THEOLOGY of the OLD TESTAMENT

'He has succeeded in giving us an admirable key to Old Testament studies which will well repay serious attention by all who want to keep abreast of British and Continental scholarship. This book should rank with the recent translations of Bultmann and Stauffer on the theology of the New Testament, and it supplies a long felt want which has not been met in this country since A. B. Davidson's Theology of the Old Testament was published at the beginning of this century. The translation is excellent.'—THE REV. DR. WILLIAM NEIL. 30/- net

WHEN CHRIST COMES AND COMES AGAIN

'Here is the good news, challenging, exhilarating, redeeming.'
PROFESSOR J. S. STEWART. 12/6 net

3. Hugh Redwood

RESIDUE OF DAYS A Confession of faith

Among the evidence it adduces is that of the miracle by which, in 1956, its author was brought back from the brink of the grave to write it. Paper 3/6 net, boards 6/- net

4. William Neil

THE REDISCOVERY of the BIBLE

'I have seen no book of this kind which is at once so scholarly and so popular. It seems to me to stand in a class by itself.'
DR. F. R. BARRY, BISHOP OF SOUTHWELL.

Based on the first Epistle of St. John and arranged for devotional use, with a meditation and a prayer for every day of the year. 12/6 net

THE MYSTICAL THEOLOGY OF THE EASTERN CHURCH

by VLADIMIR LOSSKY

Recent years have seen a steadily growing interest in the Eastern Orthodox Church, but up till the present there has been no really authoritative work in English on Orthodox theology as a whole.

This is a book which not only reveals the root causes of the divergence between Eastern and Western Christendom, but also by its radical criticism of common Western assumptions, involves a transformation of the whole understanding of the word 'theology'. As such, it will be of interest not only to professional theologians, but to all who wish to deepen their understanding of the mystery of God.

LAMB TO THE SLAUGHTER

by BROTHER GEORGE EVERY, S.S.M.

This small book is intended as an attempt to get to grips with the problem of the relation of the Christian faith to other forms of sacrificial religion. Many who reflect on the problem of Christian origins have suggested that Christianity is a development from primitive magic. Many believe that Jesus Christ was an historical character at least suspect that the institution of the eucharist, the empty tomb, and the appearance after the resurrection, are infiltrations into the story from pagan myth.

In this book these questions are faced in the light of researches into the origins of animal sacrifices in hunting rituals, whose records have come to light through the study of cave paintings in Spain and the south of France. The author believes that these researches put the idea of sacrifice in a wider perspective, which will illuminate the difference, as well as the resemblance, between the Christian mystery and the mystery religions.

'This book is short, exciting and rewarding.'—Archbishop of York in The York Quarterly.

THEOLOGICAL ESSAYS

by FREDERICK DENISON MAURICE

Introduction by Canon Edward Carpenter

The last few years has witnessed a considerable revival of interest in the writings of the great Victorian theologian. Maurice came to his religious beliefs only after a painful period of inward struggle. He was never afraid to look unpleasant facts in the face, and his intellectual honesty challenges modern man no less than it did his own generation. His theology is still relevant, for he was always painfully conscious of the stresses and strains, failures and anxieties, that make up the day to day experience of the common man.

There is no doubt that Maurice intended Theological Essays to be a formal and mature statement of his theological beliefs, out of which all his other interests and activities sprang.

THE BONDAGE OF THE WILL

by MARTIN LUTHER

Newly Translated by J. I. Packer and O. R. Johnston

A new and reliable English text of Martin Luther's magnum opus, available at a reasonable price, has long been overdue. For it is not only one of the basic documents of the Reformation period, but treats of a subject that is fundamental to a right understanding of all the great Reformer's teaching. Luther undoubtedly regarded it as the most important piece of theological writing that ever came from his pen. Here is the heart of the Gospel as he understood it.

The translators have been at pains to provide a text that not only accurately conveys the thought of the original, but also something of the vigour, pungency and dialectical skill characteristic of Luther's style.

Preaching the Cross

J. C. Fenton

7s. 6d. net

A profound theological examination of the Marcan Passion narrative, with special reference to Christ's Words from the Cross; the substance of lectures given at St Boniface College, Warminster.

Ad Clerum

Herbert Hensley Henson

9s. 6d. net

Foreword by the Archbishop of York

"While the Church as a whole knew H. H. Henson as a controversialist, and both feared and loved his pungent polemics, those who were brought closest to him in his episcopal character cherished most of all his pastoral wisdom and insight." The re-issue of Ad Clerum, a volume of Ordination Charges, brings back into print a classic exposition of the minister's calling.

Enterprise in Education

H. J. Burgess

25s. net

Foreword by the Archbishop of Canterbury

For the first time a complete insight is possible into the Church's educational undertakings in the 19th century prior to the first Education Act. In at least two important developments the Church is seen as the pioneer of the future State system.

A Profest Papist : Bishop John Gordon

T. F. Taylor

7s. 6d. net

Published for the Church Historical Society

Based on papers of the late Dom Gregory Dix, this study of an unusual career is of some importance because the consecration of John Gordon has been used by the Roman Church to shed light on the subject of Anglican Orders.

NEW BOOKS FOR RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

A SAFE STRONGHOLD

Studies in Christian Apologetics

by Edgar P. Dickie, M.C., M.A., D.D.

A Pathfinder Handbook for teachers and class reader for seniors.

'We are indebted to Professor Dickie for his lucidly written chapters and trust that the standard of our Scripture teaching will enable such books to be more commonly employed as class-room reading by our pupils.'—Middlesex Log. Boards 6s; Limp 5s. net

TEACHING THE BIBLE TO-DAY

By Rev. Trevor Hughes

A suggested approach to a vital educational problem. Deals in a thoroughly practical way with all aspects of the relevance of the Bible to life and its problems. Price 1s. 6d. net

PHILOSOPHY AND RELIGION

An Introduction to some Questions of Belief

By George Whitfield, M.A.

New volume in the popular Gateway Handbooks for teachers and students, and sixth-form reading. 'From the viewpoint of the teacher taking advanced classes the book is most valuable; its very compactness opens avenues of debate and guided speculation far beyond the small compass of its pages, and in subjects too often not fully understood by the student, or glossed over by the teacher, possibly through the lack of just such a volume as this.'—Scottish Schoolmaster. Boards, 6s. 6d. net.

CHRISTIAN WORSHIP

Its Making and Meaning

By Horton Davies, M.A., D.Phil

A 'Pathfinder' book for teachers, and a class reader for older forms and all young people. 'A simple, concise yet scholarly account of the main forms of traditional Christian worship, calculated to encourage Christians, young and old, to enter fully into the services of their own Churches, and to develop a sympathetic understanding of those of Churches to which they do not belong.'—Religion in Education. Boards 6s.; Limp 5s. net.

THE GOSPEL AND THE CHURCH IN A PAGAN WORLD

W. GORDON ROBINSON

Is the Gospel still 'Good News' or is it now irrelevant and inapplicable to our modern situation? Have we any guidance in our complex problems?

Christians turn to the Bible to hear what God is saying. In no part do we find the problems set out so convincingly as in 1 Corinthians. This book attempts a new and freshly conceived kind of Bible Study grouped round great themes and helped by paraphrases and exposition which takes account of modern Biblical scholarship and emphases.

GOD IN HIS WORLD

CHARLES S. DUTHIE

'A book capable of being made the basis of study by thoughtful groups in churches of any domination whose concern is Evangelism by all the church, for all the time, and in all of life.'

London Quarterly and Holborn Review
