Islam and Gender

The Religious Debate in Contemporary Iran

Ziba Mir-Hosseini

Following the Islamic Revolution of 1979 and the re-introduction of Shar'ica law relating to gender and the family, women's rights in Iran suffered a major setback. However, as the implementers of the law have faced the social realities of women's lives and aspirations, positive changes have gradually come about. Here Ziba Mir-Hosseini takes us to the heart of the growing debates concerning the ways in which justice for women should be achieved.

Through a series of lively interviews with clerics in the Iranian religious center of Qom, Mir-Hosseini seeks to understand the varying notions of gender that inform Islamic jurisprudence and to explore how clerics today perpetuate and modify these notions.

Frontier Fictions

Shaping the Iranian Nation, 1804–1946

Firoozeh Kashani-Sabet

In this fascinating study, Firoozeh Kashani-Sabet looks at "frontier fictions," or the ways in which Iranians viewed their fluctuating borders and the conflicts surrounding them, and how these played a dominant role in defining the nation.

Her focus on geography enables her to explore a wide range of aspects of modern citizenship in Iran, including love of homeland, the hegemony of the Persian language, and widespread interest in archaeology, travel, and map-making. Kashani-Sabet offers a very tangible explanation of what connects people to a specific place. Her approach is intended to enrich our understanding not only of Iranian nationalism, but also of nationalism everywhere.

"Frontier Fictions is an outstanding work of historical interpretation. . . . A book that lays bare the making of Iranian identity and physical and cultural borders. A work of real subtlety and elegance."

Approaching Ottoman History

An Introduction to the Sources

Suraiya Faroqhi

In a state-of-the-art introduction to Ottoman history, Suraiya Faroqhi explores the documentary sources and explains how to interpret them to students in the field and in related disciplines. By considering both archival and narrative sources, she demonstrates why they were prepared, encouraging her readers to adopt a critical approach to their findings. While the book is essentially a guide to a complex discipline for initiates into the field, the experienced Ottomanist will find much that is original and provocative in its sophisticated interpretation.

European and Islamic Trade in the Early Ottoman State

The Merchants of Genoa and Turkey

Kate Fleet

By using untapped Latin and Turkish sources, and focusing on the trading partnership between the Genoese and the Turks, Kate Fleet demonstrates how this interaction contributed to the economic development of the early Ottoman state and to Ottoman territorial expansion. Where previous literature has emphasized the military prowess of the early Ottomans and their role as "the infidel," this book considers their economic aspirations and their integration into the economy of the Mediterranean basin.

Reinterpreting Islamic Historiography

Harun al-Rashid and the Narrative of the 'Abbasid Caliphate

Tayeb El-Hibri

The reigns of the caliph Harun al-Rashid and his successor al-Ma'mun have long been viewed as the golden age of the medieval Islamic caliphate. Yet how did chroniclers represent this crucial period? Tayeb El-Hibri's book applies a new literary-critical reading to the sources to demonstrate how medieval narrators devised various elusive ways of shedding light on controversial religious, political and social issues, while ostensibly presenting a history loyal to the 'Abbasid dynasty. This is an important book that represents a landmark in the field of early Islamic historiography.

The Ottoman City between East and West

Aleppo, Izmir, and Istanbul

Edhem Eldem,

Daniel Goffman, and

Bruce Masters

In a pioneering reinterpretation, the authors challenge the orientalist perception of the Islamic city. By considering the histories of three Ottoman cities in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, they depart from the piecemeal methods of previous studies to emphasize the importance of these cities and to highlight their essentially Ottoman character. While the essays provide an overall view, each can be approached separately. Their exploration of the sources and the agendas of those who have conditioned our understanding of these cities will make them essential reading for students.

Contributions and Editorial Correspondence

Send article submissions to the Editorial Office (address on inside front cover). Articles submitted to the journal should not be, or have been, submitted elsewhere. Books for review should also be sent to the Editor for forwarding to the Book Review Editors. Unsolicited book reviews cannot be accepted for publication.

Manuscript Preparation and Style

General. An article must be in English, should not exceed 40 typewritten pages (including main text, notes, tables, and figure captions), and should be typed on 8½" × 11" or A4 white bond paper with ample margins on all sides. Authors should submit four copies of the article. If possible a digital text should also be submitted on disk in a standard word-processing format. The entire manuscript—including notes, tables, and references—must be typed double-spaced and numbered consecutively. Please note that many word processing programs do not auto-format the footnotes window, and authors are responsible for ensuring that the paper does not arrive with single-spaced footnotes in a tiny font size. Authors must avoid putting their names in headers or footers and avoid any references to themselves in the body or the footnotes such as might betray their identity to referees. The paper should therefore be prefaced with a title page showing the author's name and address along with the paper title. The title alone should be centered at the top of the first text page. In the final draft, institutional affiliation and location should appear at the bottom of the last text page. The Editor may find it necessary to return manuscripts for reworking or retyping that do not conform to these requirements.

