E-Mail: Bert.Peeters@mq.edu.au

Les langues du JFLS sont l'anglais et le français. Les auteurs sont invités à soumettre articles et comptes-rendus dans la langue qu'ils maîtrisent le mieux.

Aucun article présenté au JFLS n'aura ni été soumis simultanément pour une évaluation à une autre revue scientifique, ni fait l'objet d'une publication préalable ailleurs.

COPYRIGHT

Les auteurs doivent obtenir eux-mêmes les autorisations de citation lorsqu'elles sont soumises à copyright. Il sera demandé aux auteurs dévolution de copyright au profit de Cambridge University Press, sous des conditions à préciser.

PRÉPARATION DES MANUSCRITS

1. Les propositions d'articles doivent être soumises sous forme électronique, logiciel Microsoft Word ou Rich Text Format (.rtf) à jfls@newcastle.ac.uk. (La voie électronique permet une évaluation plus rapide.)
2. Tous les manuscrits soumis à JFLS sont évalués de façon complètement anonyme. Toute référence à l'auteur et tout matériel permettant d'identifier l'auteur doivent donc être éliminés (mais peuvent cependant être inclus dans un document séparé ou email, si besoin est).
3. La longueur des articles sera normalement entre 6000 et 8000 mots. L'auteur indiquera à la fin le nombre de mots. Les propositions de comptes-rendus ne dépasseront pas le nombre de mots agréé au préalable.
4. Établis sur papier A4 (ou de format équivalent), les manuscrits auront double interligne et les marges ne seront pas inférieures à 4 cm (1.5 pouces).
5. Les manuscrits d'articles seront précédés d'un résumé d'environ 100 mots présentant le contenu conceptuel de la contribution. Le résumé en double interligne sera présenté sur page séparée.

6. Pour les articles comme pour les comptes-rendus, tous les paragraphes sauf le premier commenceront par un retrait. Il n'y aura pas d'espace supplémentaire entre les paragraphes. Les paragraphes ne seront pas numérotés.

7. Les citations seront introduites par des guillemets simples, les double guillemets n'étant utilisés que pour les citations à l'intérieur de citations. Les citations de plus de 60 mots environ seront disjointes du texte et décalées de la marge gauche. Elles seront présentées sans guillemet.

8. Les tableaux, figures et graphiques, à l'exclusion des simples règles, exemples et formules, seront présentés chacun sur page séparée. Ils seront numérotés en continu de façon appropriée 'Figure 2', 'Tableau 4'. Dans le texte, on y renverra par ce numéro et jamais par une formule du genre 'voir la figure suivante'.

9. Autant que possible, les transcriptions phonétiques seront conformes à l'Alphabet Phonétique International (API/IPA). Elles n'excéderont pas en étroitesse ni en précision ce qui est absolument nécessaire à l'analyse présentée.

10. On évitera les allusions sexistes et autrement blessantes.

11. Lorsqu'un article a été accepté, on demandera à l'auteur de fournir une copie de la version finale sous forme Microsoft Word ou .rtf, en plus de la version finale papier (ou .pdf). L'éditeur se réserve le droit de modifier le manuscrit si la version électronique fournie par l'auteur se révèle inadéquate.

12. Les manuscrits, tant d'articles que de comptes-rendus, sont définitifs et les épreuves ne doivent pas donner lieu à des révisions d'auteur.

RÉFÉRENCES

1. On évitera, autant que faire se peut, les notes infrapaginales.

2. Pour les citations et références, on indiquera dans le corps du texte le nom de l'auteur, la date de publication et les numéros de pages entre parenthèses (Dupont, 2002: 56–58). Lorsque cela est nécessaire, on distinguera les publications d'un même auteur et d'une même année par des lettres minuscules (a, b, c) placées après la date. Les références multiples seront ordonnées par date et séparées par des point-virgules. Pour les co-auteurs, on utilisera 'et' et non '&'.

3. La liste complète des références citées, présentée en ordre alphabétique de nom d'auteur et en double interligne, sera jointe à la fin de l'article. On indiquera le lieu de publication ainsi que l'éditeur. Les titres de livres, articles et comptes-rendus seront complets et développés conformément aux exemples ci-dessous:

Notes for Contributors

Contributions and correspondence should be sent to:

Professor Julia Herschensohn
Department of Linguistics
University of Washington, Box 354340
Seattle WA 98195-4340
USA
E-Mail: jfls@u.washington.edu

Material for review and review copy should be sent to:

Assoc. Prof. Bert Peeters
French and Francophone Studies
Department of International Studies
Macquarie University NSW 2109
Australia
E-Mail: Bert.Peeters@mq.edu.au

The languages of the journal are French and English. Contributors should submit articles and reviews in the language they are most comfortable with.

Submission of an article is taken to imply that it has not been previously published, and has not been submitted for publication elsewhere.

COPYRIGHT

Authors are responsible for obtaining necessary permissions to quote copyright material. They will be requested to assign their copyright, on certain conditions, to Cambridge University Press.

PREPARATION OF MANUSCRIPTS

1. Articles should be submitted in Microsoft Word or Rich Text format (.rtf) to jfls@u.washington.edu (Electronic submission speeds up the international refereeing process.)
2. JFLS carries out double-blind peer-review and manuscripts should be completely anonymous. Any acknowledgements or other self-identifying material should be removed from the article itself and may be included in a separate document or a covering email, if desired.
3. Journal articles should normally be between 6000 and 8000 words. Authors should indicate the approximate number of words at the end of their text. Reviews should not exceed the number of words agreed beforehand.

