

Thrombolysis for acute ischemic stroke: does it work?—the con position – ERRATUM

doi: 10.1017/cem.2015.14

In the original publication of “Thrombolysis for acute ischemic stroke: does it work?—the con position,” the Competing Interests section incorrectly stated that the author, Chris Johnstone, was declaring financial benefit from Boehringer Ingelheim. This was not the case. The asterisked authors cited throughout the article (Wardlaw, Hacke et al., Wahlgren et al., Hill et al., and Albers et al.) had financial conflicts of interest, not the author of the article. The CJEM editors regret this error.

REFERENCE

1. Johnstone C. Thrombolysis for acute ischemic stroke: does it work?—the con position. CJEM 2015;17(2):180-3.