INSTRUCTIONS FOR SUBMITTING MANUSCRIPTS

Manuscripts for consideration should be submitted by post or courier in three double-spaced copies. Notes and block quotations should also be double-spaced; notes should be placed at the end of the manuscript and not at the bottom of the page. Library of Congress transliteration and the Chicago Manual of Style are to be followed. Submitted manuscripts may use either the humanities style (endnotes) or the author-date-bibliography system, though accepted articles will need to be revised to conform to Slavic Review's house style. Manuscripts are sent to outside readers in anonymous form and should be prepared accordingly.

In general, articles should not exceed 8,000 words, excluding notes. Please indicate the word count on the cover page of the manuscript. Accepted manuscripts will be copyedited electronically, and authors will be asked to submit an electronic version. Submissions will not be returned.

The policy of Slavic Review is not to consider materials that have been published in any form or language or that are being considered for publication elsewhere. Slavic Review is the journal of the Association for Slavic, East European, and Eurasian Studies, whose members support the journal through their dues. Slavic Review expects the authors of articles published in the journal to belong to the association.

All the Same The Words Don't Go Away: Essays on Authors, Heroes, Aesthetics, and Stage Adaptations from the Russian Tradition

All the Same The Words Don't Go Away brings together twenty-five years of essays and reviews, linked loosely by three themes. The first explores the legacy of Mikhail Bakhtin: his ideas of dialogue and carnival, and the debates ignited by each. The second delves into three "master workers" of the Russian tradition: Pushkin, Tolstoy, and Dostoevsky. In this section, emphasis is comparative: the riddle of Pushkin's life, why "Tolstoy versus Dostoevsky," how Chekhov reads Tolstoy, why Kundera dislikes Dostoevsky and Tolstoy dislikes Shakespeare. The final section addresses the transposition of classic literary texts into other media through musical works by Musorgsky, Tchaikovsky, Shostakovich, and Prokofiev. This volume will be of interest to comparatists and students in interdisciplinary humanities.

Vladimir Soloviev and the Spiritualization of Matter

By Oliver Smith

ISBN 978-1-936235-17-9 (cloth) $59.00 / £49.50 322 pp.

Approaching him through a single synoptic lens, this book foregrounds Vladimir Soloviev's unique envisioning of the interaction between humanity and the material world. By investigating the development of a single theme in his work—his idea of the 'spiritualization of matter,' the 'task' of humanity—Smith constructs a rounded picture of Soloviev's overall importance to an understanding of nineteenth-century thought, as well as to modern theology and philosophy.

50 Writers:

An Anthology of 20th Century Russian Short Stories

Transl. by Valentina Brougher, and Frank Miller, with Mark Lipovetsky

ISBN 978-1-936235-14-8 (cloth) $69.00 / £57.50 792 pp.

The largest, most comprehensive anthology of its kind, this volume brings together significant, representative stories from every decade of the 20th century. It includes the prose of officially recognized writers and dissidents, both well-known and neglected or forgotten, plus new authors from the end of the 20th century. The selections reflect the various literary trends and approaches to depicting reality in the 20th century: traditional realism, modernism, socialist realism, and post-modernism. Taken as a whole, the stories capture every major aspect of Russian life, history and culture in the 20th century.

Creating the Empress:

Politics and Poetry in the Age of Catherine II

By Vera Proskurina

ISBN 978-1-936235-50-6 (cloth) $55.00 / £45.99 310 pp.

In Creating the Empress, Vera Proskurina examines the interaction between power and poetry in creating the imperial image of Catherine the Great, providing a detailed analysis of a wide range of Russian literary works from this period, particularly the main Classical myths associated with Catherine (Amazon, Astraea, Pallas Athena, Felicitas, Fortune, etc.), as well as how these Classical subjects affirmed imperial ideology and the monarch's power.
