ARROWS OF THE NIGHT

Ahmad Chalabi's Long Journey to Triumph in Iraq
by Richard Bonin

Drawing on unparalleled access to Ahmad Chalabi, whose wealthy Shiite family left Iraq after the revolution that ultimately put Saddam Hussein in power, Richard Bonin traces the exile's ingenious efforts to stoke a desire for Iraqi regime change in the U.S., leading to perhaps the biggest foreign policy disaster in our history and a triumphant end to Chalabi's forty-five-year quest.

EISENHOWER

The White House Years
by Jim Newton

Jim Newton uses rare interviews with John Eisenhower, along with access to newly declassified documents, to shed light on the presidency of Dwight D. Eisenhower.

"A truly great book, spirited, balanced, and not just the story of President Eisenhower but of an era." —Bob Woodward

"Jim Newton's brilliant reassessment of Eisenhower's presidency is long overdue. . . . [Eisenhower's] insistence on always doing the right thing for the country despite party pressure and personal predilection serves as a valuable model for politicians in all three branches of government." —William S. Sessions

FREE RIDE

How Digital Parasites are Destroying the Culture Business, and How the Culture Business Can Fight Back
by Robert Levine

Robert Levine narrates an epic tale of value destruction, charting the media industry's loss of control over its destiny and suggesting innovative ways it can resist the pull of zero.

"Brilliant. . . . A crash course in the existential problems facing the [media]." —Richard Morrison, The Times

"[A] brilliantly written book that exposes the dark side of the Internet. A must read for anyone interested in the horrific undermining of our intellectual culture." —Edward Jay Epstein, author of The Big Picture: Money and Power in Hollywood

MAKING OUR DEMOCRACY WORK

A Judge's View
by Stephen Breyer

A tour de force of history and philosophy, offering an original approach to interpreting the Constitution.

"A calm, reasoned book about how the Supreme Court should do its work and how, in history, it has sometimes failed the challenge. . . . A remarkable contribution to educating the public about our constitutional system." —The New York Review of Books

"A full account of [Breyer's] judicial philosophy, one that allows the federal government wide latitude in addressing society's problems." —Jeffrey Toobin, The New Yorker

THERE IS POWER IN A UNION

The Epic Story of Labor in America
by Philip Dray

Award-winning historian Philip Dray's narrative history of American labor from the dawn of the industrial age to the present day.

"From the Lowell Mills of antebellum America to the global assembly lines of our own day, Philip Dray offers a panoramic narrative of the work and struggle, the triumph and tragedy, that has been the fate of trade unionism in the United States." —Nelson Lichtenstein, Director of the Center for the Study of Work, Labor, and Democracy at the University of California, Santa Barbara

THE WARMTH OF OTHER SUNS

The Epic Story of America's Great Migration
by Isabel Wilkerson

WINNER OF THE NATIONAL BOOK CRITICS CIRCLE AWARD

With stunning historical detail, Isabel Wilkerson tells the story—through the lives of three unique individuals—of the decades-long migration to the North of America's Southern-black citizens.

"Isabel Wilkerson's The Warmth of Other Suns is an American masterpiece, a stupendous literary success that channels the social sciences as iconic biography in order to tell a vast story of a people's reinvention of itself and of a nation—the first complete history of the Great Black Migration from start to finish." —David Levering Lewis, Pulitzer Prize Winner and Professor of History at New York University

POLITICAL EVIL

What It Is and How to Combat It
by Alan Wolfe

"In this impassioned and thought-provoking journey through the varied landscape of political evil, Alan Wolfe draws subtle and often heartbreaking distinctions examining what can—and cannot—be done to combat the most vile organized horrors that human beings have always inflicted upon one another. This is a necessary but disturbing book, because it is all about the heart of darkness that is so much more comfortable to ignore—and our own limitations even when we try to do the right thing." —Susan Jacoby, author of The Age of American Unreason

