Understanding Language Change

April M. S. McMahon

This new textbook will be accessible to all students with only an elementary knowledge of linguistics. In the first half of the book Dr McMahon analyses changes from every area of grammar. In the second she addresses recent developments in socio-historical linguistics, and looks at such topics as language contact, linguistic variation, pidgins and creoles, and language death.

Linguistics in America 1769–1924

A Critical History

Julie Tetel Andresen, Duke University, Virginia

'Greatly to be welcomed . . . [an] important and attractive book . . . It should be on every bibliography of the history of linguistics.' – Linguistics

'This pioneering study will merit, and undoubtedly receive, detailed reviews in academic journals where space is less at a premium than here. The present reviewer can only draw attention, briefly, to the importance of this study, which will be both fascinating and illuminating for historians of Western linguistics, whether in the USA or elsewhere.' – Henry Sweet Society Newsletter

NOTES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

Editorial address Professor Ian Roberts and Dr Robert D. Borsley, The Editors, Linguistics Department, School of English and Linguistics, University of Wales, Bangor, Gwynedd LL57 2DG, UK. (IR: elso11@bangor.ac.uk RDB: elsoo3@bangor.ac.uk).

Address for books for review and book reviews Dr Maggie Tallerman, Review Editor, Department of Linguistics and English Language, University of Durham, Elvet Riverside, Durham DH1 3JT, UK. (maggie.tallerman@durham.ac.uk).

Policy The Journal of Linguistics is concerned with all branches of linguistics (including phonetics). Preference is given to articles which make a substantial contribution to theoretical linguistics. Contributions are welcomed from linguists in all countries, and not merely from members of the Linguistics Association of Great Britain. The normal language of publication is English.

Preparation of manuscripts Contributors should submit three copies of their manuscript. Submitted papers will normally be read by two referees. The name(s) of the author(s) should not appear on the paper itself and, as far as possible, the author(s) should not be identifiable from the references in the text or the acknowledgements. Details of name(s), affiliation(s) and full postal and e-mail address(es) should be submitted on a separate sheet. Fax and telephone numbers should also be included.

The manuscript of an article should be accompanied by an abstract of about 100 words summarising the content. The abstract will appear in the published version of a paper.

Manuscripts should be submitted on A4 paper (US 11"×8½") with margins of at least 4cm (1½") on all four sides of each sheet. They may be single-spaced and/or double-sided, if desired. However, the manuscripts of the final version of papers accepted for publication must be double-spaced and single-sided, with the type no smaller than 12 points (12pt) throughout the manuscript. One copy of the final version should be submitted.

Proofs First proofs only of articles, notes and discussion, review articles and book reviews, but not shorter notices, will be sent with the edited manuscript to the (first-named) author, who will be expected to correct them and return them to the Editors, within three days of receipt.

Offprints 50 offprints will be supplied free of charge to authors of articles, notes and discussion and review articles. 25 offprints will be supplied free of charge to authors of book reviews and shorter notices. Further offprints may be purchased if they are ordered at proof stage.

THE LINGUISTICS ASSOCIATION OF GREAT BRITAIN

The Linguistics Association of Great Britain was founded in 1959 to promote the study of linguistics and to provide for its members both a forum for discussion and facilities for cooperation in furtherance of their interest in linguistics. The Association holds annual spring and autumn meetings, at which original papers are presented in plenary sessions and in workshops devoted to special interests.

Persons interested in linguistics are eligible for election as members, subject to the approval of the Committee. Subscribing members may receive the Journal of Linguistics at a substantial discount. Application forms for membership may be obtained from the Membership Secretary, address as below.
