A STATEMENT OF EDITORIAL POLICY

PMLA endeavors to present distinguished contemporary scholarship and criticism in all fields of the modern languages and literatures. The distribution of papers should reflect the work actually being done from year to year, regardless of periods or languages. Members who feel their interests neglected by this policy are urged to write or to encourage others to write articles good enough to be published.

PMLA welcomes either new or traditional approaches by either young or established scholars. It urges authors to bear in mind that their audience is the entire membership of the Association and to strive to communicate the broader implications as well as the precise substance of their research. Articles should be written in a clear, concise, and attractive style, with documentation held to a minimum. PMLA does not encourage notes or long articles; it does not review books.

Any member of the Association may submit papers to PMLA. Each paper submitted will be sent to at least one consultant reader and one member of the Editorial Committee. An abstract in English on the standard form must accompany every article submitted. Abstract forms and guidelines may be obtained from the Editor.

Manuscripts, prepared in conformity with the second edition of the MLA Style Sheet, should be addressed to the Editor of PMLA, 62 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y. 10011. Copies are not needed, but should be made and retained by the author. Pamphlets On the Publication of Research and on The Publication of Academic Writing may be purchased from the MLA Materials Center.
