Federal Records Center, Suitland, Maryland.

Kindly direct all orders and inquiries to:

UNIVERSITY PUBLICATIONS OF AMERICA

Dept. A-BHR1285 44 North Market Street Frederick, MD 21701
Call Toll Free 1-800-692-6300

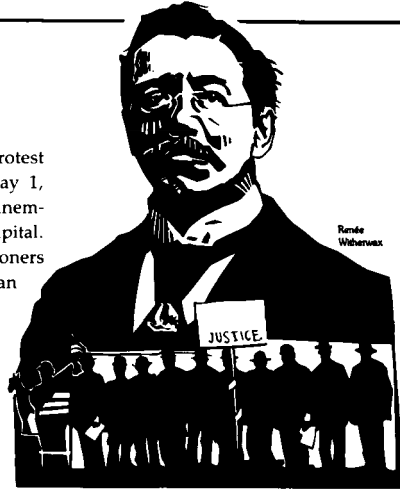

Coxey's Army

An American Odyssey

By Carlos A. Schwantes

Coxey's Army is the story of the first protest march on Washington, D.C. On May 1, 1894, a tattered and hungry Army of unemployed converged on the nation's capital. Led by Jacob S. Coxey, the petitioners sought jobs and a stimulated American economy. Schwantes paints a rich canvas incorporating the Populist crusade of the late 19th century and shows how Coxeyism pre-figured the New Deal. $21.95 tentative also of interest . . .

Latin American Oil Companies and the Politics of Energy

Edited by John D. Wirth

The giant public oil companies of Argentina, Brazil, Mexico, and Venezuela have become a resource for nation-building, a strategic arm of public policy in their respective countries. Case studies and histories of the early oil companies, their evolution, and the political and economic results of their nationalization are chronicled in this new volume. $27.95 tentative

UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA PRESS 901 NORTH 17TH, LINCOLN, NE 68588

New in Paperback

Scientific Management in Action

Taylorism at Watertown Arsenal, 1908-1915

Hugh G. J. Aitken

With a new foreword by Merritt Roe Smith

Published in 1960, this valuable study of the introduction of scientific management techniques into factory life appears now for the first time in paperback. The author fully describes the walkout of 1911—which began when a Watertown, Massachusetts foundry worker refused to work against a stop watch—and subsequent events that carried the controversy over Taylorism to Congress. The book is a balanced analysis of the strengths and weaknesses of Taylorism, including the naiveté that led its proponents to ignore the emotional side of the complex roles and patterns that govern the world of work. P: $12.95. C: $37.00

At your bookstore or

Princeton University Press

41 William Street Princeton, NJ 08540

The Business of History The History of Business

American Money and the Weimar Republic

Economics and Politics on the Eve of the Great Depression

William C. McNeil.

Tells the story of American bank loans to Germany from 1924 to 1929, considering American loan policy from the perspective of a global economic order. McNeil asks the broader question: what are the costs of stabilizing an international system?

The Political Economy of International Change Series, John Gerard Ruggie, General Editor
320 pp., $30.00

Industry and Politics in the Third Reich

Ruhr Coal, Hitler and Europe

John R. Gillingham

This authoritative study portrays the industrialists of the Ruhr as neither masterminds of the Third Reich's economic strategy nor helpless victims of Hitler's tyranny.

183 pp., $20.00

The U.S. Economy in World War II

Harold G. Vatter

Three perspectives on the American wartime economy: overall economic changes and government policy during those years, major social developments and their relationship to the wartime experience, and the significance of the war years upon American economic history.

Columbia Studies in Business, Government, and Society, Eli M. Noam, General Editor
224 pp., $25.00

Employing Bureaucracy

Managers, Unions, and the Transformation of Work In American Industry, 1900-1945

Sanford M. Jacoby

Focusing on American manufacturing firms, Jacoby analyzes the transition from an unstable, market-oriented system for blue-collar workers to a more bureaucratic employment relationship. He offers the first detailed account of the emergence of America's personnel management profession.

