The African Studies Review is edited by the Center for African Studies, University of Florida. All editorial correspondence and manuscripts should be sent to: R. Hunt Davis, Jr., Editor, African Studies Review, Center for African Studies, 470 GRI, University of Florida, Gainesville, Florida 32611, U.S.A.

Book reviews are edited by Melvin E. Page, Associate Editor. All correspondence regarding book reviews should be addressed to Melvin Page, Associate Editor, African Studies Review, Department of History, Murray State University, Murray, Kentucky 42071, U.S.A.

All manuscripts should be submitted in triplicate. Manuscripts should be typed double-spaced (notes, excerpts, and references should also be double-spaced) and should be clear and dark. Please do not use erasable or onionskin paper. Maps, tables, charts, graphs, and other illustrations must be camera-ready. Manuscripts should conform to the recommendations of the latest edition of A Manual of Style (University of Chicago Press); a Review style sheet may be secured from the editors. Footnotes and references should appear at the end of the manuscript. Manuscripts will be submitted without the name of the author to outside readers; please include a removable cover page giving title, authorship, affiliation, and address; the article itself should carry only the title. The Review will only consider manuscripts that have not been published elsewhere and are not being considered by other journals.

NOTICE TO MEMBERS: The United States Postal System does not forward periodicals. We must receive written notification from you at least five weeks in advance of any change of mailing address. Failure to notify us of your correct mailing address will result in suspension of your membership until we receive such notification. We can make address changes only when current dues are paid. Domestic claims for non-receipt of issues must be made to the association's office within six months of the month of publication (overseas claims, one year). Copies of the Review damaged in the mail will be replaced without charge.

The African Studies Review is published four times a year (March, June, September, and December) by the African Studies Association, 255 Kinsey Hall, University of California-Los Angeles, 405 Hilgard Avenue, Los Angeles, California 90024, U.S.A. Articles in the Review represent neither the views of the African Studies Association nor those of its officers; responsibility for opinions expressed and for the accuracy of facts published rests solely with the individual authors. The publishers of the African Studies Review assume that contributors to the journal are literate in the English language, coherent in thought, and conversant with the principles of scholarship. The publisher has not copyedited this material; responsibility for copyediting is entirely the author's.

CONTENTS

The Joint Committee on African Studies of the American Council of Learned Societies and the Social Science Research Council commissioned the two papers contained in this issue for presentation at the Twenty-sixth Annual Meeting of the African Studies Association, December, 1983, Boston, Massachusetts, as part of its continuing series of papers assessing the current state of social science and humanistic research on Africa. The African Studies Review welcomes the opportunity to publish these major papers once again this year.

CONTRIBUTORS

SARA BERRY is an Associate Professor of Economics and African History at Boston University. A member of the African Studies Review Editorial Board, Berry is a specialist in economic development, economic history, and agrarian change. Her most recent work, Fathers Work for Their Sons: Accumulation, Mobility, and Class Formation in an Extended Yoruba Community, was published by the University of California Press in 1984.

BILL FREUND, formerly on the history faculty at Harvard University, is currently at the African Studies Institute, University of Witwatersrand. An interest in labor history led to the publication of Capital and Labour in the Nigerian Tin Mines (1981) and a number of articles. His most recent book, The Making of Contemporary Africa (1984), is a reinterpretation of Sub-Saharan African History since 1800 from a materialist perspective.
