

NATURE, CONTEMPLATION, AND THE ONE

A Study in the Philosophy of Plotinus

JOHN N. DECK

Plotinus has been so highly regarded as a mystic that his importance as a philosopher has sometimes been thrown into eclipse. In this fresh interpretation of the meaning and philosophic importance of Plotinus' major teachings, the author reappraises his thought from the standpoint of 'nature as contemplation,' a central doctrine in the Enneads. Students, philosophers and historians will welcome this lucid approach to a major figure in Western thought.

F. H. Bradley: THE PRESUPPOSITIONS OF CRITICAL HISTORY

This essay was Bradley's first published work and is an acknowledged classic in the philosophy of history. It was published in 1874, and re-issued in the Clarendon Press edition of Bradley's Collected Essays in 1935, now out of print. This paperback edition makes the essay available to all students of the philosophy of history.

This new edition is published with a critical introduction by Lionel Rubinoff, Assistant Professor in the Department of Philosophy York University, Toronto.

MIND: AN ESSAY ON HUMAN FEELING, VOLUME I

by SUSANNE K. LANGER

The present work which will ultimately include three volumes is the result of a lifetime's study of the philosophy of science and of art, and Professor Langer considers it her magnum opus. Extensive reading in biology, biochemistry, psychology, and other technical disciplines, as well as philosophy and aesthetics, have contributed to this book. $10.00

PHENOMENOLOGY AND EXISTENTIALISM

edited by EDWARD N. LEE and MAURICE MANDELBAUM

Essays are included on Brentano, Husserl, Heidegger, Sartre, and Merleau-Ponty, and the relationship is shown between the movements they represent and the dialectics of Hegel and Marx, Wittgenstein's method of linguistic analysis, psychology and psychoanalysis, and the "alienation of man". $8.00

THE PHILOSOPHY OF MERLEAU-PONTY

JOHN F. BANNAN

Written to promote familiarity with Merleau-Ponty's position among English-reading philosophers and students. Effort has been taken to present Merleau-Ponty in his own terms since, like every significant philosophical achievement, his work carries its own meaning with it.

273 pp. (paperback) $3.25

LOGIC: THE ART OF REASONING

DAVID HUGH FREEMAN

A text designed to introduce the beginning student to the art of reasoning. Traditional and modern approaches are combined. Little attention is paid to the philosophy of logic since this is best studied in primary sources.

The Modern Century

by

NORTHROP FRYE

This book contains the Whidden Lectures given at McMaster University this year by Professor Frye, in which he discusses 'the outlines of the pictures that the contemporary imagination has drawn of its world'. He presents a brilliant array of ideas and observations on the mythology of our day and its central elements, alienation and progress; the effects of technology on the structure of society; the characteristics we associate with 'modern'; anti-social attitudes in modern culture; the role of the arts in forming the contemporary imagination; and finally the way in which the creative arts are absorbed into society through education.
