Palestine and the Arab-Israeli Conflict

A History with Documents
Seventh Edition

Charles D. Smith, University of Arizona

Palestine and the Arab-Israeli Conflict provides a comprehensive, balanced, and accessible introduction to the multi-faceted history of the Arab-Israeli conflict. Smith's widely respected analysis examines how underlying issues, group motives, religious and cross-cultural clashes, diplomacy and imperialism, and encroaching modernity shaped this volatile region. The book's narrative and supporting documents, maps, photographs, and chronologies consider high and low politics with perspectives from all sides of the struggle, while the final chapters include the latest developments.

“Palestine and the Arab-Israeli Conflict engages the historical framework in a clear and balanced manner. Using primary sources to buttress a clean-yet-sophisticated narrative, Smith has created an extremely accessible text — a fine foundation for an undergraduate classroom experience.”

OXFORD

Introducing the Most Advanced and Authoritative
Islamic Studies Bibliography Available

BIBLIOGRAPHIES

ONLINE: ISLAMIC STUDIES

NOW AVAILABLE!

"We commissioned the top scholars in the field of Islamic Studies to outline their areas of expertise, so that users will understand how the field is organized and why it developed in the way it did. The authors provide descriptive introductions to each entry and subdivision within their outlines, and then present selective lists of the major sources. Each source is described in a brief annotation indicating what role it plays among the myriad sources available. The annotated bibliographies thus present a guided tour through the key literature on each topic, providing context for its development, and a balanced overview of the major issues within a given topic."

Tamara Sonn, Editor in Chief

William R. Kenan Distinguished Professor of Humanities in the Department of Religious Studies at the College of William and Mary

Authority and Innovation for Scholarly Research

Oxford Bibliographies Online (OBO) is an entirely new type of resource: an authoritative, discipline-focused, online guide to the essential literature in the interdisciplinary field of Islamic Studies. OBO was developed to combine the best features of a high-level encyclopedia and a traditional bibliography in a style tailored to meet the needs of today's online researchers. OBO: Islamic Studies examines the range of lived experiences and textual traditions of Muslims as they are articulated in various countries and regions throughout the world. This interdisciplinary field combines history, religion, philosophy, anthropology, Arabic language and literature, as well as literatures in other languages including Persian, Turkish, and Urdu.

- Assurance of Editorial Quality & Excellence

Each entry receives multiple peer reviews and Editorial Board vetting to provide authoritative and balanced coverage, bringing the excellence you expect from our print programs to online

- Make Research Time More Productive

OBO is selective, directing researchers to only the most essential, core sources, saving hours of time in the research process

DESCRIPTION

The Middle East Studies Association (MESA) is a private, non-profit, non-political learned society that brings together scholars, educators and those interested in the study of the region from all over the world. From its inception in 1966 with 50 founding members, MESA has increased its membership to more than 2,600 and now serves as an umbrella organization for more than sixty institutional members and forty-two affiliated organizations. The association is a constituent society of the American Council of Learned Societies, the National Council of Area Studies Associations, and a member of the National Humanities Alliance. As part of its goal to advance learning, facilitate communication and promote cooperation, MESA sponsors an annual meeting that is a leading international forum for scholarship, intellectual exchange and pedagogical innovation. It is responsible for the International Journal of Middle East Studies, the premiere journal on the region, the Review of Middle East Studies, and a quarterly newsletter. An awards program recognizes scholarly achievement, service to the profession, and exemplary students. MESA is governed by a nine-member Board of Directors elected by the membership.

MESA is a nonprofit corporation with tax exempt status. Contributions to the Association are deductible under both U.S. Federal and British income tax regulations.

MISSION STATEMENT

The Middle East Studies Association (MESA) is a non-political association that fosters the study of the Middle East, promotes high standards of scholarship and teaching, and encourages public understanding of the region and its peoples through programs, publications and services that enhance education, further intellectual exchange, recognize professional distinction, and defend academic freedom.