Text. Use a 5-character paragraph indent. Avoid hyphenating words at the end of lines. Do not use desk-top publishing features (e.g., right margin justification or bold and italic typefaces). Block indent long quotations (more than 50 words). Never cross-reference.

Endnotes and References. Notes must be numbered consecutively throughout the text, typed double-spaced in paragraph style, and grouped together as a unit following the text. Footnotes at the bottom of the text page are not permitted. Any acknowledgment of grant support, substantial assistance, etc., should be typed as an Author's Note above the first note in the final draft. Provide the full name of the author as it appears on the publication. All titles in non-Roman alphabets (Arabic, Cyrillic, etc.) must be transliterated. Foreign titles in Roman alphabets should be capitalized as they would be in that particular language. An English translation of nonstandard language titles should be provided in parentheses after the title. The style of note citations should conform with the following examples:

<sup>1</sup>Stanford J. Shaw, History of Ottoman Empire and Modern Turkey, 2 vols. (New York: Cambridge University Press, 1977), Reform, Revolution and Republic: The Rise of Modern Turkey 1808–1975, 2:3–6.

<sup>2</sup>Jamil M. Abun-Nasr, A History of the Maghrib in the Islamic Period, 3rd ed. (New York: Cambridge University Press, 1987), 10.

<sup>5</sup>Clifford Geertz, "Toutes Directions: Reading the Signs in an Urban Sprawl," International Journal of Middle East Studies 21 (August 1989): 291–306.

When references to the same work follow without interruption use ibid. When notes to the same work follow after interruption, use the author's last name and a shortened title of the book or article. Do not use op. cit.:

IJMES does not publish bibliographies.

Foreign Words and Transliteration. All Arabic words found in an unabridged dictionary (e.g., ulema, shaykh, qadi, Sunni, Shi'ī, mihrab, minbar, madrasa, masjid, jami', hadith, suq) should be treated as English words, that is, not underlined and without diacriticals. Contemporary names and places should be spelled as they are found in such standard publications as the New York Times. All other transliterated words and phrases should be underlined and all their diacriticals included throughout the text. Be sure to distinguish between the hamza, 'ayn, and the apostrophe in the text. No diacritical marks other than the hamza and the 'ayn should appear in any proper names (e.g., names of people, dynasties, places) and names of well-known literary works (Qur'an, Shahnama), except: works written in Arabic, Persian, and Ottoman Turkish and cited in transliteration in the notes must include diacriticals for both author and title.

Transliteration System. All non-Roman alphabets must be transliterated, and authors are responsible for the consistency and accuracy of their transliterations. For Arabic and Persian, IJMES uses the modified Encyclopaedia of Islam system: qaf = q not k; jim = j not dj; roman double-letter equivalents are not underlined; the l of al- is not assimilated to the following consonant; ta marbuta is rendered a not ah; the adjectival -ya followed by ta marbuta is rendered -iyya. Except at the beginning of an English sentence or endnote, only proper names are capitalized. For Ottoman Turkish, use either the Encyclopaedia of Islam system or modern Turkish orthography. For treatment of common Turkish words, such as medrese, turbe, etc., follow the rules on anglicizing Arabic and Persian words.

Dates. IJMES does not use double dating. Use common era (A.D.) dates only, unless quoting from an original source, in which case use the date as quoted (hijra, solar, etc.) with the common-era equivalent in parentheses.

Tables and Figures. Tables and figures must be cited in the text, e.g., (see Table 1). They should be numbered consecutively in arabic numbers, captioned, and appear as a unit following the notes section. They cannot be interspersed in the text. Diagrams must be professionally rendered or computer generated; details should be large enough to remain legible at 50% reduction. Below-standard artwork will be returned to the author for replacement. All artwork must be numbered and labeled with the author's name and article title. For halftones or other illustrations, consult the editor.

Photos. When appropriate, photos may be submitted with a manuscript to the Editorial Office. Their use will be at the Editor's discretion. Images should be printed in black and white, 4 × 6 or 5 × 7 format, with sufficient contrast to reproduce well.

Publishing Information

Production. The publisher reserves the right to copyedit manuscripts to conform to the journal's style, which follows the rules found in the Chicago Manual of Style. Spelling will be edited to conform to American usage. More substantial editing will be returned to the author for approval before publication.

The lead author will receive one set of proofs for the correction of typographical or factual errors only. No rewriting will be allowed in the proof stage. Authors must return the material to the editorial office within 48 hours of receipt or approval will be assumed.

Offprints. The lead author of an article (but not book-review) will receive 50 free offprints of the article. Additional offprints may be purchased if ordered at the proof stage. Orders received after the issue is printed are subject to a 50% reprint surcharge.

Copyright and Originality. Submission of an article implies that it has not been simultaneously submitted or previously published elsewhere. Authors are responsible for obtaining permission to publish any material under copyright. Contributors will be asked to assign their own copyright, on certain conditions, to Cambridge University Press.
