ECCLESIASTICAL HISTORY SOCIETY

The aim of the society is to foster the study of ecclesiastical history viewed in a wide historical context and broad inter-disciplinary relationship, and without regard to denominational differences or divisions. Regular meetings and conferences are held, and membership is open to scholars of all nationalities by election upon nomination.

Studies in Church History is an annually published series comprising papers and communications delivered at the society's conferences, and each volume presents important new work, by established as well as by younger scholars, upon a particular theme. Volumes are available to members of the society at a special discount: orders should be placed with the Editor.

STUDIES IN CHURCH HISTORY

10. Sanctity and Secularity

224 pages (1973)

'... perhaps the best of the series. Impeccably edited, containing much of contemporary relevance as well as historical interest, these papers deserve the widest possible audience.' (GRAHAM HOWES, The Modern Churchman)

'... a tightly-packed book, full of facts and ideas, about problems in all periods from the New Testament and the age of the Fathers down to our own time... the whole book [has] a unity even while it respects the variety of milieux and of periods studied and of the writers themselves... well-informed, objective and full of balanced judgements.' (JEAN LECLERCQ, The Heythrop Journal)

'All the essays maintain a high standard of learned lucidity. It is an excellent volume.' (R. L. ROBERTS, Church Times)

'The papers make a fascinating kaleidoscopic pattern of religious concern that provides valuable data for any student of comparative spirituality in terms of Western Christendom.' (G. J. C. MARCHANT, The Churchman)

'Such volumes of essays are notorious for unevenness. This is the first such volume I have ever read, in which I have learnt something of value from every essay in the book.'

(OWEN CHADWICK, Journal of Ecclesiastical History)