Knopf | Cloth | 352 pages | $27.95

A JOURNEY

My Political Life
by Tony Blair

"Engaging and insightful. . . . Blair's discussion of British domestic politics and policy is detailed and nuanced and reveal him to be part shrewd politico with superb emotional intelligence and part policy wonk. . . . A better than usual contribution to the literary genre of political memoir." —The Boston Globe

"Well-written and perhaps unintentionally self-revealing. . . . Blair reveals himself through his thrusting political ambition, his rationales for decisions, his preoccupation with public image and his determination to play a prominent role on the world stage." —The Washington Post Book World

The Darwin Economy

Liberty, Competition, and the Common Good

Robert H. Frank

“I’ve been reading Robert Frank’s books for years, and he just gets better and better. I strongly recommend The Darwin Economy: it’s clear, persuasive, and cleverly entertaining, and it provides a new and original insight about a central issue in economics. Read and enjoy.”
—Thomas C. Schelling, Nobel Laureate in Economics

The Concise Princeton Encyclopedia of American Political History

Edited by Michael Kazin

Rebecca Edwards & Adam Rothman, associate editors

Abridged from the acclaimed Princeton Encyclopedia of American Political History, this is the only single-volume encyclopedia that provides comprehensive coverage of both the traditional topics of U.S. political history and the broader forces that shape American politics—including economics, religion, social movements, race, class, and gender.

The Spirit of Cities

Why the Identity of a City Matters in a Global Age

Daniel A. Bell & Avner de-Shalit

“The Spirit of Cities presents a new approach to the study of cities in which the focus is placed on a city’s defining ethos or values. The style of the book is attractively conversational and even autobiographical, and far from current social science positivism. For a lover of cities—and perhaps even for one who is not—The Spirit of Cities is consistently good reading.”

Still a House Divided

Race and Politics in Obama’s America

Desmond S. King & Rogers M. Smith

“Still a House Divided deftly lays to rest the idea of postracialism in American politics and, through the concept of rival racial-policy coalitions, reveals the modern potency of the dispute between color-blind and race-conscious camps. King and Smith make a compelling case that competing visions over the role of race continue to define the core of American political life, and their bold and meticulously researched book offers new and much-needed leverage on a frustratingly durable problem.”

The Constrained Court

Law, Politics, and the Decisions Justices Make

Michael A. Bailey & Forrest Maltzman

“This is one of a small number of the finest books I have read on judicial politics. It uses cutting-edge methods and smart arguments to bring an impressive and sophisticated perspective on political behavior to the study of the Supreme Court. Debunking the most extreme views of political scientists, it will attract a lot of attention.”

Oversight

Representing the Interests of Blacks and Latinos in Congress

Michael D. Minta

“This is the first study of racial representation in Congress to systematically examine committee behavior and oversight. This excellent book demonstrates the importance of descriptive representation by explaining how black and Latino legislators represent racial interests beyond simple roll-call voting and outside the borders of their districts through ‘strategic group uplift.’”

The Priority of Democracy

Political Consequences of Pragmatism
Jack Knight & James Johnson

“This is a very important book that has the potential to become a classic. Highly ambitious, it provides a compelling, realistic, and genuinely original way of thinking about democracy. Even if democracy cannot transform interests or produce harmony, Knight and Johnson argue, it has crucial pragmatic benefits that cannot be reproduced by any other forms of social organization, whether markets, courts, or bureaucracies.”

The Closed Commercial State

Perpetual Peace and Commercial Society from Rousseau to Fichte

Isaac Nakhimovsky

“Nakhimovsky has written an important book on the political economy of nineteenth-century Europe. The value of this lucid book is twofold: it introduces Fichte’s work and his theory of political economy to an English-speaking readership, and it also provides an overview of the multidimensional debates on the state, national, and international economies and their relation to the betterment of humanity that determined the course of German idealism.”

—John K. Noyes, University of Toronto

Attention Deficit Democracy

The Paradox of Civic Engagement
Ben Berger

“This book offers important correctives to the plethora of work on civic engagement produced by political theorists and political scientists over the past twenty years. Ben Berger argues that too much civic engagement—or engagement of the wrong sorts—can damage democracy as much as support it. This is a genuine work of public philosophy that offers insights and analytical tools for making contemporary democracies better.”

