MURDO EWEN MACDONALD

The Call to Obey

The second collection of sermons by the author of The Vitality of Faith—which includes some of the finest sermons of our time. In the tradition of the great Scottish preachers he speaks with wisdom and Christian scholarship of theology for the ordinary reader, in direct relation with contemporary life. 15s.

Moody Without Sankey

J. C. POLLOCK

author of Hudson Taylor and Maria

The first full-scale biography for many years, based on hitherto unpublished material, of the great nineteenth century evangelist. 'One of the best and most balanced accounts of Moody that we have. It is a fascinating book, and it will help to keep alive the story of an era in evangelism that ought never to be forgotten.' PROFESSOR J. S. STEWART, Moderator of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland. 21s.

Cannibal Valley

RUSSELL T. HITT

The thrilling account in the tradition of the Auca books of the spiritual advance into the 'valley that time forgot' in Dutch New Guinea by brave missionaries who risked their lives to bring the Gospel to Stone Age Dani tribesmen. By the author of the best-selling Jungle Pilot. illustrated. 18s.

Christian Sex Ethics

V. A. DEMANT

A reasoned discussion of sex, love and marriage from the Christian standpoint, a discussion soundly rooted in history, sociology and psychology. 3s. 6d.
