AMERICAN JOURNAL OF INTERNATIONAL LAW

The views expressed in the articles, editorial comments, book reviews, and all other contributions to the AJIL are those of the individual authors and are not to be taken as representing the views of the Board of Editors or the American Society of International Law.

SUBMISSION OF MANUSCRIPTS

The American Journal of International Law (AJIL) invites submission of manuscripts on international law subjects. The Journal's coverage extends beyond public international law to closely related issues of global governance, transnational law, and national or sub-state law. It generally does not publish manuscripts focused on purely private or commercial law or on comparative or foreign law, including the internal law of the European Union. The Journal will not consider submissions whose content has been, or will be, published before it appears in this journal.

The Journal typically receives over 400 submissions each year for lead articles, current developments, or notes and comments from scholars and practitioners around the world. All such submissions are considered by the co-editors in chief as soon as feasible upon receipt, with expedited attention paid to exclusive submissions and to manuscripts, including candidates for notes, comments and current developments, that are less than 11,000 words. Submissions that are candidates for lead articles must receive, in addition to the approval of the co-editors in chief, the approval of two members of the Board of Editors in order to receive an offer of publication. (Where a submission presents a conflict of interest for the co-editors in chief, as with respect to submissions written by full-time members of the law faculty of New York University, the manuscript is handled by other members of the Board of Editors. Where only one of the two co-editors in chief has such a conflict of interest, the manuscript is handled by the other.) The process for peer review may involve members of the Board and outside scholars consulted for this purpose. This process ordinarily is double blind (meaning that the identity of the authors is unknown to the peer reviewers and vice versa). On occasion, this peer review process generates requests by the co-editors in chief for revision and resubmission. If ultimately rejected, manuscripts ordinarily are not resubmitted to the Journal.

Exclusive Submissions:

The Journal does not require exclusive submissions. Priority consideration will, however, be accorded where the author states that the submission is exclusive for a specified period of at least six weeks and commits to accept an offer of publication within the specified time period. Authors should bear in mind that, as a professionally juried journal, the Journal is rarely if ever able to make offers of publication in response to requests for expedited review within the time limits typically fixed by other journals that have made offers of publication.

Format and Style Guidelines:

All manuscripts should be double-spaced in 12-point Times New Roman type; these formatting requirements apply to all text, quotations, and footnotes. The maximum length for lead articles is 30,000 words (including footnotes which should be complete and generally in conformity with The Chicago Manual of Style (16th ed. 2010), The Bluebook: A Uniform System of Citation (19th ed., 2010) as well as the AJIL Style Guide.

Shorter pieces with less discursive footnotes, including submissions for lead articles, are strongly encouraged and may receive more expedited review. The maximum length for "Current Developments" and "Notes and Comments" submissions is 11,000 words. All manuscripts should be accompanied by the author's CV (in a separate document and including a list of publications) as well as a short abstract of no more than 150 words.

Given the volume of submissions to the Journal, authors are strongly urged to strictly adhere to these guidelines; manuscripts that exceed the word limits indicated, are not generally in conformity with The Chicago Manual of Style, or whose footnotes are not in accord with The Bluebook, (see above) may be rejected for these reasons alone.

Submissions should be in electronic form and should be transmitted as attachments to e-mail messages addressed to ajil@asil.org. For the Journal's complete submissions guidelines information, please visit <http://www.asil.org/ajil-submissions>.

The Journal currently uses Word 2010/2007 but can convert manuscripts created in other word processing programs. (In such cases, please specify the program used. Documents must be in easily edited formats.) Please do not send manuscripts in PDF format.

Emory Law Clinic Promotes the Law of War

Laurie Blank

International Humanitarian Law Clinic Director

Emory Law's International Humanitarian Law Clinic engages students in cutting-edge legal research and analysis to advance the law of armed conflict, enhance protection of civilians in conflict, and ensure accountability for atrocities.

Under the leadership of Professor Laurie Blank, the clinic focuses on the implementation of humanitarian law in U.S. national security strategy; accountability for violations of IHL; and training and education for militaries involved in armed conflict.

Its partners include international criminal tribunals, the U.S. military, non-governmental organizations, and law firms around the world.

