

RER-LX: A new scale to measure reduced emotional resonance in bilinguals' later learnt language – ERRATUM

---

Wilhelmiina Toivo, Christoph Scheepers and Jean-Marc DeWaele

---

Erratum

Cite this article: Toivo, W., Scheepers, C., & DeWaele, J-M (2024). RER-LX: A new scale to measure reduced emotional resonance in bilinguals' later learnt language – ERRATUM. Bilingualism: Language and Cognition, 27, 214. <https://doi.org/10.1017/S1366728923000792>

First published online: 30 November 2023

Published online by Cambridge University Press: 09 October 2023 DOI: <https://doi.org/10.1017/S1366728923000561>

In RER-LX: A new scale to measure reduced emotional resonance in bilinguals' later learnt language, an error has been included in the published version of the article. The online version of the article has been corrected. The correction is detailed below.

The authors name had been written wrongly as DeWaele, instead of Dewaele

Author Jean-Marc Dewaele name has been updated to the correct spelling on the published article.

The publisher apologizes for these errors.

Reference

Toivo, W., Scheepers, C., & DeWaele, J. (2023). RER-LX: A new scale to measure reduced emotional resonance in bilinguals' later learnt language. Bilingualism: Language and Cognition, 1-13. doi:10.1017/S1366728923000561