

Elizabeth's Admiral

The Political Career of Charles Howard, Earl of Nottingham, 1536-1624

ROBERT W. KENNY Lord Admiral for thirty years and commander of the fleet against the Spanish Armada, Charles Howard was also a successful politician, a rich and powerful bureaucrat, and a corrupt yet loyal servant of two monarchs. Spanning the reigns of Elizabeth and James I, Robert Kenny's biography reveals more about the government and mores of Tudor and Stuart England than do the lives of more illustrious but less representative figures such as Hawkins and Drake. $11.00

George Gissing: Essays and Fiction

Edited with an introduction by PIERRE COUSTILLAS These six stories, two essays, and a novelette by Gissing are all published here for the first time. His philosophical essay "The Hope of Pessimism" reflects his abandonment of Comte in favor of Schopenhauer, and his fiction presents a shocking catalogue of bigamy, desertion, incest, adultery, blackmail, suicide, and murder, all set in the murky gloom of late Victorian England. $8.50

The English Georgic

A Study in the Development of a Form

JOHN CHALKER Virgil's Georgics was used as a model in the eighteenth century by poets as varied as Pope, Thomson, Gay and Smart. John Chalker investigates the strong appeal of Virgil's poem to the English Augustans, considers what formal concepts were implied by a Georgic poem, and analyzes the distinctive variations on the form made by a group of poets widely representative of the period.

The Unfolding of The Seasons

A Study of James Thomson's Poem

RALPH COHEN Refuting those critics who find The Seasons irrelevant to its time, Ralph Cohen argues that James Thomson's underrated poem not only deals with the primary concerns of the Augustan period, but that its theme of cyclic nature enabled the poet to create a new idiom in which science, religion, nature, and history were fused in a new and compelling unity. $10.00

Sir Richard Steele, M.P.

The Later Career

CALHOUN WINTON In this eagerly-awaited second volume of his historical biography, Calhoun Winton follows Steele from 1714 to his death in 1729, a period which produced The Conscious Lovers, but was otherwise dominated by his political involvements and his desire to preserve his independence. "Mr. Winton writes crisply, with intelligence, and sound knowledge."

Current Folger Documents of Tudor and Stuart Civilization

Selected Sermons of Hugh Latimer

Edited by ALLAN G. CHESTER. University of Pennsylvania. xxxiv, 209 pp. $7.75

"The selection [of sermons] admirably conveys the powerful eloquence and warmth with which Latimer expressed his abiding concerns. . . . The volume meets a real need for Latimer's sermons to be more readily available and this edition is most welcome and pleasing."

—Journal of Ecclesiastical History

The Case of the Commonwealth of England, Stated

By MARCHAMONT NEDHAM. Edited by PHILIP A. KNAGHEL, Associate Director of The Folger Shakespeare Library. xlii, 151 pp. $6.50

In 1650, shortly after the overthrow of Charles I in favor of Independent rule, Marchamont Nedham wrote this tract to prove "the equity, utility, and necessity of submission to the present government," and hoped it would persuade the people to abandon their hostility toward the new Commonwealth.

A Discourse of the Commonwealth of This Realm of England

Attributed to SIR THOMAS SMITH. Edited by MARY DEWAR, University of Texas at Austin. xxvi, 169 pp. $6.50

A Discourse, written in 1548 at the height of the economic storm in England, analyzed the cause of the new and unpleasant economic pressures which were being felt throughout the nation. It is the most valuable record we have of Tudor England's move toward social and economic progress.

Elements of Architecture

A Facsimile Reprint of the First Edition

By HENRY WOTTON. Edited by FREDERICK HARD. xxxv, 139 pp. $6.75

"The complete text of Wotton's Elements is relatively scarce, and this edition not only makes the full text inexpensively available, but does this in a facsimile of the attractively printed first edition. The work has value as a revelation of the taste of the significant period in the development of an understanding of art."

Folger Booklets on Tudor and Stuart Civilization

The Development of Natural History in Tudor England

By F. D. and J. F. M. HOENIGER, University of Toronto. 60 pp., 20 plates. $1.25

The Growth of Natural History in Stuart England from Gerard to the Royal Society

By F. D. and J. F. M. HOENIGER, University of Toronto. 54 pp., 19 plates. $1.25

These booklets trace the revolution in man's outlook on nature from the early 1500's to 1700. Personal observation by humanists during this time changed plants and animals in man's mind from highly imaginative, colorful figures to scientifically classified specimens.

Twenty-two other Folger booklets are available at $1.25 each. A descriptive brochure is available upon request.

THE FOREIGN OFFICE AND FOREIGN POLICY 1898-1914

ZARA S. STEINER

A study of the Foreign Office at a decisive period in its history. It tells how a secretarial department, archaic in tone and manner, developed into a major department of state.

The personalities, cast of mind and political stance of the men who staffed the Foreign Office, the foreign secretaries and their permanent officials, form the focus of the book. Mrs Steiner also examines some of the outside forces which shaped policy and created the climate of feeling and opinion in which Whitehall operated. $10.50

THE ABOLITION OF THE BRAZILIAN SLAVE TRADE

LESLIE BETHELL

Dr Bethell explains how, during the period of Brazilian independence from Portugal, Britain forced the Brazilian slave trade to be declared illegal, why it proved impossible to suppress for twenty years afterward, and how it was finally abolished.

