

The French Enlightenment

J. H. Brumfitt

Professor of French, University of St. Andrews

Philosophers in Perspective series

Edited by D. A. Wozzley

This book traces the development of the French Enlightenment in eighteenth century France. It combines a general survey of philosophical and political thought with a detailed analysis of certain key thinkers and an explanation of their social background. Professor Brumfitt pursues his enquiry on new lines and provides a lucid introduction to a complex subject.

about £1.80p

The Theory of Knowledge

D. W. Hamlyn

Professor of Philosophy at Birkbeck College, University of London

Modern Introductions to Philosophy series

Edited by Professor D. J. O'Conner

Professor Hamlyn provides a clear study of the central issues for the theory of knowledge and how they should be faced. He considers the notions of meaning and meaningfulness, belief and truth and their connection with knowledge. The scope of knowledge is reviewed in the sphere of perception, memory of ourselves and others, and the possibility of a priori knowledge. The book offers a useful introduction to the subject and is a contribution in its own right to this branch of philosophy.

£2.95p £1.50p

Macmillan

Knowing and the Function of Reason

Richard I. Aaron

This book begins with a study of the contemporary Three Condition Theory of Knowledge, and discusses an all too often ignored problem: the relation between being sure and absolute infallible knowing. Rational intuitionism with its unflinching assurance is rejected; but primal certain knowledge is a fact of experience, exemplified in our knowledge of the external world, of our-selves and of other persons. Reason differs from knowledge and from thinking. It is not intuition of the a priori; its function is to bring the constraint of knowledge to bear upon the spontaneity of thought. £3.50

Doing and Deserving

Essays in the Theory of Responsibility

Joel Feinberg

Can voluntary actions be caused? What does it mean to say that a given harm is someone's fault? Can liability be vicarious? In what ways can a group be held collectively responsible when some or all of its members are at fault? How does moral responsibility differ from legal liability? These and other questions are discussed by a philosopher who has been called 'one of the few most distinguished contemporary writers on problems of legal and moral responsibility'. £4.75 Princeton University Press

The Unitarian Conscience

Harvard Moral Philosophy 1805-1861

Daniel Walker Howe

Here is the first comprehensive study of the philosophy and leadership of the Boston Unitarians between 1805 and 1861. Both the theoretical assumptions and the practical consequences of moral philosophy as it was developed at Harvard are considered. £7.25 Harvard University Press

Oxford University Press

METAPHOR: AN ANNOTATED BIBLIOGRAPHY AND HISTORY

by WARREN A. SHIBLES

This is the only extensive bibliography on metaphor. Every major article, book, dissertation, etc. in every major language and field of study has been included and annotated so as to give its main ideas on metaphor. These ideas are indexed in detail in a 100 page index.

May, 1971. Hardcover $12.50 440 pages
LC 72-15707 SBN 0-912386-00-2

(Payment must accompany order except for libraries and other institutions)

THE LANGUAGE PRESS, Box 342 Whitewater, Wisconsin 53190, U.S.A.

MODELS OF ANCIENT GREEK HISTORY

by WARREN A. SHIBLES

An interpretation of Greek philosophy is given based upon the notion that each philosophy is founded on one or several metaphors which are then expanded to give insight.

Feb., 1971. Hardcover $5.75 (48s.) 155 pages. SBN 85478-152-8

VISION PRESS, 157 Knightsbridge, London, S.W.1, England.

AN ANALYSIS OF METAPHOR

by WARREN A. SHIBLES

(Series: De proprietatibus Litterarum, edenda curat C. H. Van Schooneveld)

Contrast between W. M. Urban's Theory of Metaphor and the Substitution Theory of Metaphor, what "literal" means, how reality is constituted by language, and how metaphor may be used in philosophical reasoning. Analyzes the theories of metaphor of Aristotle, Max Müller, I. A. Richards, Northrop Frye, Max Black.

May, 1971, paperback about $4.25 164 pages

MOUTON, Box 1132, The Hague, The Netherlands

WITTGENSTEIN LANGUAGE & PHILOSOPHY

by WARREN A. SHIBLES

Contents: Wittgenstein's originality, poetry and philosophy, a philosophical commentary on "Alice's Adventures in Wonderland", memory and remembering, intention, Zen and Wittgenstein.

"I read the Alice and Zen papers and was delighted. It is heartening to meet someone who actually works with their ideas".—O. K. Bouwsma, University of Texas.

LC 76-76990 paperback $3.25 1970

KENDALL/HUNT PUBLISHING COMPANY, 131 South Locust Street, Dubuque, Iowa 52001, U.S.A.

