

University, and as a visiting fellow at Goldsmith's College, University of London.

Deborah Gerner, visiting assistant professor of political science for 1985-86, Northwestern University (from Hamilton College, Clinton, NY).

Peter Haas, visiting assistant professor of political science, Yale University.

Chun-tu Hsueh, University of Maryland, was appointed visiting fellow at the Australian National University for early 1985, visiting professor of history at the University of Hong Kong for the Trinity Term, and research associate at the Center for Chinese Studies, University of California at Berkeley, for 1985-86.

Shanto Iyengar, visiting associate professor of political science, Yale University.

Robert Kaufman, visiting professor of political science, Yale University.

Carol Leach is a visiting instructor of political science at Southeast Missouri State University from Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

Ronald Libby, visiting associate professor of political science for 1985-86, Northwestern University (from the University of the West Indies).

Michael Nicholson, visiting professor of political science, Yale University; from University of Manchester.

Austin Ranney, visiting professor of political science, Yale University.

Maurice M. Roumani is visiting professor at George Washington University, Washington, D.C., for the years 1984-86. During last year he was also visiting fellow at the Center for International Development and Conflict Management at the University of Maryland in College Park.

Edward J. Sidlow, visiting assistant professor of political science for 1985-86, Northwestern University (from Miami University, Oxford, Ohio).

Jonathan Still, visiting lecturer in political science, Yale University.

Evert Vedung, associate professor of political science, Uppsala University, was appointed a visiting professor at the Graduate Institute of Peace Studies, Kyung Hee University, Seoul, during November and December 1985.

Mark E. Warren, visiting assistant professor of political science for 1985-86, Northwestern University (from University of Texas, San Antonio).

Jerzy Wiatr, professor of political science, University of Warsaw, spent fall semester 1985 as visiting professor of political science, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

Resignation

Norman J. Ornstein, department of politics, The Catholic University of America.

Retirements

Harold Guetzkow was appointed to emeritus status, Northwestern University, June 1985.

Frank M. Lewis, professor emeritus of political science, University of Toledo, retired in Spring 1985.

Award Recipients

APSA Annual Meeting Travel Grant Awards

The following foreign graduate students studying political science in the U.S. were awarded travel grants to attend the 1985 Annual Meeting of the APSA in New Orleans. The funds were provided by the Asia Foundation and the U.S. Information Agency (via the Institute for International Education).

Asia Foundation Grant Recipients

Asma Barlas, Pakistan; Denver University

Chan-Rai Cho, Korea; University of Cincinnati

Yogesh Grover, India; University of Missouri

People in Political Science

HeeMin Kim, Korea; Washington University

Woosang Kim, Korea; University of Rochester

Chung Hee Lee, Korea; University of Missouri

Young Jo Lee, Korea; Harvard University

Feng-Heng Wei, Taiwan; SUNY, Stony Brook

Chen-shen Yen, Taiwan; Purdue University

Yi Zhang, People's Republic of China; University of Virginia

Institute for International Education Grant Recipients

Nasrin Abdolali, Iran; New York University

Boussetta Allouche, Algeria; University of Maryland

Christos Bourdouvalis, Greece; Florida State University

Jonah B. Ekpenyong, Nigeria; Florida State University

Hossain M. Farahani, Iran; University of Southern California

Farid Gasmî, Algeria; California Institute of Technology

Uma R. Hiremath, India; University of Pittsburgh

Aydan Kutay, Turkey; Carnegie-Mellon University

Pablo Eduardo Mateu, El Salvador; University of North Carolina

Benjamin Miller, Israel; University of California, Berkeley

Kalpna Misra, India; University of Michigan

Aaron Suh Neba, Cameroon; Temple University

Michael Pfau, Federal Republic of Germany; SUNY, Stony Brook

Fulbright Scholar Program

The following political scientists have received Fulbright awards to travel, lecture, consult, and conduct advanced research abroad in 1985-86. The scholars are listed with their home institutions and the countries where they are teaching or doing research.

Walter L. Balk, associate professor of public administration, State University of New York at Albany: Brazil.

Lawrence W. Beer, professor of government and law, Lafayette College: Japan.

