

History from Johns Hopkins

Urban Capitalists

Entrepreneurs and City Growth in Pennsylvania's
Lackawanna and Lehigh Regions, 1800-1920

Burton W. Folsom, Jr.

Urban Capitalists is an authoritative examination of city building in industrial America and of the vital contributions of individuals in shaping the nation's growth.

Burton W. Folsom, Jr., combines economic, social, and regional history to trace the rise of Scranton and Bethlehem, Pennsylvania. He describes how aggressive, farsighted entrepreneurs were able to outfight competitors from nearby towns, devise workable ways to compensate for the scarcity of important natural resources in their areas, and build manufacturing centers of international importance. $16.50

The European Demographic System, 1500-1820

Michael W. Flinn

In this book, Michael W. Flinn draws together local demographic research from many countries to trace and explain some of the profound changes in the European population from the sixteenth to the early nineteenth century. Based solely on published statistical results, this study classifies by country and era data for ten principal demographic measures relating to birth, marriage, and death. Economic, administrative, agrarian, and epidemiological background complete the picture begun by the statistics.

Flinn's research represents a tremendous step forward for the study of demographic history, and his extensive bibliography will be an invaluable resource for historians doing further work in the field. $15.00

 Johns Hopkins

The Johns Hopkins University Press, Baltimore, Maryland 21218

Capitalism and the State in Modern France

Renovation and Economic Management in the Twentieth Century

Richard F. Kuysel

This study of how and why French capitalism became "modern" in the twentieth century focuses on the role of the French state between 1890 and 1950. It follows the transition of French capitalism from a system of small-scale production and restrained economic growth to one of full-scale industrialization and an open economy.

$37.50

The Italian Cotton Industry in the Later Middle Ages, 1100–1600

Maureen Fennell Mazzaoui

Professor Mazzaoui traces the advances in textile technology and the changes in the structure of demand that accompanied the rise of an industry geared to the mass production of cotton fabrics. The expansion of the cotton trade in the Mediterranean, the degree and pace of technological innovation, the growth of entrepreneurial structures, and the diversification of products are surveyed.

$49.50

The Mandarin-Capitalists from Nanyang

Overseas Chinese Enterprise in the Modernisation of China 1892–1911

Michael R. Godley

A study of the political and commercial influence of the overseas Chinese in South-East Asia on the modernization of China in the closing decades of the imperial era.

$39.50

The Political Economy of Nasserism

A Study of Employment and Income Distribution Policies in Urban Egypt, 1952–72

Mahmoud Abdel-Fadil

Working with a great variety of statistical material, this book investigates some crucial aspects of the political economy of Nasserism.

The emphasis is on the employment and income redistribution policies, particularly with regard to the urban sector, pursued under the Nasser regime. Department of Applied Economics Occasional Paper 52

Hardcover $24.95 Paper $13.95

The Economic History of Britain Since 1700

Volume 1: 1700–1860

Volume 2: 1860 to the 1970s

Roderick Floud and Donald McCloskey, Editors

Thirty preeminent experts offer a fresh synthesis of British economic history from 1700 to the present. They take full account of the findings of both the "new" and the "old" economic history and include much specially commissioned research.

Volume 1 Hardcover $39.50 Paper $11.50

Volume 2 Hardcover $44.50 Paper $16.95

The Definition of a Peripheral Economy

Turkey 1923–1929

Caglar Keyder

A case study of the ways in which the forces of capitalism acted upon and structured the peripheral formation of the Turkish economy. Professor Keyder illuminates the relationship of dependent economies to the capitalist world system.

Studies in Modern Capitalism

$34.50

'Ten Per Cent and No Surrender'

The Preston Strike, 1853–1854

H. I. Dutton and J. E. King

The story of the bitter contest fought between owners and employees of the cotton industry in the town of Preston. Occurring at a time when the economy was on the threshold of mid-Victorian prosperity and when Chartism was still much more than a memory, the strike closed factories and disrupted production in many other Lancashire towns.