—Sharon Krause, Brown University

Pillars of Prosperity

The Political Economics of Development Clusters

Timothy Besley & Torsten Persson

“With an elegant and sophisticated series of models, this book illuminates the processes that cause prosperity and political order to develop together. Offering powerful insights into the divergent paths countries have taken, it is a major contribution to the fields of political economy and development economics.”

State of the Union

A Century of American Labor

Nelson Lichtenstein

With a new preface by the author

“A remarkable accomplishment. . . . Lichtenstein provides an authoritative account of labor’s decline, an agenda for its renewal, and an argument for the necessity of its revitalization if American democracy is to thrive in coming years. The result is a brilliant historical introduction. . . . If American labor’s fortunes do improve, no recent book will have made a greater contribution to its revival.”

Justice and the Politics of Difference

Iris Marion Young

With a new foreword by Danielle Allen

“This is an innovative work, an important contribution to feminist theory and political thought, and one of the most impressive statements of the relationship between postmodernist critiques of universalism and concrete thinking. . . . Iris Young makes the most convincing case I know of for the emancipatory implications of postmodernism.”

Guest Workers and Resistance to U.S. Corporate Despotism IMMANUEL NESS

Political scientist Immanuel Ness thoroughly investigates the use of guest workers in the United States, the largest recipient of migrant labor in the world. Ness argues that the use of migrant labor is increasing in importance and represents despotic practices calculated by key U.S. business leaders in the global economy to lower labor costs and expand profits under the guise of filling a shortage of labor for substandard or scarce skilled jobs.

Presidential Campaigns and Presidential Accountability MICHELE P. CLAIBOURN

Investigates the presidential campaigns and early administrations of Barack Obama, George W. Bush, and Bill Clinton to demonstrate how campaign promises are realized in government once the victor is established in the Oval Office.

To measure correlations between presidential campaigns and policy-making, Michele P. Claibourn closely examines detailed campaign advertising information, survey data about citizen's responses to campaigns, processes that create expectations among constituents, and media attention and response to candidates.

NATIONALISM IN EUROPE AND AMERICA

Politics, Cultures, and Identities since 1775

LLOYD KRAMER

“Kramer has written an excellent account of the rise and development of modern nationalism. Unlike many historical treatments on the subject, which focus either on a bewildering array of examples or single culture studies, Kramer’s book is a brilliant comparative analysis centering on Europe and the United States.”

—Martin A. Miller, Duke University

272 pages $65.00 cloth / $24.95 paper

CHASING PHANTOMS

Reality, Imagination, and Homeland Security Since 9/11

MICHAEL BARKUN

“Barkun lays out the historical and social contexts for understanding the post-9/11 climate of fear in the United States, putting controversial issues of contemporary public discussion into a historically rich and theoretically sound framework. His scholarship is impeccable.”

—Mark Juergensmeyer, author of Terror in the Mind of God

224 pages $32.00

ARMED WITH ABUNDANCE

Consumerism and Soldiering in the Vietnam War

MEREDITH H. LAIR

“We are entering a new era of Vietnam War scholarship, and Lair’s book will be one that leads the way. With crisp prose and her hands on seemingly every relevant source, she tells the neglected (but fully American) story of a militaristic society’s war machine in full bloom.”

—Michael S. Foley, author of Confronting the War Machine

320 pages $34.95

IMAGINING THE MIDDLE EAST

The Building of an American Foreign Policy, 1918-1967

MATTHEW F. JACOBS

“Jacobs takes a novel, compelling approach to the broad American experience in the Middle East during the formative years of U.S. national involvement there. This book makes a major contribution to the growing literature on the history of U.S. official and non-official interaction with the Middle East in the middle twentieth century.”