Suzanne Berger, professor of political science, Massachusetts Institute of Technology: France.

Robert H. Blank, professor of political science, University of Idaho: New Zealand.

Thomas C. Bruneau, professor of political science, McGill University: Brazil.

Kent E. Calder, assistant professor of politics, Princeton University: Japan.

J. Leo Cefkin, professor of political science, Colorado State University: Lesotho.

Leo S. Chang, professor of political science, Regis College (Massachusetts): China.

Richard L. Engstrom, professor of political science, University of New Orleans: Ireland.

H. Michael Erisman, associate professor of political science, Mercyhurst College: Trinidad/Tobago.

Diane L. Fowlkes, associate professor of political science, Georgia State University: United Kingdom.

Donald M. Freeman, professor of political science, University of Evansville: Singapore.

George M. Guess, associate professor of politics and public affairs, University of Miami: Uruguay.

Christopher R. Hamilton, assistant professor of political science, West Georgia College: Poland.

Robert M. Harkavy, professor of political science, Pennsylvania State University: Sweden.

Charles Hartwig, associate professor of political science, Arkansas State University: Liberia.

John O. Iatrides, professor of political science, Southern Connecticut State University: multi-country awards.

Samuel S. Kim, professor of political science, Monmouth College (N.J.): China.

Lizz L. Kleemeier, independent scholar, Washington: Tanzania.

John F. Kramer, professor of political science, Sonoma State University: multi-country awards.

Dale A. Krane, associate professor of political science, Mississippi State University: Brazil.

Peter Lange, associate professor of political science, Duke University: Italy.

David K. Leonard, associate professor of political science, University of California at Berkeley: Kenya.

R. William Liddle, professor of political science, Ohio State University: Indonesia.

Jennie K. Lincoln, visiting assistant professor of political science, Miami University: Costa Rica.

Alan P. Liu, professor of political science, University of California at Santa Barbara: Taiwan.

Otwin Marenin, visiting professor of political science, University of Colorado: Nigeria.

John D. Martz, chairman of political science, Pennsylvania State University: Colombia.

Alan D. Monroe, professor of political science, Illinois State University: Taiwan.

Clark D. Neher, professor of political science, Northern Illinois University: Thailand.

William J. Parente, dean of the college of arts and sciences, University of Scranton: Thailand.

Tong Whan Park, associate professor of political science, Northwestern University: Korea.

Robert A. Pastor, faculty research associate in the school of public affairs,

University of Maryland at College Park: Mexico.

Frederic S. Pearson, professor and associate director of the center for international studies, University of Missouri at St. Louis: United Kingdom.

James L. Perry, professor of management, University of California at Irvine: Hong Kong.

Peter Ranis, professor of political science, York College of City University of New York: Argentina.

James N. Rosenau, director of the institute for transnational studies, University of Southern California: Mexico.

Alwyn R. Rouyer, chairman of political science, University of Idaho: Turkey.

Richard B. Saltman, associate professor of public health, University of Massachusetts at Amherst: Finland.

Steven A. Shull, professor of political science, University of New Orleans: Hong Kong.

Elizabeth K. Sims, professor of political science, University of California at Berkeley: Pakistan.

Sidney G. Tarrow, professor of government, Cornell University: multi-country awards.

Carol B. Thompson, associate professor of political science, University of Southern California: Zimbabwe.

Tom A. Travis, professor of political science, Bucknell University: India.

Dana Ward, assistant professor of political studies, Pitzer College: Turkey.

Melford A. Wilson, Jr., professor of political science, Winthrop College: China.

David T. Yamada, professor of political science, Monterey Peninsula College: Japan.

Alan S. Zuckerman, professor of political science, Brown University: Israel.

Furniss National Security Book Award

Barry R. Posen, assistant professor at

People in Political Science

Princeton University, recently won an international competition for the best first book by an author writing in the area of international security for his examination of alternative explanations of military doctrine. Cornell University Press published Posen's book, The Sources of Military Doctrine, in 1984. The award is made each year by the Mershon Center, a research institute for the study of national security and public policy problems at the Ohio State University.

