are pleased to announce a major new journal

EUROPEAN SOCIAL POLICY

Editor: Graham Room, Deputy Editor: Anne Jamieson School of Social Sciences, University of Bath, with a distinguished Editorial Board

To be launched in August 1991, EUROPEAN SOCIAL POLICY will provide a unique source of independent information and analysis covering the broad range of social policy issues across Europe. It will include refereed articles offering analyses of key developments; a briefing section on European social trends and recent research; and reviews of studies of comparative and European social policy.

Contributions are now being sought and work in the following areas, among others, will be considered for inclusion:

* methodological issues in comparative social policy research * the social policy implications of economic and industrial change * occupational welfare and the labour market * the politics and political economy of change * demographic changes and social policy * poverty and inequality * equal opportunities policies * social security * health and social services * housing policy * education and training policies *

In general, articles should be submitted in English. However, it will be possible to arrange the translation of a limited number of articles submitted in other languages.

The Journal readership will include academic social policy analysts and policy-makers at Community, national and local levels, who will need access to accurate and comprehensible information and analysis. This should be borne in mind when writing articles, which should, nevertheless, give an in-depth treatment of the subject in question.

The Journal will be published in February, May, August and November, commencing August 1991.

Volume 1, 1991 (2 issues) will be available free of charge to new subscribers.

Editorial enquiries and contributions should be sent to: Dr Graham Room, School of Social Sciences, University of Bath, Claverton Down, Bath BA2 7AY, UK.

For manuscript guides and subscription information, please write to Anita Bennett, Longman Group, Longman House, Burnt Mill, Harlow, Essex CM20 2JE, UK.

THE DESCENT OF ICARUS

Science and the Transformation of Contemporary Democracy

Yaron Ezrahi

In this wide-ranging study of democratic culture, Ezrahi shows how science itself has become politicized: governments selectively adapt science and technology to the construction of political authority and the legitimation of political power.

Origins of Terrorism

Psychologies, Ideologies, Theologies, States of Mind

Edited by WALTER REICH

A pioneering attempt to explain the nature and sources of terrorist behaviour in all its diversity. International experts from a wide range of disciplines discuss terrorists' beliefs, actions, goals and world views, looking at the mechanisms by which they commit acts of violence and the ways in which governments respond to terrorist threats and actions.

Rethinking Democracy

Freedom and Social Cooperation in Politics, Economy and Society

CAROL C. GOULD

In this book Carol Gould offers a fundamental reconsideration of the theory of democracy, arguing that democratic decision-making should apply not only to politics but also to economic and social life.

Notes for Contributors

1 All contributions should be sent to: The Editors, British Journal of Political Science, University of Essex, Wivenhoe Park, Colchester, Essex CO4 3SQ. They should not be sent to the Cambridge University Press or to the Editorial Assistant.

2 Articles submitted to the Journal should in general be between 5,000 and 12,000 words (or equivalent in tables and figures) in length. An abstract not exceeding 120 words is required.

3 Notes and Comments are welcome. A Note should contain a body of original information, a new method for doing something or a new idea (speculation, argument, proof, etc.) presented in a brief and unadorned form without inessential commentary. Comments containing criticisms of articles published in the Journal and additional thoughts on them will be considered for early publication, especially if they are short – say, under 1,000 words.

4 Most issues of the Journal contain a Review Article – either a detailed discussion of a single book or a review of the state of some area of the discipline. Review Articles submitted without prior consultation will be considered for publication, but in their own interest contributors would be well advised not to prepare a Review Article specially for the Journal without first getting in touch with the Editors.

5 Contributors should note the Journal's editorial policy, which is as stated inside the front cover.

6 Authors of articles and Review Articles receive twenty-five free offprints. Additional copies may be bought if they are ordered at proof stage.

7 Submission of an article is taken to imply that it has not been previously published and is not being considered for publication elsewhere. In the interest of authors, copyright is normally assigned to the Cambridge University Press.

8 Authors should submit FOUR COPIES of their articles. Contributions must be typed and may be reproduced in any clearly legible form. The preferred size of paper is A4 (8¼ × 11½ in), but quarto (8 × 10 in) or the US standard size (8½ × 11 in) will also be accepted. Because of postage costs, manuscripts not accepted for publication are not normally returned to the author unless their return is specifically requested.

9 The entire material of any article, including footnotes, quotations, appendices, etc., should be double spaced, with left-hand margins of at least 1½ in. The preferred treatment of footnotes is that they should be numbered consecutively in the text and typed double spaced all together at the end, beginning on a fresh page.

10 Anyone who is preparing a manuscript for submission to the Journal is urged to follow the Journal's style sheet, which covers a number of detailed points concerning footnotes, punctuation, spelling, etc. Copies of the style sheet can be obtained from the Editor. Footnote references should always contain, in the case of books, the name of the author as it appears on the title page, the full title including any subtitle, the place of publication, the name of the publisher and the date of publication, and, in the case of articles, the name of the author, the full title, the name of the journal, the volume number, the year and the page reference (number of first and last page).

11 First proofs may be read and corrected by contributors provided that they can give the Editor an address through which they can be reached without delay and can guarantee to return the corrected proofs to the Editor, by air mail where appropriate, within ten days of receiving them. The master proof will always be sent directly to the Editor by the printer; contributors will receive duplicates.
