Strange Multiplicity: Constitutionalism in an Age of Diversity

James Tully

"James Tully's questioning of 'our' received view of constitutionalism is long overdue, and the alternatives and corrections he suggests to simple, unified sovereignty notions are worth very serious consideration indeed...."

This is an important book, both in what it criticizes and in what it proposes. It will stimulate, I am sure, a very useful discussion about a very pressing issue."

Fifty Years of the International Court of Justice

Essays in Honour of Sir Robert Jennings

Vaughan Lowe and

Malgosia Fitzmaurice, Editors

This comprehensive text offers a critical review of the work of the International Court of Justice, and its relations with the political organs of the United Nations, during the past fifty years. It draws together the reflections of the most eminent international judges, practitioners and academics in the field of public international law, on the way that the Court has handled the matters put before it.

Contributors: Georges Abi-Saab, Philip Allott, Geoffrey Marston, Maurice Mendelson, Judge M. Shahabuddeen, Sir Ian Sinclair, Prosper Weil, E.W. Vierdag, Francesco Francioni, D.W. Bowett, C.F. Amerasinghe, Hazel Fox, Harry Post, Barbara Kwiatkowska, Malgosia Fitzmaurice, Sami Shubber, Judge Stephen M. Schwebel, Antonio Casese, John Collier, Christopher Greenwood, H.W.A. Thirlway, Shabtai Rosenne, Sir Arthur Watts, Gaetano Arangio-Ruiz, E. ## Fair Division

From Cake Cutting to Dispute Resolution

Steven J. Brams and Alan D. Taylor

"In this remarkable book, Brams and Taylor bring to the attention of the social scientists a literature thus far confined to puzzle-solving and other mathematical magazines.... Brams and Taylor's original fair division procedures are of interest to all researchers."

—Hervé Moulin, Duke University

Unlike most research on fairness in the social sciences and mathematics, this text is devoted solely to the analysis of constructive procedures for actually dividing things up and resolving disputes, even indivisible items such as the marital property in a divorce or sovereignty in an international dispute.

International Law Reports

E. Lauterpacht and C.J. Greenwood, Editors

Decisions of international courts and arbitrators, as well as judgments of national courts, are fundamental elements of modern public international law. The International Law Reports is the only publication in the world wholly devoted to the regular and systematic reporting in English of such decisions. Volume 100 and Volume 101 are the latest of these essential works of reference.

The Control and Monitoring of Iraqi Weaponry of Mass Destruction

Marc Weller, Editor

Philip Hatfield, Assistant Editor

After the Gulf War, unprecedented calls for the destruction and monitoring of its chemical, biological, nuclear and other convention weapons facilities were leveled against Iraq. Implementation by the UN and International Atomic Energy Agency proved difficult. In 1994 a monitoring program was agreed to. The texts of Iraq's commitments to nuclear nonproliferation, materials on the work of UN Special Commission for disarming and monitoring Iraq, and International Atomic Agency documents (otherwise largely inaccessible) are reproduced, with a helpful introduction.

The Haiti Crisis in International Law

Marc Weller, Editor

Ana MacLean, Assistant Editor

The Haiti episode represents the first and only instance of a UN-mandated military operation to restore democracy, against the wishes of an effective government in the target state. This volume documents the crisis from the initial coup, the immediate responses of the UN, the Organization of American States (OAS), Human Rights bodies and states involved in the crisis. The materials are placed in context by editorial notes and an introduction.

SANCTITY OF CONTRACTS

REVISITED: A Study in the Theory and Practice of Long-Term International Commercial Transactions
by Nagla Nassar

This work contributes to the theory and practice of long-term international commercial transactions ('LTICTs'). It explores the conceptual basis of these contracts, and analyzes international arbitral practice involving LTICTs in pursuit of defining the nature and content of such transactions.

1995, 336 pages, Cloth,
ISBN 0-7923-3079-X, $118.50

THE WORLD BANK IN A CHANGING WORLD, Selected Essays and Lectures, Volume II

edited by Ibrahim F.I. Shibata

The World Bank in a Changing World, Volume II, covers the various activities and roles performed by the World Bank and its affiliated agencies. It describes in detail how this group of institutions has emerged as a primary source of international public policy far beyond what was originally envisaged by the drafters of their Articles of Agreement.