Notes for Contributors

4. All copy must be double-spaced throughout on A4 paper (or equivalent), with margins of at least 4 cm (1.5 inches).

5. The typescript of an article should be preceded by an abstract of about 100 words summarising its conceptual content, which should be typed (double-spaced) on a separate page.

6. In both articles and reviews, all paragraphs except the first should be indented. There should be no blank line between paragraphs. Paragraphs should not be individually numbered.

7. Quotations should be marked by single inverted commas, with double inverted commas reserved for quotations within quotations. Quotations longer than about 60 words should be set off from the text and indented from the left-hand margin, without inverted commas.

8. Tables, charts and diagrams (though not simple rules, examples or formulae) must each appear on a separate page, and must be labelled 'Figure 2', 'Table 4', as appropriate. In-text references should use the same number, and never an expression like 'see the following diagram'.

9. Phonetic transcriptions should, wherever possible, make use of the symbols of the International Phonetic Alphabet, and should be no 'narrower' than is absolutely necessary for the purpose.

10. Sexist and other offensive language should be avoided.

11. When an article has been accepted for publication, authors are asked to send an electronic copy of the final version in Microsoft Word or Rich Text format, together with a printed copy (or .pdf version) identical in all respects to the electronic version. However, the publisher reserves the right to typeset material by conventional means if an author's electronic version proves unsatisfactory.

12. Typescripts, whether of articles or reviews, should be definitive, and author's revisions may not be made at proof stage.

CITATIONS

1. Footnotes should as far as possible be avoided.

2. Citations in the body of the text should give author's surname, date of publication and page number in parentheses, as in (Dupont, 2002: 56–58). Where a second or subsequent work by a particular author in the same year is cited, references should be distinguished by letters (a, b, c) placed after the date. Multiple references should be ordered chronologically and separated by semicolons. Co-authors should be indicated by 'and' and not by '&'.

3. The complete list of references cited, arranged alphabetically by first author's surname should be typed double-spaced at the end of the article. Give place of publication and the publisher. Titles of books, articles and journals should be given in full. References will normally match one of the following patterns:

Adam, J.-M. (1999). Linguistique textuelle: des genres de discours aux textes. Paris: Nathan.

Balibar-Mrabeti, A. (ed.) (1997). La Synonymie. = Langue Française 128. Paris: Larousse.

PROOFS

First proofs only will be sent to authors (or their nominee) who will be expected to correct and return them to the Production Editor, by airmail where appropriate, within three days of receipt. Proofs of reviews are not sent to authors.

Bilingualism: Language and Cognition

Editor

Jürgen M. Meisel, Hamburg University, Germany

David W. Green, University College London, UK

Ping Li, Pennsylvania State University, USA

Carmen Silva-Corvalán, University of Southern California, USA

Bilingualism: Language and Cognition is an international peer-reviewed journal focusing on bilingualism from a cognitive science perspective. The aims of the journal are to promote research on the bilingual person and to encourage debate in the field. The domains covered are the following: bilingual language competence, perception and production, bilingual language acquisition in children and adults, neurolinguistics of bilingualism (in normal and brain-damaged populations), and non-linguistic cognitive processes in bilinguals. Bilingualism carries articles and research notes on all aspects of the bilingual person, and is published three times a year.

Editors

Nigel Fabb, University of Strathclyde, UK
 Caroline Heycock, University of Edinburgh, UK
 Robert D. Borsley, University of Essex, UK

Journal of Linguistics has as its goal to publish articles that make a clear contribution to current debate in all branches of theoretical linguistics. The journal also provides an excellent survey of recent linguistics publications, with around thirty book reviews in each volume and regular review articles on major works marking important theoretical advances.

'The Journal of Linguistics is one of the top journals for theoretical linguistics. It's chock full of new ideas and wonderfully free of theoretical orthodoxy.' Ivan Sag, Stanford University.

Surveys and Studies

Editor

Graeme Porte, University of Granada, Spain

Language Teaching is the essential research resource for language professionals providing a rich and expert overview of research in the field of second-language teaching and learning. It offers survey articles on specific topics, languages and countries, and invites original research articles reporting on replication studies and meta-analyses. The journal also includes regional surveys of doctoral dissertations, topic-based research timelines and articles based on plenary conference speeches. Research-in-progress reports, themed book review articles and a list of publications received complement the content of each issue. A thorough peer-reviewing procedure applies to both the commissioned and the unsolicited articles. Language Teaching is also included in the all-time favourite Annual Review of Research.

Nordic Journal of Linguistics

Published for The Nordic Association of Linguists

Editors

Catherine O. Ringen, University of Iowa, USA

Sten Vikner, University of Aarhus, Denmark

The Nordic Journal of Linguistics is published by Cambridge University Press for the Nordic Association of Linguists and it is supported by the Nordic Publication Committee for Periodicals in the Humanities. The journal covers all branches of linguistics, with a special focus on issues related to the Nordic languages (including Finnish, Greenlandic and Saami) and on issues of general theoretical interest.

The editors encourage submission of research articles, debate contributions and book reviews. One volume is published per calendar year, and each volume contains three issues, one of which is a thematic issue.
