St Anselm

A Portrait in a Landscape

Sir RICHARD SOUTHERN

'... a masterwork of scholarship and stylistically very seductive. I need not presume to commend Sir Richard's admirable book to scholars, since they will seize it without commendation, but it remains for me to urge laymen to see in Anselm's achievements things relevant to our own bewildered epoch.'

Essential reading from Cambridge

The Historical Journal

The Historical Journal publishes papers on all aspects of British, European and world history since the fifteenth century. The range of contributors is truly international in scope (in the current year, there will be contributions from scholars in 14 countries). Each issue contains between eight and twelve major articles, shorter communications and – a more recent innovation – historiographical essays surveying trends in particular fields, and review articles giving detailed consideration to a recent book or group of books, plus reviews of recent publications.

Continuity and Change

A journal of social structure, law and demography in past societies

This journal aims to define a field of historical sociology concerned with long-term continuities and discontinuities in the structures of past societies. Emphasis is upon studies whose agenda or methodology combines elements from traditional fields such as history, sociology, law, demography, economics or anthropology, or ranges freely between them.

Radical History Review

Now published by Cambridge University Press, Radical History Review presents innovative scholarship and commentary that looks critically at the past and its historians from a non-sectarian perspective drawn from the political left. It scrutinizes conventional history and seeks to broaden and advance the discussion of crucial issues such as the role of race, class and gender in history.