—Peter Hahn, The Ohio State University

336 pages $39.95

THE ROOTS OF MODERN CONSERVATISM

Dewey, Taft, and the Battle for the Soul of the Republican Party

MICHAEL BOWEN

“A timely reminder that rifts within political parties are not only about competing policy agendas but also about fights between career politicians and their organizations. The book helps explain why the Republicans took so long to rebound from the collapse of the Hoover presidency and what the long-term consequences for American conservatism were of that long period in the political wilderness.”

—David Stebenne, Ohio State University

POSTDOCTORAL FELLOWSHIPS IN CONTEMPORARY ASIA-PACIFIC STUDIES

The Walter H. Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center in the Freeman Spogli Institute for International Studies is pleased to announce its 2012–2013 Walter H. Shorenstein Fellowships. Made possible through the generosity of Walter H. Shorenstein, awards will be made to two junior scholars (recent PhDs must have degree conferral by August 31, 2012) for research and writing on Asia.

The primary focus of the program is contemporary political, economic, or social change in the Asia-Pacific region (including Northeast, Southeast, and South Asia), or topics in international relations and international political economy. Fellows must be in residence for at least three academic quarters, beginning the fall quarter of the 2012 academic year. They take part in center activities throughout the academic year, and are required to present their research findings in center seminars. Fellows also participate in the center’s publication program. The fellowship includes a stipend of $45,000, plus $3,000 for research materials.

Applicants should submit: (1) a brief research statement (not to exceed five typed pages), which describes the research and writing to be undertaken during the fellowship period as well as the proposed publishable product; (2) curriculum vitae; and (3) three letters of recommendation.

DEADLINE FOR RECEIPT OF ALL MATERIALS IS DECEMBER 31, 2011.

Submit all materials and queries to: Victoria Kwong, Fellowship Coordinator
Email: vkkwong@stanford.edu / Mail: Encina Hall E301, Stanford, CA 94305-6055

Supporting Political Science Award Endowments

APSA supports exceptional scholarship in the discipline by honoring those whose work stands above the rest. The association's awards are made possible by the generous contributions of members and friends. Join your colleagues in strengthening the endowments that support them so that APSA can continue to make possible award amounts that convey the prestige associated with them.

Endowments for the following awards are in need of additional funds to reach the $25,000 minimum currently required of all endowments. Please consider supporting the discipline by donating to one of these funds. Gifts are accepted as one-time donations or as pledges to be fulfilled over time.

Gabriel A. Almond Prize

The Gabriel A. Almond prize honors the best dissertation in comparative politics. The award was created in recognition of former APSA president Gabriel Almond's contributions to the discipline, profession, and association. Almond's scholarly work contributed directly to the development of theory in comparative politics and brought together work on the developing areas and Western Europe that prevented splintering into an array of disparate areas studies.

William Anderson Award

The William Anderson prize honors the best dissertation in federalism or intergovernmental relations, state, and local politics. The award was set up in recognition of former APSA president William Anderson, who was a leading American authority in the areas of local government, public administration, intergovernmental relations, and the history of political science. He did much to shape teaching and research in these fields not only at his own university, but throughout the country.

Carey McWilliams Award

The award was first awarded in 1982 by APSA to recognize major journalistic contributions to the understanding of politics. Established as a memorial to Cary McWilliams, a renowned political journalist, the award serves to recognize achievement by journalists, many of whom were trained as political scientists and are now members of APSA.

Charles E. Merriam Award

The Charles Merriam Award was established to recognize a person whose published work and career represent a significant contribution to the art of government through the application of social science research. Charles Merriam's career exemplified a combination of innovative political and social science scholarship and practical service to the community and nation. The department he chaired in the 1920s–1940s set the agenda of the political science profession in the post World War II decades. He was the key figure in the founding of the Social Science Research Council. His public service included membership in the Chicago City Council, and on President Roosevelt's National Resources Planning Board and the Committee on Administrative Management.