$39.50

Masters, Unions and Men

The Struggle for Work Control in Building and the Rise of Labor, 1830–1914

Richard Price

"His achievement is to be applauded: this is a book of immense intelligence and scholarship which goes far towards establishing a new framework for the course of British industrial relations between 1830 and 1914."—Journal of Economic History

$39.95

Cambridge University Press

32 East 57th Street, New York, N.Y. 10022

Two by Kenneth W. Thompson

Cold War Theories

Volume I, World Polarization, 1944–1953

In this first of a two-volume examination of the origins, causes, and development of the Cold War, Thompson offers a broad and specific account of its history and historians. $18.95

The President and the Public Philosophy

This noted spokesman for ethics and morality in politics examines the problems of our nation and offers solutions and challenges to any citizen, especially one who trusts statistics like a “robot bobbing on an ocean of numbers.” $14.95

Shucks, Shocks, and Hominy Blocks

Corn as a Way of Life in Pioneer America

Nicholas P. Hardeman

Drawings by Linda M. Steele

Convincingly, Hardeman demonstrates that American history can be measured by the shaping force of a silent monarch—corn. $20.00

The Radical Persuasion, 1890–1917

Aspects of the Intellectual History and the Historiography of Three American Radical Organizations

Aileen S. Kraditor

“The writing of the history of American radicalism should be different as a consequence of this work.”—Herbert G. Gutman
$37.50, cloth; $12.95, paper

Labor, Church, and the Sugar Establishment

Louisiana, 1887–1976

Thomas Becnel

This study seeks to explain the complex economic, racial, and religious relationships among church, labor, and plantation owners in Louisiana. $20.00

Louisiana State University Press

Baton Rouge 70803

Robert A. Trennert, Jr.

Indian Traders on the Middle Border

In this chronicle of frontier business and political influence, Trennert examines the extent of the relationship between businessmen and policy makers and presents an entirely new perspective on the nation's treatment of the native population. By focusing on the activities of a single trading house, this study offers the first systematic investigation of the professional Indian policy. Trennert looks at the many aspects of nineteenth-century Indian affairs from an economic point of view and provides a significant understanding of the workings of removal contractors, of Indian claims cases, of the questionable motives behind some treaty negotiations, and of the political pressures involved in the formulation of Indian policy, as well as a unique look at entrepreneurship during the Jacksonian period. xvi, 264 pages, illustrated. $17.95

University of Nebraska Press

901 North 17th Street Lincoln 68588

THE ARTHUR H. COLE GRANTS-IN-AID

For Research in Economic History

- are awarded each year to supplement other sources of research support;
- are biased in favor of young post-doctorates turning dissertations into publishable articles and monographs, but are open to all;
- are awarded by the six-member Committee on Research in Economic History on the basis of an application due on April 1 each year;
- are granted for research in any geographic region in the world and in any time period;
- are described in more detail in a prospectus sent out by the Secretary, Council on Research in Economic History, The Economic History Association, Box 3630, Wilmington, Delaware 19807.

LibertyPress LibertyClassics

Economic Calculation in the Socialist Society

By Trygve J. B. Hoff

A systematic examination of ideas and methods which socialists have proposed as substitutes for market prices in solving the problem of economic calculation. Includes a summary of critiques of socialist proposals and a survey of analyses showing the impossibility of economic calculation in the socialist society, with the author's own findings as an impartial investigator into the historical controversy.

The Introduction by Professor Karen I. Vaughn of George Mason University sets the historical and theoretical background of the debate.

Hardcover $9.00, Paperback $4.00.

Prepayment is required on all orders not for resale. We pay postage on prepaid orders. Please allow 4 to 6 weeks for delivery. All orders from outside the United States must be prepaid in U.S. dollars. To order, or for a copy of our catalogue, write:

LibertyPress/LibertyClassics
7440 North Shadeland, Dept. 137
Indianapolis, IN 46250