

Contents

List of Figures	page vi
List of Tables	vii
Acknowledgments	viii
Introduction: Constituting Religion	1
1 The Constitutive Power of Law and Courts	13
2 The Secular Roots of Islamic Law in Malaysia	31
3 Islam and Liberal Rights in the Federal Constitution	49
4 The Judicialization of Religion	63
5 Constructing the Political Spectacle: Liberal Rights versus Religion in the Court of Public Opinion	91
6 The Rights-versus-Rites Binary in Popular Legal Consciousness	124
7 “Islam is the Religion of the Federation”	138
Conclusion	155
Appendix 1: Religion of the State, Source Law, and Repugnancy Clause Provisions among Muslim-Majority Countries	159
Bibliography	164
Index	178