377 pp., $35.00

Willis R. Whitney, General Electric, and the Origins of U.S. Industrial Research

George Wise

Industrial research was vital in shaping the modern American economy and negotiating the border between technology and business: Willis Whitney pioneered the role of director at an industrial research laboratory. "Recreates much of the anxiety and excitement of the decades when business discovered science and vice versa."—The New York Times Book Review

375 pp., photos, $29.00

Now in paperback

Boss Kettering

Stuart W. Leslie

"A lively and well-documented book that is a superb specimen of business biography, portraying its hero, warts and all."

—Business Week

382 pp., $14.50 pa

To order, send check or money order to Dept. JN at the address below, including $2.00 for postage and handling.

Columbia University Press

136 South Broadway, Irvington, NY 10533

Newcomen Awards in Business History

For the best article published in the Business History Review during the previous year the Society will award a prize of $300 and a scroll. For the best article published in the Business History Review during the previous year by a graduate student or a recent Ph.D. who has not published a book in business history, the Society will award a special prize of $150 and a scroll. Criteria for selection include originality, value, breadth and interest of contribution, quality of research materials and methods, and quality of presentation.

Winners will be selected by a panel of judges consisting of the editors and the members of the editorial board of the Business History Review, none of whom shall be eligible to receive a prize. The awards are administered by the editorial office of the Review. No special prize will be awarded in years when, in the opinion of the judges, no eligible article suitable for the prize was published, and no person may be awarded both prizes in any one year.

ANNOUNCING THREE AWARDS
IN BUSINESS HISTORY

PRESENTED BY THE NEWCOMEN
SOCIETY
OF THE
UNITED STATES

Thomas Newcomen Book Award in Business History

The Newcomen Society of the United States, in cooperation with the Business History Review, will award in 1988 the ninth in a series of triennial prizes consisting of $1,000 and a scroll for the best book on the history of business published in the United States between 1985 and 1987. "Business history" is defined in its broadest sense to include not only the history of firms or industries, but books tracing interactions of business leaders, analyses of business philosophy or behavior, and studies of the adjustment of businesses and businesspeople to their economic, political, and social environments. Criteria for selection will include contribution to knowledge, depth of analysis, soundness of reasoning, clarity of style and organization, and general readability and format.

Judges for the 1988 award will be announced at an appropriate time by the Harvard Business School and the Newcomen Society of the United States.

Books that matter are Basic

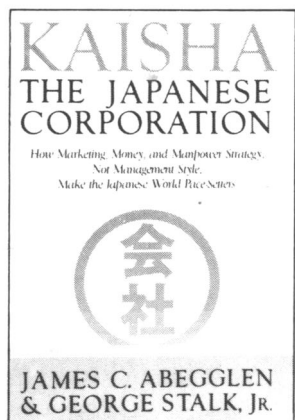

How the West Grew Rich The Economic Transformation of the Industrial World

NATHAN ROSENBERG & L.E. BIRDZELL, JR.

Two leading scholars argue persuasively that the political pluralism and the remarkable flexibility of the West's institutions—not corporate organization and mass production technology—explains its unparalleled wealth and prosperity. "A lucid, well-reasoned antidote to false notions that prosperity has been built upon imperialism, exploitation, or legerdemain. It goes far toward helping explain why modern attempts to achieve prosperity through fiat and force fizzle out in confusion or worse."—JANE JACOBS

$19.95

Kaisha

The Japanese Corporation

JAMES C. ABEGLLEN & GEORGE STALK, JR.

Kaisha is the first book that actually goes inside the Japanese corporation and describes it for all whose competitive survival requires a more complete understanding of the Japanese way of business. "A major contribution to our understanding of the current Japanese economy."—HENRY ROSOVSKY, Harvard University "If you have time to read only one book on this subject, this is that one."—THOMAS J. MURRIN, Westinghouse

$22.50

The Making of Modern Advertising

DANIEL POPE

Daniel Pope explores how the transformation of an industry revolutionized the business of America. "A valuable book. It is lively enough for the layman and scholarly enough for the scientist. It is nomothetic enough to please a sociologist yet idiographic enough for an historian. It belongs on the bookshelf of anyone interested in the history of marketing in the United States."—The Journal of Consumer Affairs

$18.95

Basic Books, Inc.

10 East 53rd St New York NY 10022

Call toll-free 1-800-638-3030