HIMALAYAN BARBARY

CHRISTOPHER VON FÜRER-HAIMENDORF

An exploration by the author and his wife of the obscure and dangerous borderland between India and Tibet in the upper Subansiri area. "One of the best travel books I have ever read. It is extremely well written often humorous and entirely free from technical jargon.—The Observer.

With illustrations. 21s. net

FORGOTTEN KINGDOM

PETER GOULLART

An enchanting personal account of the fantastic mountain country of the south-western Chinese province of Yunnan—the forgotten Nakbi kingdom—and its high-spirited, dramatic inhabitants. Mr. Goullart gives some startling pictures of these intermingled races, Tibetans, hobos, and Czechuanese.

With Illustrations.

18s. net

THE UNEVEN ROAD

LORD BELHAVEN

An autobiography that brings rare qualities of imagination and personal philosophy to a life of action mainly in Arabia. It is a most unusual account of personal experience.

With illustrations.

21s. net

WINGATE OF THE SUDAN

SIR RONALD WINGATE, Bt.

The first biography of one of the unique figures in our imperial history. In view of the events now taking place in the Sudan it is most timely and important.

With illustrations.

21s.

Daily Mail Book of the Month

GOLDEN INTERLUDE

The Edens in India 1836-1842

Based on recently discovered letter-journals of Fanny Eden which she kept while living in India with her brother, the Governor General, Lord Auckland.

"Fanny is now revealed to us for the first time. She was gay, she was unconventional, she was adventurous, she was sprightly."—The Observer.

Illustrated.

PHARAOH TO FAROUK

H. WOOD JARVIS

This picture of Egypt from 3000 B.C. to modern times is a dramatic panorama that interprets history through the people who made it. It is a concise yet vivid presentation of a remarkable span of human history.
