

Global Echoes

BJPsych International would like to encourage submissions from medical students, foundation doctors and psychiatry trainees. Those who are beginning their careers in mental health are often involved in high-quality projects or have diverse training and clinical backgrounds that would be stimulating for our readers to discover. They represent a valuable source of knowledge that can help all professionals to keep abreast of what is happening in the field around the world. We would like to receive submissions in the following areas, with a focus on international mental health work: brief literature reviews on mental health policy or services; reports of elective projects in psychiatry or other experiences of working or volunteering abroad; reflective or descriptive pieces about work undertaken or experiences or challenges encountered in working around the world, or in carrying out research in challenging contexts. Submissions should be between 500 and 1500 words and original pieces. Email ip@rcpsych.ac.uk. Submissions will undergo peer review. See the online BJPsych International guidelines on format and style (<https://www.cambridge.org/core/journals/bjpsych-international/information/instructions-contributors>).

International Perspectives on Psychiatry Under Restrictive Conditions

BJPsych International is seeking to survey across the world the practice of psychiatry in restrictive settings and conditions (prisons, jails, on parole, conditional release and community treatment under legal provision) as well as coercive practices in the management of people with a mental illness, beyond psychiatry. The journal, therefore, is inviting authors to submit papers on national or regional aspects of one or more of the above areas, highlighting current practice, relevant data (or lack of the same), training and service needs and areas for future research.

Call for Article Proposals

BJPsych Advances, RCPsych's peer-reviewed CPD journal for consultant psychiatrists, invites clinical experts to submit proposals for articles on current ideas, techniques and developments in psychiatry. Articles typically discuss comprehensive, practical approaches to clinical problems and explain the full range of therapeutic options, with useful features like MCQs, summary boxes, and associated commentaries.

Pressure of Evidence, 2016, alkyd on panel, by Will Lustenader, Courtesy of the Fred. Giampietro Gallery

Will Lustenader is a professional artist and adjunct professor of art history based at Sacred Heart University, Albertus Magnus College, and Gateway Community College. In his work, he puts emphasis on tension in and around planar colour fields whose arrangements present questions concerning territorial environments, both physical and imagined. As his pieces unfold, often with long periods of reflection between groups of work, he finds himself contemplating immersion and entrapment. Recently his impulsive, spontaneous rhythm of creation has led him to a preoccupation regarding balance and containment, and ultimately has freed him from the pressures of being fixed to a plan.
