SOVIET POLICY-MAKING

Studies of Communism in Transition

Edited by HENRY W. MORTON and PETER H. JUVILER. The essays in the anthology have a common aim: to define the basic forces currently shaping Soviet policy. The eight contributors, each a well-known specialist, are Henry W. Morton, Peter H. Juviler, Marshall I. Goldman, Peter Viereck, Maurice Friedberg, Loren Graham, Marianne Armstrong, and Robert Slusser. ca. 256 pp. December/$6.00 Cloth. U-610/ $2.25 Paper

SOVIET IDEOLOGY TODAY

GUSTAV A. WETTER. Translated by Peter Heath. The most recent official ideological textbook was published by the Soviets in 1959. In SOVIET IDEOLOGY TODAY, Father Wetter, one of the world's leading Marxism scholars, provides a succinct condensation of this official publication and a critique of modern Russian Communist theory. 334 pp. $8.50 Cloth

SOVIET MILITARY POLICY

A Historical Analysis

By RAYMOND L. GARTHOFF. "Illuminating to the informed layman, and to scholars generally. . . Here one can see and appreciate the advantages of an interdisciplinary approach. . . The book is not only very readable, but eminently quotable."—Library Journal. Dr. Garthoff is Special Assistant for Soviet Bloc Politico-Military Affairs in the Department of State. 276 pp. $6.50

SOVIET FOREIGN AID

By MARSHALL I. GOLDMAN. The author of Soviet Marketing assesses the results of the Soviet Union's $4 billion aid effort both in the satellite countries and in the nonaligned nations—and finds that, in spite of its successes, it has not been responsible for the conversion of a single country to Communism. ca. 352 pp. December/$10.00

TOTALITARIAN DICTATORSHIP AND AUTOCRACY

Second Edition

By CARL J. FRIEDRICH and ZBIGNIEW K. BRZEZINSKI. Revised by Carl J. Friedrich. In this major revision of the pioneering study first published in 1956, Professor Friedrich reassesses the theory and practice of totalitarian dictatorship in the light of developments over the past decade. World Politics said of the original edition: "Will be immensely useful to all students of totalitarianism and, more broadly, of comparative government and politics." 427 pp. U-522/$2.95 Paper

New AAASS Directory

The 1966 edition of the Directory of the American Association for the Advancement of Slavic Studies is now available. The new Directory, superseding that published in 1962, provides information concerning persons specializing in the study of Slavic and Eastern Europe. For each of the approximately 1650 persons who were members at the end of 1965, the Directory lists occupational titles, office and residence addresses, academic degrees received (with field, institution, and year), and major fields of competence. In addition to the alphabetical listing there is a geographical distribution of members' names by states and cities and also a listing under 20 disciplines or areas of interest.

This Directory may be purchased for $5.00 from the office of the AAASS, 1207 West Oregon Street, University of Illinois, Urbana, Illinois 61801. It is distributed free to all members of the Association.

Membership Invitation

Membership in the American Association for the Advancement of Slavic Studies, a professional organization embracing the social sciences and humanities in Slavic, East European, and Soviet affairs, is open to scholars academically concerned with the field or to individuals personally interested.

In addition to publishing its quarterly journal, the Slavic Review, the Association and its regional affiliates hold periodic conferences on both specialized and general themes concerning this field, which has in recent years enjoyed an extraordinary expansion of institutional and educational activity.

Members also receive the annual American Bibliography of Russian and East European Studies, the twice yearly Newsletter, plus the Directory, the new edition of which is described above.

For requirements and costs of membership, consult the "News of the Profession" section of this issue.
