

Eighteenth-Century Music

Editors

W. Dean Sutcliffe, University of Auckland, New Zealand

Nicholas Mathew, University of California, Berkeley, USA

Eighteenth-Century Music addresses a conspicuous gap in its field and serves as a prestigious forum for all eighteenth-century music research. The aims of this dedicated journal are: to draw together disparate areas of research, challenge accepted historical assumptions and adopt a broad and interdisciplinary approach which will serve the whole eighteenth-century music community.

Tempo

Editor

Calum MacDonald, Gloucestershire, UK

Tempo is the premier English-language journal devoted to twentieth-century and contemporary concert music. Literate and scholarly articles, often illustrated with music examples, explore many aspects of the work of composers throughout the world. Written in an accessible style, approaches range from the narrative to the strictly analytical. Tempo frequently ventures outside the acknowledged canon to reflect the diversity of the modern music scene. Issues feature interviews with leading contemporary composers, a tabulated news section, and lively and wide-ranging reviews of recent recordings, books and first performances around the world. Selected issues also contain specially-commissioned music supplements.

Cambridge Opera Journal

Editors

Suzanne Aspden, University of Oxford, UK

Steven Huebner, McGill University, Canada

For over twenty years the Cambridge Opera Journal has been the pre-eminent forum for scholarship on opera in all its manifestations. The Journal publishes essays not only on all aspects of the European operatic tradition, but also on American opera and musical theatre, on non-Western music theatres, on contemporary opera production, and on the theory and historiography of opera. Carefully researched and often illustrated with music examples and pictures, articles adopt a wide spectrum of critical approaches. As well as major articles, each issue includes reviews of recent important publications in the field.

Organised Sound

Editor

Leigh Landy, De Montfort University, Leicester, UK

Organised Sound is an international peer-reviewed journal which focuses on the rapidly developing methods and issues arising from the use of technology in music today. It concentrates upon the impact which the application of technology is having upon music in a variety of genres, including multimedia, performance art, sound sculpture and music ranging from popular idioms to experimental electroacoustic composition. It provides a unique forum for anyone interested in electroacoustic music studies, its creation and related developments to share the results of their research as they affect musical issues. An accompanying DVD is sent to subscribers annually.

Instructions for Contributors

Submissions should be made by email to the editors at <tcm@cambridge.org>. The preferred software (on PC or Macintosh platforms) is Microsoft Word; authors proposing to use different software are asked to consult with the editors. Submitted files should include a cover sheet giving the author's name, postal address, telephone number, and email address. To ensure anonymity during the refereeing process, the article itself should not display the name of the author. If articles are accepted for publication, authors will be asked to submit a final version both electronically and in hard copy. The publisher reserves the right to typeset any article by conventional means if the author's file proves unusable. Upon acceptance of a submission, the author will be asked to assign copyright (on certain conditions) to Cambridge University Press.

Articles should normally be between 6,000 and 9,000 words in length (main text); authors proposing longer or shorter submissions should seek the advice of the editors.

Unsolicited articles submitted by post cannot be returned unless a stamped envelope addressed to the author is also enclosed.

Submissions will be referred to two independent assessors, who may or may not be members of the Editorial Board.

Submissions are considered on the understanding that they have not been previously, and are not currently being, considered for publication elsewhere.

Authors will normally be notified within three months as to whether a submission has been accepted for publication.

Contributors are responsible for obtaining permission to reproduce any material for which they do not hold copyright and for ensuring that the appropriate acknowledgements are included in their typescript.

See <journals.cambridge.org/tcm> for an extended version of the Instructions for Contributors.