Geneva: study in the heart of Europe in a truly international environment

In addition to various international law courses at undergraduate and postgraduate level in French, the University of Geneva Law School offers in English several summer schools, a Certificate in Transnational Law (CTL) as well as two Masters in advanced studies (MAS) and one Executive Master in cooperation with the Geneva Graduate Institute of International and Development Studies. Students and professionals from around the world come to study in Geneva, the home of numerous international organizations, UN agencies, the ICRC and law firms active in international arbitration.

The CTL provides students with a chance to specialize, early in their career, in international legal affairs within one or two semesters (30 ECTS). Students can tailor their studies according to their particular interests, be it public or private international law.

The MAS in International Humanitarian Law and Human Rights and the Executive Master in International Law in Armed Conflict comprise in-depth courses on all areas of international law relating to armed conflicts.

The Geneva Master in International Dispute Settlement gives students the opportunity to study all aspects of dispute settlement in the international arena, across the divide of public and private.

Summer Schools are offered on International Law, Cultural Heritage Law, Intellectual Property, post-conflict justice and state building, and, jointly with Duke Law School, on transnational law.

OUR PROGRAMMES

Master in International Law

→ A two-year programme providing in-depth training in international law as well as tools and approaches necessary for rigorous legal analysis of contemporary issues, with complementary courses in other disciplines (economics, history, political science and development studies)

PhD in International Law

→ A four-year programme offering high-level specialisation in international law that prepares graduates for an academic career or executive and research positions in the public or private sector

LL.M. in International Law

→ A one-year postgraduate degree course that provides advanced, comprehensive and practical training in international law. Law clinics, workshops on legal writing, presentation skills and career development, as well as a variety of network-building events provide the best possible springboard from which to launch or advance a career in international law

LL.M.s (Joint Programmes)

→ Master in Global Health Law and International Institutions (jointly with Georgetown Law Center); Master in International Dispute Settlement and LL.M. in International Humanitarian Law and Human Rights (jointly with the University of Geneva)

WORLD-RENOWNED FACULTY COMPOSED OF BOTH ACADEMICS AND PRACTITIONERS

- A multifaceted approach to learning, including seminars, law clinics, moot courts and the chance of studying abroad through our exchange programmes
- More than 30 classes and seminars offered in all areas of international law, with an unbeatable student-faculty ratio
- International organisations at your doorstep, with classroom interaction, internships and employment opportunities
- Research focused on real-world solutions to current problems

SETTING THE STANDARD IN ONLINE LEGAL RESEARCH

Launching this Fall Oxford Historical Treaties

Oxford Historical Treaties (OHT) is the premier resource for historical treaty research and home to the full text of The Consolidated Treaty Series, the only comprehensive collection of treaties of all nations concluded from 1648 through 1919. Overseen by General Editor Professor Randall Lesaffer. Available via the Oxford Public International Law platform, OHT is cross-searchable with Oxford's leading public international law resources through the Oxford Law Citator, providing direct links between Oxford content and carefully selected third party websites.

Oxford Public International Law

Oxford Public International Law brings together, for the first time, all of Oxford's prestigious international law products in a single, cross searchable product family:

OXFORD SCHOLARLY AUTHORITIES ON INTERNATIONAL LAW

Oxford's unrivaled reference works, such as Oppenheim and the Oxford Commentaries on International Law, are discoverable online for the first time

Her new documentary, There Is Nothing Else (Otra cosa no hay), was selected for inclusion in this year's Festival de Cine de Bogotá. The film explores the fragile equilibrium among human economic needs, harvestable natural resources, and environmental protection in a gold mining community in the highlands of Colombia. The film's United States debut will be on November 10 at the Indiana University Cinema.

The Chagos Islanders and International Law

Stephen Allen

In 1965, the UK excised the Chagos Islands from the colony of Mauritius to create the British Indian Ocean Territory (BIOT) in connection with the founding of a US military facility on the island of Diego Garcia. Consequently, the inhabitants of the Chagos Islands were secretly exiled to Mauritius, where they became chronically impoverished. This book considers the resonance of international law for the Chagos Islanders. It advances the argument that BIOT constitutes a 'Non-Self-Governing Territory' pursuant to the provisions of Chapter XI of the UN Charter and for the wider purposes of international law. In addition, the book explores the extent to which the right of self-determination, indigenous land rights and a range of obligations contained in applicable human rights treaties could support the Chagossian right to return to BIOT.