1995, Cloth, 836 pages, ISBN 90-411-0115-2, $274.00

CONSTITUTIONAL JUSTICE UNDER OLD CONSTITUTIONS

edited by Eivind Smith

Constitutional Justice Under Old Constitutions confronts different national experiences within the framework of questions arising from the application of old constitutional texts within one system or another of judicial review. The countries covered are the United States, Norway, Belgium and France; all countries having an old constitution.

$134.00

INTERNATIONAL INSTITUTIONAL LAW: Unity within diversity

Third revised edition

by Henry G. Schermers, Niels M. Blokker

This third, revised edition of International Institutional Law covers the most recent developments in the field. Although public international organizations such as the United Nations, the International Monetary Fund, the World Trade Organization, the European Bank for Reconstruction and Development and the European Union have broadly diverging objectives, powers, fields of activity and numbers of member states, they share a wide variety of institutional problems.

1995, 1348 pages, Cloth,
ISBN 90-411-0108-X, $337.50

INTERNATIONAL FORUM SELECTION

by William W. Park

This book compares arbitration agreements with forum selection clauses that designate courts, and contrasts their relative costs and benefits. It focuses on how international lawyers can enhance the reliability of their jurisdiction selection clauses and the enforcement of the resulting awards and judgments. It also includes analysis of national statutes, international treaties, court decisions and choice-of-law questions related to forum selection.

ISSUES IN GLOBAL GOVERNANCE

Papers written for the Commission on Global Governance

edited by Commission on Global Governance

Issues on Global Governance contains the Expert Papers of the Commission on Global Governance. The Commission is concerned primarily with furthering global cooperation (i.e. coordinated multilateral action) to 'meet the challenge of securing peace, achieving sustainable development and universalizing democracy'. The Expert Papers have been written especially for the Commission's Working Groups (One: Global Values; Two: Security; Three: Development; Four: Governance) by authorities in the field (viz. Abi-Saab, Galtung, Haas).

GROSS HUMAN RIGHTS

VIOLATIONS: A Search for Causes

A Study of Guatemala and Costa Rica
by Hilde Hey

This work compares the human rights situation in a country where gross human rights violations are the rule (Guatemala) with the situation in a country where this type of violations does not occur (Costa Rica). It focuses on the short-term factors within the political system which are perceived as a threat by those in power and which trigger gross human rights violations. Long-term sources or background factors which set the stage and allow gross human rights violations to be perpetrated are also analyzed.

MASS EXPULSION IN MODERN INTERNATIONAL LAW AND PRACTICE

by Jean-Marie Henckaerts

Mass Expulsion in Modern International Law and Practice is the first exhaustive study of the current problems of mass expulsion. Throughout the book, the author searches for the distinctive features of this practice and constantly juxtaposes international law and practice. Discussion about the international legal standards is illustrated by examples of recent cases of mass expulsion. The book concludes with a catalogue of black letter law on mass expulsion.

The New Sovereignty

Compliance with International Regulatory Agreements

ABRAM CHAYES AND ANTONIA HANDLER CHAYES

In an increasingly interdependent world, states resort to an array of regulatory agreements to deal with problems as disparate as nuclear proliferation, international trade, species destruction, and intellectual property, while threatening military or economic sanctions in order to deter noncompliance. This invaluable book argues that this approach is misconceived, and proposes a "managerial" model of treaty compliance. Sovereignty requires membership in good standing in the organizations through which the world manages its common affairs. This requirement turns out to be the major pressure for compliance with treaty obligations.

Trading Up

Consumer and Environmental Regulation
in a Global Economy

DAVID VOGEL

In this pioneering work, David Vogel explicitly challenges the conventional wisdom that trade liberalization and agreements to promote free trade invariably undermine national health, safety, and environmental standards. He analyzes the regulatory dimensions of all major international and regional trade agreements and treaties, and unravels the increasingly important and contentious relationship between trade and environmental, health, and safety standards. Trading Up is essential reading for the business community, policymakers, environmentalists, consumer interest groups, political scientists, lawyers, and economists.
