

Budapest Diary

In Search of the Motherbook

SUSAN RUBIN SULEIMAN

“Powered by curiosity and intelligence, Susan Suleiman takes us from Boston to Budapest and from dislocation to reconciliation in this sensitive, postmodern memoir. A satisfying read.”—Alix Kates Shulman

“Anyone called by a homeland will be entranced by Budapest Diary, a memoir that connects the eminent literary scholar Susan Suleiman to little Zsuzsika, the Hungarian-Jewish child who found learning to read even better than noodles with plum jam. . . .

A fascinating account” —Susan Gubar

“Susan R. Suleiman writes about the Budapest she has lost and recovered with the candor and emotional intelligence

that are the mark of the true memoirist.”—Sven Birkerts

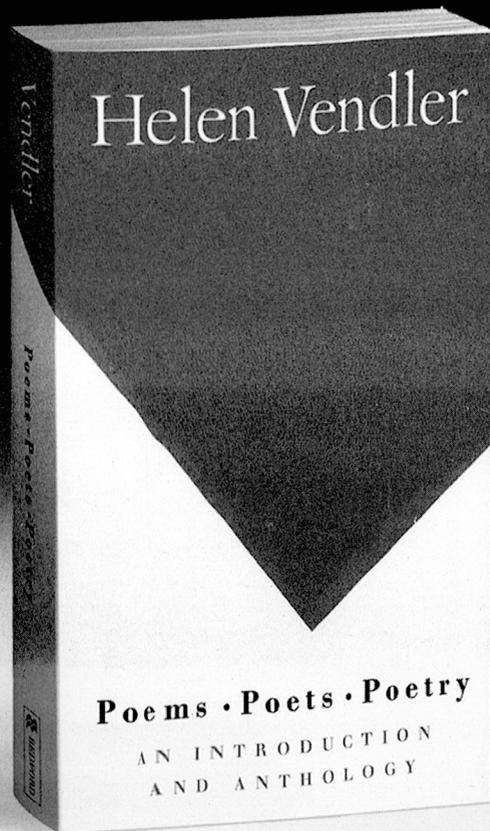

Texts & Contexts series. Sander L. Gilman, general editor

University of Nebraska Press publishers of Bison Books Lincoln NE • 800-755-1105

“A landmark publication!”

— Charles Altieri, University of California — Berkeley

Available Now

Bedford Books

For exam copies, call 1-800-446-8923