

ISRAEL LAW REVIEW

Hebrew University Faculty of Law

Israel's Leading English-Language Law Journal

The Israel Law Review has for over three decades been an indispensable tool for the English-speaking jurist interested in the principal developments of law in Israel. The Review contains articles on contemporary Israeli law, Jewish law, international law, comparative law, and topics of general legal interest, as well as digests of major decisions laid down by the Israeli Supreme Court.

SPECIAL ISSUES

- The parallel applicability of international humanitarian law and international human rights law has become in recent years part of the legal orthodoxy in international law. Although the ICJ has recognized the lex specialis nature of IHL in armed conflicts, complex questions pertaining to the applicability of the lex specialis rule remain. This issue examines the problems and challenges generated by the increased acceptance of the doctrine of parallel application.