E. E. Schattschneider Award

The E. E. Schattschneider prize is awarded for the best doctoral dissertation completed and accepted during that year or the previous year in the field of American government. This award fund, established in 1971, was set up in honor of former APSA president Elmer Eric ("E. E.") Schattschneider, a widely published and respected political scientist.

eJobs: Your Online Resource for Political Science Careers and Candidates

APSA's eJobs is a year-round, online resource for political science employment opportunities and job candidates. It contains the most comprehensive online database of political science jobs, is updated daily with new job listings and candidate resumes, and is fully searchable by field of interest, name of employer/candidate, region, keyword, position, salary, type of institution, and most recent listings.

How Does eJobs Work?

Job Candidates

APSA members can access all open job listings and post their resume online to share with prospective employers by logging in to their MyAPSA account. The service is free exclusively for APSA members. Only APSA members can access the job listings or post their resumes to share with prospective employers. Nonmembers who are interested in the service are encouraged to join APSA.

Employers

Employers who are APSA Departmental Services Program (DSP) members may post an unlimited number of job listings to share with prospective candidates and may search the available resumes free of charge. Employers who are not DSP members may advertise positions for a fee. Non-member employers who have posted a job listing can also access the candidate resumes.

Member and non-member employers can access eJobs by logging in to www.apsanet.org with their DSP login. Non-member employers: for more information on the DSP, contact dsp@apsanet.org.

Printed Job Listings in the PS: Political Science and Politics Supplement

APSA prints eJobs job listings in a supplement to the APSA journal PS: Political Science & Politics. The supplement accompanies PS each quarter (January, April, July and October) and includes job listings, upcoming conferences, tables of contents of forthcoming APSA journals, and other news in the profession. The print listing is free of charge to employers who post job listings on eJobs.

Announcing STATA® 12

New features include:

- Structural equation modeling (SEM). Flexible extension of multivariate regression, seemingly unrelated regression (SUR), instrumental variables, and FIML and LIML estimation of simultaneous systems. Direct and indirect effects. Implemented for big datasets and big models. Maximum-likelihood estimation, GMM estimation, and maximum-likelihood estimation for data missing at random (MAR).
- Multiple imputation (MI). Chained equations. Imputation of continuous, ordinal, cardinal, and count variables. Imputation separately within group. Imputation and estimation for panel data and multilevel models. Linear and nonlinear predictions. Survey support.
- Multivariate GARCH. Autoregressive models of volatility. Conditional heteroskedasticity. Constant conditional correlations (CCC). Dynamic conditional correlations (DCC). Varying conditional correlations (VCC). Normal errors. Student's t errors. Prediction of levels or variances. Dynamic forecasts.
- Autoregressive fractionally integrated moving-average models (ARFIMA). Long-memory processes. Predictions. Dynamic forecasts.
- Unobserved components model (UCM). Trend, seasonal, and cyclical components. Prediction of components. Dynamic forecasts.
- Spectral density. Parametric estimates after ARIMA, ARFIMA, and UCM. Compare components. Compare frequencies. Graphs.
- Time-series filters. Decompose into trend and cycle. Christiano–Fitzgerald band-pass filter. Baxter–King band-pass filter. Hodrick–Prescott high-pass filter. Butterworth high-pass filter.
- Business calendars. Set up trading days, etc. User defined. Fully integrated. Conversion to and from regular calendars.
- Contrasts and pairwise comparisons. Compare means, intercepts, and slopes. Compare adjacent categories. Compare with reference category or grand mean. Orthogonal polynomials. Adjust for multiple comparisons. Treatment effects. Graph effects and potential outcomes.
- More multilevel/mixed models. Estimation with complex survey data.
- More data management. Excel® import and export. EBCDIC. ODBC connection strings. PDF export of results and graphs.
- More ROC analysis. Adjustments for covariates.
- More survey analysis. Bootstrap and successive difference replicate (SDR) weights.
- Installation Qualification. Report for submission to regulatory agencies.
- More support for multicore computers. More estimators. Up to 64 cores supported.
- Automatic memory management. Up to 1 terabyte of memory.
