

Notes on the Contributors

Tanella Boni was born in 1954 in Abidjan, Côte d'Ivoire. She attended primary school and the early years of secondary in the north of the country, then the lycée in Abidjan. She continued her higher education in Toulouse then in Paris (docteur d'État ès lettres). For the last 15 years Tanella Boni has been living in Abidjan with her family. She is a lecturer in philosophy at the University of Abidjan and was President of the Association des Écrivains de Côte d'Ivoire from 1991 to 1997. Among her publications are: Une vie de crabe, 1990; Les Baigneurs du Lac Rose, 1995 (novels); Labyrinthe, 1984; Grain de sable, 1993; Il n'y a pas de parole heureuse, 1997 (poetry); 'Peau de sel', a short story in Les Chaînes de l'esclavage, 1998, etc. Address: c/o Diogenes, ICPHS, UNESCO, 1, rue Miollis, 75015 Paris, France.

Abdelwahab Bouhdiba is President of the Académie Tunisienne des Lettres, des Sciences et des Arts, the European Academy of Letters, Science and Arts, as well as the Cairo and Damascus Arabic Academies. Professor of Islamic and Maghreb Sociology at the Universities of Tunis, he has published many books, some of which have been translated into several languages: Criminalité et changements sociaux; À la recherche des normes perdues; Raisons d'être; L'Imaginaire maghrébin; Quêtes sociologiques; La Sexualité et l'Islam, etc. Address: c/o Diogenes.

Giordana Charuty is an ethnologist of Europe and has been successively director of research at the CNRS and director of studies at the École Pratique des Hautes Études V, holder of the chair of 'Ethnologie religieuse de l'Europe'. She was a member of the Toulouse Centre for Anthropology (EHESS–CNRS), then the Nanterre Laboratoire d'ethnologie et de sociologie comparative (CNRS–Université de Paris X). Publications: Le couvent des fous. L'internement et ses usages en Languedoc aux XIXe et XXe siècles, 1985; (editor) Nel paese del tempo. Antropologia dell'Europa cristiana, 1995; Mariage, folie et mort. Pratiques chrétiennes de la folie en Europe occidentale, 1997. She has published many articles in Ethnologie française, L'Homme, Terrain, Le Débat, Gradhiva, etc. Address: École Pratique des Hautes Études, 45, rue des Écoles, F-75005 Paris, France. [email: charuty.gior@freesurf.fr]

Micheline Galley is honorary director of research at the Centre National de la Recherche Scientifique, and is a field researcher. An ethnologist of the Arab world,

Copyright © ICPHS 2005

SAGE: London, Thousand Oaks, CA and New Delhi, www.sagepublications.com

DOI: 10.1177/0392192105050620

she has worked mainly in North Africa and Malta on literatures from the oral tradition (Arabic dialects) and especially the Geste hilalienne, life stories, agrarian rituals and folk art. Among her books is: Maria Calleja's Gozo, Utah University Press and UNESCO, 1994. From 1972 to 1987, she was general secretary of the International Association for the Study of Mediterranean Civilizations and organized interdisciplinary meetings on the topic of contacts between Mediterranean cultures, supervising publication of their proceedings (Algiers 1973, 1978 and Tunis 1985). Her latest book is Le figuier magique, 2003. Address [email: m.galley@noos.fr]

Vincent Goossaert was born in Dunkirk (France) in 1969. He is a historian of Chinese society and religion at CNRS and is vice-director of the GSRL (Groupe de Sociologie des Religions et de la Laïcité). He wrote his PhD dissertation (at EPHE) on the early history of the Taoist Quanzhen order (1170–1368), under the supervision of Kristopher Schipper. After an essay on Chinese religion (Dans les temples de la Chine, 2000) and an edited volume on anticlericalism in China (Extrême-Orient Extrême-Occident, 2002), he has written two forthcoming books on the Chinese beef taboo and the Taoist clergy in Peking, 1800–1949. He is a member of several editorial committees (Archives de Sciences Sociales des Religions, Extrême-Orient Extrême-Occident) and editorial secretary for Sanjiao wenxian. Address: GSRL, 59–61, rue Pouchet, 75849 Paris Cedex 17, France. [email: goossaer@ext.jussieu.fr]

Rosa Guerreiro was born in Rio de Janeiro in 1952. She studied at Geneva University (degree in medieval history and Islamology) and wrote her thesis for Paris–IV Sorbonne on the culture and civilizations of the Iberian peninsula from the transition from late antiquity to the height of the Middle Ages. She was awarded a certificate from the École Pratique des Hautes Études, Section IV, in codicology (History and Philology). A researcher attached to the CNRS (laboratoire Lenain de Tillemont–History of Religions) at Paris–IV Sorbonne and invited lecturer at the École des Hautes Études en Sciences Sociales (EHESS), she has taught at the EHESS on the transmission of the cultures and knowledge of the three cultural communities of the Iberian peninsula (Jews, Christians and Muslims) and the circulation of manuscripts and work in medieval scriptoria. Since 1995 she has been a UNESCO Programme specialist (dialogue between religions and cultures in the Intercultural Dialogue Division). Address: UNESCO, 1, rue Miollis, 75014 Paris, France. [email: r.guerreiro@unesco.org]

Jean-Luc Lambert is an ethnologist and lecturer on religious movements in the Russian and Russianized world (18th–21st centuries) in the Section des sciences religieuses at the École Pratique des Hautes Études. His research is particularly concerned with forms of religious interaction in Russia. He is the author of Sortir de la Nuit: essai sur le chamanisme nganassane (Arctique sibérien), 2002–3 [Études Mongoles et Sibériennes nos 33–4]. Address: École Pratique des Hautes Études, 45, rue des Écoles, F-75005 Paris, France. [email: jvlamber@club-internet.fr]

