History of Java

By the late SIR THOMAS STAMFORD RAFFLES. Late in the summer of 1965 Oxford will offer a facsimile reprint of a classic collector's item. First published at the end of the nineteenth century, History of Java is a famous standard work on Java by the renowned founder of Singapore. Illustrated with many beautiful color plates. Two quarto volumes of 1,000 pages, boxed. $50.00 a set

The Administration of Guntur District 1788-1848

A History of Local Influence on Central Authority in South India

By ROBERT E. FRYKENBERG, University of Wisconsin. Between 1788 and 1848, silent combinations of local groups in Guntur District increased their power at the expense of the State, and British officers lost control of their Indian subordinates. From manuscript sources, Mr. Frykenberg examines this conflict, traces elements of social structure, land control and political functions in a Telugu area, and analyzes traditional institutions and processes of power. 4 maps. $6.75

The Development of British Malaya 1896-1909

By CHAI HON-CHAN, University of Malaya. Concerned with the areas of Perak, Selangor, Pahang and Negri Sembilan (known after 1895 as the Federated Malay States), this study emphasizes the administrative and social aspects of Malaya's development. In drawing together such apparently disparate subjects as labor and education, medical research and the rubber industry, tin mining and the development of communications, currency matters and immigration policies, and constitutional reforms, much new and comparatively unknown material is brought to light. Bibliography, 5 maps, 2 appendices, index. Cloth, $7.35. Paper, $4.90

Government and People in Hong Kong 1841-1962

A Constitutional History

By G. B. ENDACOTT, University of Hong Kong. In this definitive account of the British Crown Colony, the author treats it not only as a case study in British colonial history but also as a settlement with notable contrasts to the rest of Asia. He thoroughly examines the application of British ideas of government to an overwhelmingly Chinese community, its conspicuous absence of political agitation, and the early British attempt to adapt its colonial institutions to meet administrative needs of the British communities in the Treaty Ports. Carrying constitutional developments up through 1962, Mr. Endacott concludes with a prospectus for the future. 14 halftones, 1 map. $6.00

THE MANYŌSHŪ

Chosen from the oldest and largest of Japanese anthologies and still regarded as one of the highest in quality, this group of 1,000 poems reflects Japanese life and civilization of the seventh and eighth centuries. The poets represented range from sovereigns, princes and courtiers to soldiers and simple folk. Patriotism, religion, court life and rural customs are among the themes treated. $12.50

SU TUNG-P'Ō

Selections from a Sung Dynasty Poet

Burton Watson, Translator

The people of the Sung dynasty, of which Su Tung-p'ō is the greatest poet, had a way of life, values, and interests which have much in common with modern Western man. Consequently, Sung poetry seems to the Western reader very similar to that of his contemporaries. These selections record the poet's experiences, express his griefs and joys, and paint vivid word pictures of people and scenes. $3.75

THE MAHĀBHĀRATA

An English Version Based on Selected Verses

Chakravarthi V. Narasimhan

A Sanskrit classic, and one of India's two great epics, the Mahābhārata is the longest and one of the greatest epic poems written in any language. The main narrative is the story of the rivalry between the cousins of two families which culminates in the great battle of Kurukṣetra. In spite of its many episodes of weakness, violence, and revenge, the essential theme of the epic is peace and reconciliation. $6.00

REFORMER IN MODERN CHINA

Chang Chien: 1853-1926

Samuel C. Chu

Among the men who advocated a substantive program of modernization in nineteenth-century China, Chang Chien was one of the most successful yet least known. He was almost solely responsible for the transformation of Nan-T'ung, his native district and an undeveloped, unproductive region, into a model district. His career and accomplishments illustrate the interaction between the forces of progress and reaction in nineteenth-century China, and reflect the problems faced by modernizers in all parts of the world. $6.00

TWENTIETH CENTURY CHINA

O. Edmund Clubb

"This excellent book will force its readers to think carefully about China's place in the world and how other nations must adjust to China's dynamic and dangerous revolution. . . . In no other work in English will one find a more graphic, more brutally realistic account of the power struggles that have racked China from the days of Yuan Shih-k'ai to those of Mao Tse-Tung, nor of the conflicts between China, Japan, Russia and the United States to shape the future of eastern Asia."—New York Times Book Review

The League of Arab States, A Study in the Dynamics of Regional Organization

By ROBERT W. MACDONALD. One purpose of this study is to discuss three major questions that face the league and are held to be typical of all regional organizations: the role of functional integration in cultural, economic, social, and scientific affairs; the problems of regional security and peaceful settlement of disputes among member states; and the importance of interaction between the League and the United Nations. Other topics of primary concern to the area and the League are analyzed, including the techniques of cooperation with the United Nations and its specialized agencies, neutralism and nonalignment, and the boycott of Israel. 290 pages. $6.50

