The Konso of Ethiopia

A Study of the Values of a Cushitic People

C. R. HALLPIKE

The principal aim of this book is to show how we can make sense of a society by treating it as a rule system, as a kind of game; and to this end Konso values are given particular emphasis, as are the cosmological principles of God, Earth, and the Wild. In the course of the analysis, however, the concepts of structure and function are discarded as both too metaphysical and too mechanistic. 16 plates 13 figures 8 maps £5

The Common Law in the Sudan

An Account of the 'Justice, Equity, and Good Conscience' Provision

Z. MUSTAFA

This is the first comprehensive and analytical survey of the substantive civil law now applied by the Sudan courts. By reference to published and unpublished documents, and to many unreported cases, the background of English law is examined; and the salient features of the Sudan law, with its peculiarities and anomalies, are defined. £3.50

India and East Africa

A History of Race Relations within the British Empire 1890–1939

ROBERT G. GREGORY

India's relationship with East Africa from 1890 to 1939 is essentially a study of race relations within the British Empire. East Africa became a test case not only for Britain's success in building a harmonious Empire-Commonwealth, but also for India's aspiration to settle its surplus population in peaceful communities overseas. The result was a disappointment to both Britain and India. 4 maps £7

Heroic Poetry of the Basotho

DANIEL P. KUNENE

The main features in this poetry are the eulogie and the narrative. These are described in detail; and paragraphs are then defined quantitatively, largely in terms of units which may be described as eulogie-narrative sequences. £3.75

He traces the development of kingship institutions and other aspects of government, relating these to the social organizations such as the clans. 5 text-figures £4.50