PHILOSOPHICAL PICTURES

by WARREN A. SHIBLES

"Professor Shibles shows an extensive acquaintance with current philosophy. . . . Promising comments are passed on topics such as free will, history and time (or timelessness); one guesses that Shibles is a lively philosophical conversationalist".—Gerald E. Myers, Queen's College, CUNY.

Philosophy and Rhetoric, 1970.

LC 76-76991 1969 paperback $3.25

KENDALL/HUNT PUBLISHING COMPANY, 131 South Locust Street, Dubuque, Iowa 52001, U.S.A.

Mauthner's Critique of Language

GERSHON WEILER

Fritz Mauthner (1849-1923) attempted to develop a comprehensive critique of language which was to resolve a whole range of persistent and controversial philosophical problems. In this thorough and authoritative study the author places Mauthner's ideas in their historical perspective and urges that their originality should be recognized and their interest reconsidered. £5.00 net

Explanation and Meaning

An Introduction to Philosophy

DANIEL TAYLOR

... intended as a general introduction to philosophy . . . The beginner in philosophy or students in other fields wishing to know something about philosophy, can hardly fail to profit from this book'.

The Times Literary Supplement.

Cloth £1.75 net

Paperback 75p net

Philosophy and the Meaning of Life

KARL BRITTON

'Professor Karl Britton . . . has made a bold attempt in this new book to treat the problem of the meaning of life as valid and important, to set it out systematically and at best to adumbrate an answer. The result is a book of unusual interest and charm that will appeal to the general reader as well as to the student of philosophy'. Maurice Cranston in The Sunday Times. Cloth £2.40 net
Paperback 60p net

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

MIND

A Quarterly Review of Psychology and Philosophy

Edited by: Professor GILBERT RYLE

JULY, 1971

- I Knowledge and its Social Setting:
W. H. WALSH
- II Cartesian Dualism and the Unity of a Mind:
CHIN-TAI KIM
- III Conforming to Custom:
D. W. CRAWFORD
- IV Morality and its Analogues:
T. C. MAYBERRY
- V Practical Necessity and Truth:
J. WILLIAMSON
- VI Discussion Notes:
Psychoanalysis and the Explanation of Behaviour: P. ALEXANDER
Ryle, Hillman and Harrison on Categories: A. D. CARSTAIRS
P. D. Shaw on Particularity-Assumptions:
L. STEVENSON
Objective and Subjective Duty: L. PEARL
Conditionals: B. S. GOWER
Neil Cooper's Concepts of Morality:
P. SINGER
A Note on Particularity-Assumptions:
J. O'CONNOR
Professor Hart on Action and Property:
P. HELM
Putnam and Logical Behaviourism:
D. R. FINN
A Note on Sense-Data and Depth Perception: R. C. MEYERS
Austin's Usage of 'Intentional': H. G.
PETRIE
Malcolm on Mind and the Human Form
Again: E. W. EVANS
Reminding and Factual Memory: W.
JOHNSTON
Strawson on the Concept of a Person:
N. BURSTEIN
- VII Critical Notices:
J. N. Findlay, The Transcendence of the Cave,: G. P. HENDERSON
Edmund Husserl, Logical Investigations,
trans. J. N. Findlay,: E. PIVČEVIĆ
- VIII New Books
- IX Notes

Published for the MIND ASSOCIATION by BASIL BLACKWELL,

49 Broad Street, Oxford

Single copy 40p net

Annual Subscription £1.25 net

The first three titles from the 'Problems of Philosophy' series

General Editor: D. J. O'Connor

Body and Mind

Keith Campbell

Senior Lecturer in Philosophy, University of Sydney

This book is a comprehensive exposition of current trends in the study of the philosophy of mind. It explains the problems of the relations between mind and body and the chief contemporary solutions to these problems. Mr. Campbell argues that, despite features which make it unattractive to many philosophers, the new Epiphenomenalism represents the most satisfactory solution of the Body-Mind relationship.

Memory

Don Locke

Lecturer in Philosophy, University of Warwick

A clear and up-to-date survey of the main problems and suggested solutions arising in the study of memory. The question of what memory is and how it is related to the past, and the question of the reliability of memory as a source or form of knowledge are among the issues discussed. Traditional theories are appraised, and close attention is given to contemporary discussion and controversy.

Truth

Alan R. White

Ferens Professor of Philosophy, University of Hull

Professor White examines the notion of truth and the various philosophical theories about it. He investigates the validity of 'truth' and 'falsity' in philosophical enquiry, and analyses three traditional and three recent theories of truth. A bibliography of over 300 items is included.

All £1.95p

Macmillan