Stephen Allen, Queen Mary, University of London.

Balancing Human Rights, Environmental Protection and International Trade

Lessons from the EU Experience

Emily Reid

This book explores the means by which economic liberalisation can be reconciled with human rights and environmental protection in the regulation of international trade. It is primarily concerned with identifying the lessons the international community can learn, specifically in the context of the WTO, from decades of European Community and Union experience in facing this question. The book develops a deeper understanding of the inter-relationship between the legal regulation of economic and non-economic development, adding clarity to the debate in a controversial area. It argues that a more holistic approach to the consideration of 'development', encompassing economic and non-economic concerns - 'sustainable' development - is not only desirable in principle but realisable in practice.

Emily Reid, University of Southampton.

International Law and Child Soldiers

C A Waschefort

This book commences with an analysis of the current state of child soldiering internationally. Thereafter the proscriptive content of contemporary norms on the prohibition of the use and recruitment of child soldiers is evaluated, so as to determine whether these norms are capable of better enforcement. An 'issues-based' approach is adopted, in terms of which no specific regime of law, such as international humanitarian law (IHL), is deemed dominant. Instead, universal and regional human rights law, international criminal law and IHL are assessed cumulatively, so as to create a mutually reinforcing web of protection. Ultimately the conclusions reached are assessed in light of a case study on the use and recruitment of child soldiers in the Democratic Republic of the Congo.

C A Waschefort, University of South Africa.

Foreign Relations Law

Campbell McLachlan

$200.00: Hardback: 978-0-521-89985-7: 648 pp.

"Questions concerning the role of international law before national courts are confronting the courts with constitutional problems as profound as any that have arisen during the past 200 years. This masterly study, by an eminent practitioner and academic, offers both an incisive analysis of the problems and a subtle and precise approach to a solution based upon the methodologies of private international law."

—Vaughan Lowe, QC, Emeritus Chichele Professor of Public International Law, University of Oxford

Foreign Relations Law tackles three fundamental issues: the distribution of the foreign relations power between the organs of government; the impact of the foreign relations power on individual rights; and the treatment of the foreign state within the municipal legal system. Focusing on the four Anglo-Commonwealth states (the United Kingdom, Australia, Canada and New Zealand), McLachlan examines the interaction between public international law and national law and demonstrates that the prime function of foreign relations law is not to exclude foreign affairs from legal regulation, but to allocate jurisdiction and determine applicable law in cases involving the external exercise of the public power of states: between the organs of the state; amongst the national legal systems of different states; and between the national and the international legal systems.

The Law of Refugee Status

Second Edition

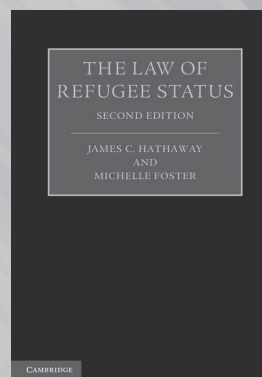

James C. Hathaway and Michelle Foster

$160.00: Hardback: 978-1-107-01251-6: 773 pp.

$60.00: Paperback: 978-1-107-68842-1

"This edition of The Law of Refugee Status continues the leadership established by the first edition as the most cited scholarly work considered by courts internationally. It stands out for its principled approach to refugee law and for its comprehensive coverage."

—Justice Tony North, Federal Court of Australia, Past President International Association of Refugee Law Judges

The first edition of The Law of Refugee Status (published in 1991) is generally regarded as the seminal text on interpreting the refugee definition set by the UN's 1951 Refugee Convention. Its groundbreaking analysis served as the bedrock for not only much judicial reasoning, but also for a burgeoning academic literature in law and related fields. This second edition builds on the strong critical focus and human rights orientation of the first edition, but undertakes an entirely original analysis of the jurisprudence of leading common law and select civil law states. The authors provide robust responses to the most difficult questions of refugee status in a clear and direct way.