Matthew T. Kapstein is Professor of the History and Philosophy of Religions in the Divinity School, University of Chicago, and Director of Studies at the École Pratique

des Hautes Études, Paris. He has degrees in Sanskrit (University of California, Berkeley) and philosophy (Brown University, Providence). Among his books are: The Tibetan Assimilation of Buddhism: Conversion, Contestation, and Memory, 2000; Reason's Traces: Identity and Interpretation in Indian and Tibetan Buddhist Thought, 2001; and, with the anthropologist Melvyn C. Goldstein, Buddhism in Contemporary Tibet: Religious Revival and Cultural Identity, 1998. More recently he has edited The Presence of Light: Divine Radiance and Religious Experience, 2004. Address: École Pratique des Hautes Études, 45, rue des Écoles, F-75005 Paris, France. [email: m-kapstein@uchicago.edu]

Renée Koch Piettre lectures at the École Pratique des Hautes Études, Paris. A specialist in the religions of ancient Greece, she wrote her thesis on Greek epiphanies (Le corps des dieux dans les épiphanies divines en Grèce ancienne), and will shortly publish a monograph entitled Comment peut-on être dieu? L'anthropomorphisme divin dans l'épicurisme antique (Paris, Belin, 2005). During her teaching at the University Charles-de-Gaulle – Lille 3, she contributed in particular to the review Uranie, Mythes et littératures (1996–2003). She is co-editor of a forthcoming volume on sacrifice in ancient Mediterranean societies (La cuisine et l'autel, Turnhout, Brepols, 2004). Her research is currently concerned with the epistemology in religious studies. Address: École Pratique des Hautes Études, 45, rue des Écoles, F-75005 Paris, France. [email: reneekp@wanadoo.fr]

Arnaud Sérandour carries out research at the Institut d'Études Sémitiques in the Collège de France and teaches at the École Pratique des Hautes Études (Paris). Specializing in the Bible (Old Testament), he has studied particularly the prophetic texts. A contributor to several specialized journals (Transeuphratène, Revue des études juives, Semitica), he is currently preparing two books for publication, Les visions du prophète Zacharie, miroirs des institutions de Judée, and Les livres d'Esdras et de Néhémie, des textes aux institutions. Address: Institut d'Études Sémitiques, Collège de France, 52, rue du Cardinal Lemoine, 75231 Paris, France. [email: arnaud.serandour@college-de-france.fr]

Kwasi Wiredu who was born in Ghana, studied at Ghana and Oxford Universities. He is professor of philosophy at the University of South Florida and is interested in the philosophy of logic, epistemology, metaphysics and, of course, African philosophy. He has been visiting professor at the universities of California, Los Angeles; Ibadan, Nigeria; Richmond, Virginia; Carleton College, Minnesota; and Duke, North Carolina. Among his publications are: Philosophy and an African Culture, 1981; Cultural Universals and Particulars: An African Perspective, 1996; A Companion to African Philosophy, 2004; as well as several articles on logic, epistemology and African philosophy in various specialist journals in Africa, UK, Europe and USA. Address: Department of Philosophy, University of South Florida, Tampa, FL 33620, USA. [email: kwiredu@cas.usf.edu]

Haïm Zafrani died on 31 March 2004 after publication of this issue of Diogenes in French and while the English translation was in preparation. He was emeritus professor of the Université de Paris VIII where he directed the department of Hebrew and Jewish civilization as well as two research groups in the university and the CNRS. He chaired the panel for the agrégation in Hebrew from 1981 to 1988 and was appointed as an expert to the university assessment board in 1989 and 1994. He was the author of a large number of books and more than 150 articles on Jewish thought, literatures and languages in the Muslim West. Two international scientific prizes were awarded to some of these works. He was a corresponding member of the Académie du Royaume du Maroc and Fellow of the Institute for Advanced Studies (Hebrew University, Jerusalem). Publications: Pédagogie juive en terre d'Islam, 1969; Les Juifs du Maroc, vie sociale, économique et religieuse, Tagganot et Responsa, 1972; Poésie juive en Occident musulman, 1977; Littératures dialectales et populaires juives en Occident musulman, 1980; Mille ans de vie juive au Maroc, 1983; Kabbale, vie mystique et magie, 1986; Éthique et mystique, 1991; Juifs d'Andalousie et du Maghreb, 1996; Traditions poétiques et musicales juives en Occident musulman, 1998; Deux mille ans de vie juive au Maroc, 1998; Le monde de la légende, 2003. Address: Correspondence about this article should be sent to the journal editor.

Acknowledgements

The editors of Diogenes extend their warmest thanks to those who have helped, in whatever way, in the preparation of this issue: Véronique Aldebert, Dominique Arnouil, Christian Caduc, Stéphane Cohen, Pierrette Friedman, Roberte Hamayon, Emo Lessi, Stéphanie Regner, Reynaldo Harguinteguy, Lina Fontana, Maurice Aymard, Rosa Guerreiro, Abdou Filali-Ansary, Souleymane Bachir Diagne, Christian Jacob, Haïm Zafrani, Micheline Galley, Abdelwahab Bouhdiba, Madame Leïla, Luca Maria Scarantino, Michiko Tanaka, Liamara Conti, Adriano Vinale, Vittorio Dini, Simona D'Arienzo, Aurélien Conraux, Peter Gray, Dominique Vaudoiset.

Also to Mohamed Salih Ziadaht and Zoé Michèle Cartron in the Section des Histoires Générales et Régionales at UNESCO.

A very special thank you to Janette Arnulf for her valuable assistance and the time she has generously given us. And to Tanella Boni, editorial assistant for this issue.