Posen also received APSA's Woodrow Wilson Foundation Award for the best book published in the U.S. during 1984 on government, politics, or international affairs for The Sources of Military Doctrine.

For further information concerning the Edgar S. Furniss, Jr., National Security Award contact Carole Dale, Mershon Center, The Ohio State University, 199 W. Tenth Avenue, Columbus, OH 43201; (614) 422-1681.

Edward M. Goldberg, California State University, Los Angeles, has been presented the university's Outstanding Professor Award for 1984-85.

Social Science Research Council

The following political scientists have received grants and fellowships from the Social Science Research Council in 1985. These names are in addition to the list published in the Fall 1985 PS.

Stuart Kaufman, Ph.D. candidate in political science, University of Michigan, for training in preparation for research on the strategic aspects of U.S.-Soviet relations and Soviet civil-military relations.

Harry Pachon, associate professor of public administration, Baruch College, City University of New York, for a comparative analysis of Latino state legislative caucuses and groups in selected states.

J. L. Polinard and Robert D. Wrinkle, associate professors of political science, Pan American University, for research on the politics and policies of district representation: the Mexican-American experience.

Leon V. Sigal, professor of government, Wesleyan University, for research on the politics of war termination in Japan and the United States.

Other Awards and Honors

Mark A. Boyer, department of government and politics, University of Maryland, College Park, has been awarded a two-year MacArthur Foundation Pre-Doctoral Fellowship in International Security. The award was given by the Social Science Research Council through its Program in International Peace and Security Studies.

Edward M. Goldberg, California State University, Los Angeles, has been presented the university's Outstanding Professor Award for 1984-85. Goldberg is professor of political science and associate dean of instruction of the School of Natural and Social Sciences.

Susan Webb Hammond, professor in the School of Government and Public Administration, The American University, and co-editor of Congress and the Presidency: A Journal of Capital Studies, has received the 1984-85 Scholar/Teacher Award from The American University.

Robert Jackson, Doreen Jackson, and Nicholas Baxter-Moore have won the Secretary of State Canadian Studies Writing Award for their book, Politics in Canada: Culture, Institutions, Behaviour, and Public Policy, published by Holt, Rinehart & Winston of Canada, Ltd.

Mary Lou Kendrigan's book, Political Equality in a Democratic Society: Women in the United States (Greenwood Press), has been listed by Choice Magazine as among "outstanding academic books and nonprint materials 1984-85." The listing means it is recommended as a major selection for academic librarians. Kendrigan is an associate professor of social science at Lansing Community College.

Robert Lane, Yale University, has received the 1985 Eric Erikson Prize given by the International Society of Political Psychology.

Nelson W. Polsby, University of California at Berkeley, has received the Wilbur Cross Medal from Yale University.

James H. Seroka, associate professor of political science, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, has been named Research Fellow, Wilson Center for Advanced Studies, Washington, D.C., 1985, and Senior Exchange Research Professor, University of Belgrade, through the auspices of the International Research and Exchange Board, spring 1986.

Helene Silverberg, Cornell University, received the Alice Paul Dissertation Proposal Award for her proposal, "The Women's Movement and the Reagan Revolution: Politics and Policy in the 1980s."

C. Stephen Tai, associate professor of political science, University of Arkansas at Pine Bluff, has received a Fulbright-Hays Award for Faculty Seminar on Modern China.

Susan Webb Hammond has been accorded the 1984-85 Scholar/Teacher Award from The American University.

In Memoriam

Gil Carl AlRoy

Gil Carl AlRoy, professor of political science at Hunter College of the City University of New York, died after a long illness on May 21, 1985. He was 60 years old and lived in Guttenberg, New Jersey.

In the course of an extraordinary personal odyssey, Gil AlRoy, who was born in Czernowitz, Rumania, escaped from both Nazi and Soviet prison camps during the Second World War. After a post-war sojourn in Israel, he came to the United States in 1954. He graduated with honors from the City College of New York in 1959, received, with distinction, his doctorate in political science from Princeton University in 1963, and joined the Hunter College faculty in 1964.

Professor AlRoy's fields of specialization included comparative politics (Western Europe and the Middle East), the politics