International Law for Common Goods

Normative Perspectives on Human Rights, Culture and Nature

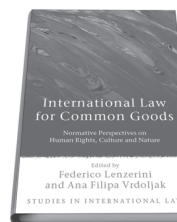

Edited by Federico Lenzerini and Ana Filipa Vrdoljak

International law has long been dominated by the State. But it has become apparent that this bias is unrealistic and untenable in the contemporary world where the rise of the notion of common goods challenges this dominance. These common goods - typically values (like human rights, rule of law, etc) or common domains (the environment, cultural heritage, space, etc) - speak to an emergent international community beyond the society of States and the attendant rights and obligations of non-State actors. This book details how three key areas of international law - human rights, culture and the environment - are pushing the boundaries in this field.

Federico Lenzerini, Università degli Studi di Siena.

Ana Filipa Vrdoljak, University of Technology, Sydney.

Law in Transition

Human Rights, Development and Transitional Justice

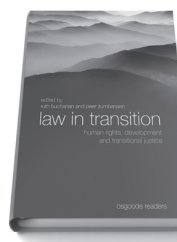

Edited by Ruth Buchanan and Peer Zumbansen

"A terrific volume." David Kennedy, Harvard Law School

This book includes essays by many of the leading experts writing at the intersection of development, rights and transitional justice studies. Notwithstanding the theoretical and practical challenges presented by the complex interaction of these fields, the premise of the book is that it is only through engagement and dialogue among hitherto distinct fields of scholarship and practice that a better understanding of the institutional and normative issues arising in contemporary law and development and transitional justice contexts will be possible.

Ruth Buchanan and Peer Zumbansen, Osgoode Hall Law School, Toronto.

Corruption and Human Rights Law in Africa

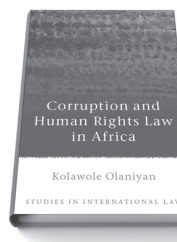

Kolawole Olaniyan

"This book demonstrates the author's mastery of complex jurisprudential and theoretical discourses. His review of the existing literature is extensive, the doctrinal analysis rigorous and the treatment of the subject innovative." Ndiva Kofe-Kale, University Distinguished Professor of Law, SMU Dedman School of Law, Dallas, USA.

This important new book provides a framework for complementarity between promoting and protecting human rights and combating corruption. The book takes up one of the pervasive problems of governance - large-scale corruption - to examine its impact on human rights and the degree to which a human rights approach to confronting corruption can buttress the traditional criminal law response. It examines three major aspects of human rights in practice - the importance of governing structures in the implementation and enjoyment of human rights, the relationship between corruption, poverty and underdevelopment, and the threat that systemic poverty poses to the entire human rights edifice. The book is a very significant contribution to the literature on good governance, human rights and the rule of law in Africa.

Kolawole Olaniyan, Legal Adviser, Amnesty International's International Secretariat, London.

The University of Iowa now offers several pathways for foreign-trained lawyers to study U.S. law.

- Our 2-Year JD for Foreign-Trained Lawyers allows for completion of the JD in as little as 2 years, and unlike an LLM degree, the JD is accepted for practice in all U.S. jurisdictions. Combined with a foreign law degree, the JD opens the door to global legal practice.
- The SJD Program (Doctor of Juridical Science) is designed for those seeking to do in-depth research on U.S. legal topics or in our areas of special expertise.
- Our long-standing one-year LLM Program (Master of Laws) provides an opportunity to engage in a shorter research project or to focus on the skills and courses required by the select U.S. jurisdictions that admit foreign-trained lawyers with a U.S. LLM to practice.

Geneva: study in the heart of Europe in a truly international environment

In addition to various international law courses at undergraduate and postgraduate level in French, the University of Geneva Law School offers in English several summer schools, a Certificate in Transnational Law (CTL) as well as two Masters in advanced studies (MAS) and one Executive Master in cooperation with the Geneva Graduate Institute of International and Development Studies. Students and professionals from around the world come to study in Geneva, the home of numerous international organizations, UN agencies, the ICRC and law firms active in international arbitration.

The CTL provides students with a chance to specialize, early in their career, in international legal affairs within one or two semesters (30 ECTS). Students can tailor their studies according to their particular interests, be it public or private international law.

The MAS in International Humanitarian Law and Human Rights and the Executive Master in International Law in Armed Conflict comprise in-depth courses on all areas of international law relating to armed conflicts.

The Geneva Master in International Dispute Settlement gives students the opportunity to study all aspects of dispute settlement in the international arena, across the divide of public and private.

Summer Schools are offered on International Law, Cultural Heritage Law, Intellectual Property, post-conflict justice and state building, and, jointly with Duke Law School, on transnational law.

The Center for International Legal Education (CILE) provides a global approach to legal education at the University of Pittsburgh School of Law. CILE features the following programs:

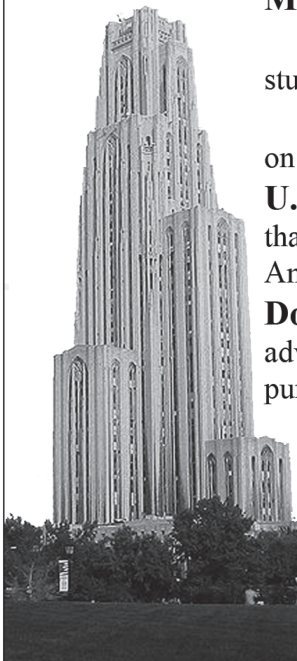

Master of Laws (LL.M.)

Residential LL.M. - Featuring a personalized course of study and potential internship placement following graduation

Online LL.M. - A two year part time curriculum focused on International Commercial Law

The USC Gould School of Law's LL.M. degree is more than a coveted credential. It's also an immersion into a network that is lifelong and worldwide.

For more than a decade, USC Gould's LL.M. program has welcomed international attorneys, judges, government officials, prosecutors, corporate legal counsel, bankers, and recent law graduates who seek a degree in American law and new leadership opportunities in the global market. Drawing on over 40 full-time faculty and more than 50 adjunct professors with legal expertise in a variety of areas, students can enroll in our residential or our online programs. They choose from a myriad of courses each semester and tailor their courses in a specialty area. But most important for our students is the end-to-end service we provide – including, orientation, academic support, bar preparation, networking and social activities – for each one of our nearly 200 students. We also maintain strong ties to an alumni network spanning 69 countries.

USC Gould's commitment to international legal education and scholarship also includes a Master of Comparative Law degree program, a Visiting International Program for Lawyers (VIP), a four-week Summer Law & English program, and a J.D.
