OUR EXPERIENCE OF GOD

H. D. LEWIS

'I found it a genuine and rare pleasure to read chapter after chapter of prose in which every sentence seems to be constructed with attention to balance and cadence, for the ear as well as for the mind.' G. E. HUGHES, AUSTRALASIAN JOURNAL OF PHILOSOPHY

'In many ways this book is a model of what philosophical writing about religion should be like.' TERENCE DENELHUM, ETHICS

'One is carried along as though in a rigorously logical channel. . . We can do no more than call attention to the inestimable service he has rendered by the scholarly and liberal spirit in which he has treated some of the leading problems in the philosophy of religion.' TIMES LITERARY SUPPLEMENT

'This book is written in a lucid style and combines philosophical reasoning and Christian devotion in a way that not only does justice to both but tries—much harder—to combine them. . . It is encouraging to hear again distinguished voices arguing for the reasonableness of religion, and not least a religion which is no parody of that which religious people profess.' HIBBERT JOURNAL

The Elusive Mind

H. D. LEWIS

The author, in sharp opposition to prevailing views in philosophy today, boldly maintains that mental processes are of a quite different nature from physical ones and belong to an entity which is elusive in the sense that it can only be known, in the first instance, by each person in his own case in the course of having any kind of experience. This 'elusive' self is much involved with the body in any conditions we know, but it could also survive the dissolution of the body. In presenting these views, the author offers us the substance of the First Series of Gifford Lectures he delivered in the University of Edinburgh. 'This is a work which I at least have hardly anything but unqualified praise. . . I wait for the reactions of Professor Lewis's opponents, who have had things all their way far too long.' E. L. MASCALL, The Kingsman

OXFORD BOOKS FOR STUDENTS

* Christian Faiths and Other Faiths

The Christian Dialogue with other Religions

STEPHEN NEILL, *Professor of Philosophy and Religion,
University College of Nairobi*

In this assessment of non-Christian religions from a Christian standpoint, Bishop Neill discusses the faith of contemporary primitive people as well as the main established religions, and modern forms of secularism, including a discussion of Existentialism. Christendom is then reconsidered in its relation to other faiths. The 1961 hard-cover edition has been revised throughout and new material added for this second edition in Oxford Paperbacks. 15/-

* Law, Morality, and Religion in a Secular Society

BASIL MITCHELL, Nolloth Professor of the Philosophy of the Christian Religion, University of Oxford

Should the law be concerned only with actions which harm individuals or may it be used to protect the morality and essential institutions of a society? Professor Mitchell traces the differing views on this question expressed by Lord Devlin, Professor H. L. A. Hart, and others, to their origin in fundamental differences about the scope and nature of morality. This Oxford Paperbacks edition replaces the 1967 hard-cover edition. 7/-

The Text of the New Testament

Its Transmission, Corruption, and Restoration

BRUCE M. METZGER, *Professor of New Testament
Language and Literature, Princeton Theological Seminary*

Professor Metzger discusses a wide variety of textual problems with an eye to the needs of the student. The second edition embodies references to more than 150 additional books and articles dealing with Greek manuscripts, early versions, and critical studies of recently-discovered witnesses to the text of the New Testament. 16 plates 4 figures 45/-

A Short History of the Western Liturgy

THEODOR KLAUSER

Translated by JOHN HALLIBURTON

Dr Klauser traces the history of worship in the Western Church from the earliest known Roman liturgy to the Second Vatican Council, pointing out the main lines of development and the controlling ideas of different periods. Dr Halliburton's translation is made from the fifth German edition. 1 plate 40/-

The Early Christian Fathers

A selection from the writings of the Fathers from St Clement of Rome to St Athanasius

Selected and translated by HENRY BETTENSON

The thought of the early Fathers, especially on the great doctrinal themes, is displayed in this volume of selections from the principal writers of the Church in the Roman Empire from immediately after the New Testament down to the age of Constantine. Mr Bettenson has translated these passages afresh with brief annotation where necessary. 'Scholarly and well-balanced', noted The Tablet of the 1956 hard-cover edition, which this replaces.

Mohammedanism

H. A. R. GIBB

In this book, which explains Mohammedanism's main features as a religious system in terms of their historical development, 'the elementary student will find authoritative guidance through a field bedevilled with false tracks'. —Cambridge Review. The text of this reprint is substantially that of the second edition, lightly revised to take account of recent developments.