Gaon, Conflict and Cohesion in an Indian Village

By HENRY ORENSTEIN. The author reveals the way social change has affected village bonds, and how conflict, unequal power, and caste interaction have shifted with the weakening of village cohesion. Rich data about village organization and politics in a region of India that has received little recent attention are presented. The author's conclusions indicate that a certain kind of solidarity in villages is now disintegrating because of the formality and secularization that are part of the general movement toward social cohesion in the larger units of region and nation. 350 pages. $8.50

Education and Political Development

No. 4, "Studies in Political Development"

Edited by JAMES S. COLEMAN. The knowledge and experience of nineteen specialists is brought to bear on the subject of the relationship of education and political development in at least ten countries around the world. The contributors both discuss theoretical matters and present the results of empirical research. Education and Political Development is the fourth of a series of seven books entitled "Studies in Political Development," sponsored by the Committee on Comparative Politics of the Social Science Research Council. 600 pages. $10.00

Political Culture and Political Development

No. 5, "Studies in Political Development"

Edited by LUCIAN W. PYE and SIDNEY VERBA. This volume presents a major first attempt to deal comparatively with the political cultures of nations in a large part of the world. Specialists writing on ten nations relate the political culture of the country to the historical pattern by which the political culture itself developed. 616 pages. $10.00

Between Two Empires

THE ORDEAL OF THE PHILIPPINES, 1929-1946

by Theodore Friend

Based on extensive documentary research and numerous interviews in all three countries, this is the first study in depth of the Philippines' relationship with the United States and Japan during the years 1929 to 1946. Mr. Friend delineates in fascinating detail the fight for independence led by Manuel Quezon, Sergio Osmeña, and Manuel Roxas. He follows these and other Filipino leaders through the period of Japanese occupation and American liberation to the day in 1946 when the Philippines became the first Asian colony to achieve sovereignty. $7.50

A HISTORY OF EAST ASIAN CIVILIZATION

EAST ASIA: THE GREAT TRADITION

Volume I of a HISTORY OF ASIAN CIVILIZATION

Edwin O. Reischauer and John K. Fairbank

An account of East Asian civilization as it developed over three millennia from its beginnings in North China up to the early nineteenth century. Remarkable for several reasons, this book (1) gives an over-all picture of institutional and cultural growth, (2) achieves balance and integration among economic, political, intellectual, and cultural factors, (3) draws fruitful comparisons and relationships between historical developments in the major East Asian countries, and also between these and the rest of the world, (4) offers a number of new concepts and interpretations which put new meaning into many aspects of East Asian history, (5) provides ample, relevant illustrations.

EAST ASIA: THE MODERN TRANSFORMATION

Volume II of A HISTORY OF EAST ASIAN CIVILIZATION

John K. Fairbank, Edwin O. Reischauer, and Albert M. Craig

The long-awaited second volume of this widely-used text brings the history of the "Chinese culture area" down to the present decade. Modernization, beginning as a response to the Western impact, is viewed in the perspective of the traditional development of the societies and cultures of China, Japan, Korea, and the peripheral areas, including Southeast Asia and Inner Asia. The contrasting experiences of the Chinese and Japanese peoples in modern times provide a central theme. The 80 plates, 45 maps, numerous line cuts, charts and tables of this attractive volume help to set a new standard of comprehensiveness. Index 57 pages.

THE EMERGENCE OF AN INDUSTRIAL LABOR FORCE IN INDIA

A Study of the Bombay Cotton Mills, 1854-1947. Morris David Morris. Examines the view that rural attachments in India made it difficult to generate a stable factory work force attuned to modern industry. The Bombay cotton textile industry is shown to have easily created the labor force it needed. Difficulties arose, not from the persistence of rural values, but from the economic organization of the industry itself. $6.50

THE SUFIS

by Idries Shah
Grand Sheikh of the Sufis

With an Introduction by Robert Graves

For the first time, an authority on mystical and occult philosophy explores the bases of the secret heritage which has had enormous, yet almost unrecognized, influence on both the East and the West . . . the way of life whose followers believe is not a religion but all religion . . . the mystical teaching which can be traced in the work of many diverse writers, from Aesop and Omar Khayyam to Chaucer, Dante and St. John of the Cross. "Eminently readable . . . a useful introduction to a subject that is still too little known." — ROBERT PAYNE, N. Y. Times Book Review. $5.95 at all booksellers or from the publishers, Doubleday & Company, Inc., Garden City, N. Y.

United States Policy and the Partition of Turkey, 1914-1924

By Laurence Evans. The author makes a detailed and thoroughly documented study of the phases through which American Middle East policy passed during and following World War I. He presents the problems facing the United States—primarily from the viewpoints of the President and Secretary of State—as its policy went from complete non-involvement to intense concern and back to non-involvement.
