Cover photo: WAR UNDERFOOT. Bullet casings carpet a street in the Liberian capital of Monrovia, the heart of the battlefield between government and rebel soldiers by the summer of 2003—the fourth year of that African nation’s second civil war. Businesses closed for weeks as the internal conflict raged. Times staff photographer Carolyn Cole was awarded a Pulitzer Prize for Feature Photography the following year for a set of photos that included this image, which judges lauded for providing a “cohesive, behind-the-scenes look at the effects of civil war in Liberia, with special attention to innocent citizens caught in the conflict.” Copyright © 2003, Los Angeles Times.

Make plans to attend the 2011 American Political Science Association Teaching & Learning Conference

The 2011 APSA Teaching and Learning Conference will take place in Albuquerque, NM. One of the oldest cities in the U.S., Albuquerque is known for its multicultural history, unique culture and beautiful weather. The Embassy Suites Albuquerque Hotel & Spa, centrally located in downtown Albuquerque, and just minutes from a number of exciting Albuquerque attractions, will serve as the location for the conference.

Contribute to the discipline by exploring cutting edge instruction techniques and pedagogical insights for the political science classroom. Using a working group format, the conference will include plenaries, tracks, and workshops on topics such as:

- Program Assessment
- Internationalizing the Curriculum
- Diversity, Inclusiveness, and Equality
- Teaching Research Methods
- Graduate Education
- Professional Development
- Simulations and Role Play
- Core Curriculum/General Education
- Civic Engagement
- Integrating Technology and the Internet in the Classroom
- Teaching Political Theory
- Scholarship of Learning and Teaching