The book is an important contribution to the study of Anglo-Brazilian relations which were dominated—and damaged—by the slave trade question for more than half a century. The period covered is 1807-1869. $13.50

THE CHURCH UNDER THE LAW Justice, Administration and Discipline in the Diocese of York 1560-1640

RONALD A. MARCHANT

A systematic account of church courts as they were remolded to serve the Protestant Church in England after the Elizabethan settlement, at a time when they were still one of the principal responsibilities of bishops and archdeacons. The work is based on a study of the courts in the diocese of York.

Dr Marchant gives reasons for the many aspects of church administration which were criticized at the time—criticisms often echoed by modern writers. $12.50

THE REFORMATION PARLIAMENT 1529-1536

STANFORD E. LEHMBERG

The Reformation Parliament, one of the most important assemblies in English history, sat in seven sessions between 1529 and 1536. Professor Lehmborg examines the attitudes and achievements session by session and shows the precise part played by both Houses in the passing of the measures which led to the establishment of the independence of the Anglican Church and the annulment of the marriage of Henry VIII and Catherine of Aragon.

He also discusses the Parliament's concern with many matters other than religion. $11.50

THE FOX-NORTH COALITION

JOHN CANNON

A study of the workings of the eighteenth-century constitution, concentrating on the years of acute crisis from 1782 to 1784. The author examines the formation of the Fox-North coalition, its achievement of office in March 1783, and the maneuvers by which it was eventually ousted.

Fresh evidence is contributed towards an assessment of the careers of Lord North, Charles Fox and William Pitt. $10.50

The Anti-Slavery Movement and Reconstruction

A STUDY OF ANGLO-AMERICAN CO-OPERATION, 1833-1877

By CHRISTINE BOLT, University of Kent, Canterbury. The anti-slavery movement in Britain continued to promote the emancipation of slaves everywhere even after it had achieved its primary parliamentary task with the Act abolishing slavery in the British colonies. In the 1860s the movement worked with agencies in America in attempts to meet the needs of the American Negroes freed as a result of the Civil War. Dr. Bolt's study is the first to investigate these British associations and to show how far British interest in America's ex-slaves was sustained. It also reveals how in Victorian England, racial prejudice developed as the anti-slavery movement declined. (For the Institute of Race Relations.)

THE JOURNAL OF BRITISH STUDIES
TRINITY COLLEGE
HARTFORD, CONNECTICUT

The Journal of British Studies, founded in 1961, is published at Trinity College under the auspices of the Conference on British Studies. It was the result of the imaginative generosity of a Trinity alumnus, Frederick E. Hasler (Hon. LL.D. 1957) who contributed funds to the College for the specific purpose of establishing a learned periodical in the field of British history. Several Trinity alumni subsequently contributed to the fund and Trinity College now supports the publication of the Journal.

The Conference on British Studies is the official organization in the United States and Canada of scholars working in the field of British history and culture; its status as such is recognized by the American Historical Association of which it is an affiliate. Its nearly eight hundred members are drawn from forty-eight states and five provinces. It convenes twice each year, usually at New York University.

The Conference awards a prize triennially for the best first book by an American or Canadian scholar.

The Conference sponsors a considerable publications program. It publishes the Journal of British Studies at Trinity College; the British Studies Intelligencer, a newsletter, at Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas; Studies in British History and Culture, an annual series of monographs, at the University of Bridgeport, Connecticut; Archives in British History and Culture, an annual series devoted to the publication of documents, at West Virginia University, Morgantown; and Current Research in British Studies, a quadrennial survey of research in progress in the United States and Canada, the next edition of which will appear in 1969 at Southern Methodist University. The Conference has begun a new series, to be published by the Cambridge University Press, of biographical and historical studies of men and women who were makers and shapers of the English experience.

In addition to the Conference on British Studies, there are four affiliates: the Pacific Coast Conference on British Studies, the Midwest Conference on British Studies, the Southern Conference on British Studies, and the New England Conference on British Studies. Each of these vital autonomous groups has its own officers, program, and other activities. There are also local groups centered in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Detroit, and Pittsburgh.

The Journal of British Studies appears twice in the academic year, in the autumn and in the spring. The annual subscription is $5.00. Checks for subscriptions and enquiries concerning advertising rates should be directed to the Business Manager, British Studies, Box 1315, Trinity College, Hartford, Connecticut, 06106.

Volume X, No. 1 will be published in November, 1970.

CONFERENCE ON BRITISH STUDIES PRIZE

The Conference on British Studies will award its fourth triennial prize of three hundred dollars in November, 1969. The prize will be given for the best book published between January 1, 1966 and December 31, 1968, by an American or Canadian scholar. It must be the author's first book. Its subject must lie either within the field of British or Commonwealth History and Culture.

Enquiries and recommendations should be addressed to the Chairman, Professor Arthur B. Ferguson, Duke University, Durham, North Carolina.

The past recipients of the prize are: Philip P. Poirier, Ohio State University, 1960; C. Warren Hollister, University of California, 1963; Melvin Richter, Hunter College, 1966.
